20,000 KLANSMEN REACH WASHINGTON; 50,000 EXPECTED

Officials Discard Parade Estimate of 5,000 as Autoists Jam Roads to Capital.

TREASURY UNDER GUARD

Marines and Police Are Held Ready to Maintain Order During Today's Event.

MANY NEW YORKERS THERE

And Many Others Leave Here and New Jersey in Special Trains.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—With the Treasury under guard, all policemen ordered on duty, and the whole city guessing, Washington is ready for the much discussed Ku Klux Klan demonstration tomorrow afternoon.

All day long automobiles bearing the signs of the hooded order have been arriving in the city, some from points as far west as Texas, as far north as Maine, and as far south as North Carolina. The license tags indicate that at this hour the State with the largest representation is New York, with Ohio, Indiana and Michigan following in the order named.

The tags also indicate large delegations from Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, West Virginia, Maine, New Jersey, Kentucky, Virginia and Maryland.

Just how many marchers will be in line when the officials give the command, "Forward, march!" at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, is a matter of guesswork.

Until today the local Klan officials have said that not more than 5,000 would be in line. This afternoon, however, they raised the number and said they would not be surprised if as many as 50,000 marched, and if so the parade, they added, will last from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until about midnight. As usual, Pennsylvania Avenue will be the main line of the demonstration.

Stop Avenue Traffic at 2:50.

Acting in anticipation of a parade of from 40,000 to 60,000 persons, or one of the largest parades held here, the District Government announced tonight that all traffic on Pennsylvania Avenue from the Peace Monument to Fifteenth Street would be stopped at 2:50 P. M.

At 9 o'clock tonight the police estimated that there were probably 20,000 Klansmen and Klanswomen in the city.

The vanguard of the organization began arriving last night. Dusty machines bore flags, in most instances carrying the legend "K. I. G. Y.," which means "Klansmen, I Greet You." They approached Washington from all points of the compass. The greater number, however, came from the northeast, among the first to appear being from Maine. About one out of three cars seemed to be from New York, with the banners indicating that most of the New Yorkers were from New York City, Buffalo, Rochester, Elmira, Ithaca and Albany.

The Elmirans were the first of the out-of-town Klansmen to put up a headquarters tent in a thirteen-acre lot at Fifteenth and H Streets Northeast, chartered for parking purposes by the order. Above the entrance to the temporary park is a big sign which proclaims it the "100 per cent. American camp."

The city authorities have taken every precaution to maintain order and every policeman in the department will be on duty from noon tomorrow until the Klan hosts cross the bridge into Virginia, where on Sunday they will stage the second day celebration.

A special guard of marines in blue jackets and white duck trousers formed a cordon around the Treasury Department this morning and the guard will be maintained until the Klan has "officially" evacuated the capital. No other Government building is guarded.

The police arrested today and held for examination Thomas L. Avaunt, said to be a former official of the local Klan, and Samuel H. Brackney. They had been distributing pamphlets calling on "Washingtonians to arise and stop this farce" and asserting that similar parades in other cities have led to rioting and bloodshed.

The police let it be known that they do not intend to permit any persons or organizations to spread propaganda which might be interpreted by some persons as an invitation to start trouble. Avaunt and Brackney were released later and the distribution of the circulars ceased.

Women Much in Evidence.

The large proportion of women in the Klan contingents was a matter of comment. Of those now in town probably one out of every four is a woman or girl. The woman's branch has headquarters in the New Williard Hotel, and it was said tonight that it is expected that not less than 5,000 of them will parade. It also seems that the women are much more ready for argument than are the Knights.

The special trains bearing Klan delegations from all parts of the North, South and Middle West are due to begin arriving about 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is said that about sixty of these trains will pull into Union Station before 8 A. M. They are due from Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Massa-

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Rudyard Kipling has agreed to take up wireless in a serious way. He has accepted an appointment to the committee of ten which will inquire into the future of broadcasting, its control, financing and management in Great Britain.

The British Broadcasting Company, consisting of manufacturers of wireless apparatus, has a monopoly of broadcasting, but its license will expire in December next year and the Government committee will draw up a comprehensive plan for governing broadcasting thereafter.

The committee includes prominent business men, politicians, educators and one woman, Dame Meriel Talbot, former adviser to the Minister of Agriculture.

REPORT 200 FRENCH KILLED IN SYRIA

TROOPS REGAIN CONTROL

Official Statement From Beirut Says Reinforcements Have Quelled the Outbreak.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 7 (AP).—French forces fighting at Sueida, Syria, against Syrian rebels have suffered a loss of 200 killed and 600 wounded, according to reports from the affected region.

Much French equipment was captured by the Druze tribesmen during the fighting, when the rebels seized the city.

Several tanks and machine guns are said to have been taken and a number of airplanes brought down.

Reports from Amman, Transjordania, say that the French have evacuated Southern Hauran, a district of Syria lying to the south of Damascus and east of the Upper Jordan River.

The capture of Sueida was made under the leadership of Sultan Pasha El Atrash.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 7.—According to Arab reports, Druze rebels have entered Sueida and surrounded the citadel after capturing part of the garrison and the French Assistant Governor. French troops sent from Damascus to relieve the citadel failed to reach Sueida. The first section was ambushed and the second scattered, losing its equipment. French airplanes continue bombing Druze villages.

From the same source it is stated that three tanks sent by the French from Esra failed to reach their destination, neither have they returned, and they are supposed to have been trapped. Arab reports also claim 5,000 French troops from Beirut which had been detailed for service in Morocco have been transferred to Hauran, and add "French authorities are taking energetic measures to protect Damascus."

The rebellion is spreading throughout the Jebel Druze district.

French Report Control Regained.

PARIS, Aug. 7 (AP).—A Havas dispatch from Beirut, Syria, officially reports that the French military authorities have regained control of the Jebel Druz region south of Damascus, where Syrian rebels a few days ago attacked a French detachment and were reported to have captured Sueldge, principal city of the district.

The dispatch adds that the rebels surprised a French convoy, but that a punitive column accompanying the convoy succeeded in repulsing the natives.

Reinforcements have arrived, the dispatch concluded, and the region is reported to be calm.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The newspaper Echo de Paris says that the uprising in Syria began on July 24 and that the news has been suppressed since.

"The post of Algerian Spahs at Deraa was surrounded on July 24 and two French officers killed," says the Echo de Paris. "The post surrendered several days later and this was the signal for an uprising. The French were chased from Sueida and a column going to the relief of the capital was captured, with all its material, owing to the defection of Syrian troops. VANDERBILT CHATEAU TO GO FOR $7,100,000 AS A BUSINESS SITE

Widow of Cornelius Vanderbilt Asks Court to Permit Sale of Home at 57th Street.

FINDS IT A COSTLY BURDEN

Points Out That Taxes Have Quadrupled Since 1899 and Are Now $129,120.

HECKSCHER REPUTED BUYER

Mansion Resembles Castle of Blois and Contains Many Notable Works of Art.

The old Cornelius Vanderbilt home at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street, long known as the chateau and one of the landmarks of the city, is about to disappear. A petition was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Alice G. Vanderbilt, widow of Cornelius Vanderbilt, asking the approval of the Court for the sale of the property for $7,100,000 in cash. The buyer is believed to be G. Maurice Heckscher, son of August Heckscher, who erected the office building on the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street, who is expected to erect a new building on the site.

The approval of the Court is necessary because Mrs. Vanderbilt merely has the life use of the property, and all the Vanderbilt heirs, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt will have to join in the legal approval of the sale. Mrs. Vanderbilt's petition recites that they have already given their approval, so the order signed by Justice Ingraham directing the heirs to show cause why the Court on Aug. 26 should not approve the sale is said to be merely a formality.

Has Found It a "Heavy Burden."

Mrs. Vanderbilt in her petition says thatt she has decided to sell because since she came into possession of the property in 1899 the taxes have increased nearly fourfold and the valuation has more than tripled, making the carrying charges a "heavy burden" to her. The assessed valuation has increased from $1,550,000 in 1899 to $4,800,000 in 1925, and the taxes have risen from $38,446 to $129,120. The land, however, is assessed at $4,700,000 and the improvements only $100,000. The house cost more than $3,000,000 when it was erected and contains some of the most valuable art objects, carvings and tapestries in the country.

Mrs. Vanderbilt will remove her home to the former home of George J. Gould at Fifth Avenue and Sixty-seventh Street, which was purchased some time ago by Harry Payne Whitney as agent for Mrs. Vanderbilt, and turned over to her late in July of this year. All of her family possessions, including many of the decorations, will soon be moved to the former Gould home, but whether the famous French wood carvings, the finest examples of that art in the United States, will be removed is not known.

There have been many rumors of the sale of the old Vanderbilt home, which with its wrought iron fence, brought from France, has been one of the sights of the Avenue for many years. Every time an offer was made for it Mrs. Vanderbilt refused to accept it, either because she disliked to leave the home in which she has lived for so long, or because she did not think the price adequate and raised it at the last moment. The present offer is by far the highest that has ever been made.

The Kin Interested in the Deal.

The service of the papers on the heirs will be made by mail, and Justice Ingraham appointed Martin Conboy to receive service of the papers on behalf of all the infants. All the Vanderbilts are named with the exception of General Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was left out of the elder Vanderbilt's will. The papers show that the Vanderbilt kin interested in the home, by families, are the following:

Reginald C. Vanderbilt, his daughter, Cathleen Vanderbilt Cushing; his daughter, Gloria Marjorie Vanderbilt, and his grandson, Harry Cooks Cushing II.

Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney and her daughter, Flora Whitney Tower and Mrs. Tower's daughter Pamela and son Whitney; Mrs. Whitney's son, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and his son, Harry Payne Whitney II; her daughters, Barbara Whitney Henry and the latter's daughter, Gertrude Whitney Henry.

Countess Gladys Szechenyi, and her daughters, Cornelia, Alice, Gladys, Sylvia and Nadine.

William H. Vanderbilt, son of the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and his daughter, Emily, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt Jr.

Sharp Earth Shocks in the City of Mexico; Many Flee From Homes and Pray in Streets

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—Earthquakes shook Mexico City last night at midnight. Strong shocks lasting two minutes frightened dwellers, many of whom rushed into the streets in their night clothes.

It was a curious sight to see people hurrying out into the streets and kneel in prayer for protection against the earthquake.

The shocks originated in the State of Guerrero. Another shock was expected tonight, as tremors were reported at midday in Guerrero.

Every shock in the State of Guerrero has been repeated in Mexico City, according to statistics.

Shocks Registered at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Pronounced earthquake shocks were registered early today on the seismograph at Georgetown University, beginning at 2:54 A. M. and lasting until after 4 o'clock. The maximum violence was attained at 3:09 A. M.

The location was placed by Director Tondorf as 2,400 miles from Washington. The direction was not determined.

Becci, Here, Finds He Can't Wed Heiress Now; Silent as to Course; Brought Costly Gifts

Lieutenant Brnesto Lardinelli Becci, First Assistant Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior in Italy, who until last Wednesday was expected soon to be the husband of Miss Nancy Sayles of Pawtucket, R. I., reputed to be the wealthiest girl in Rhode Island, arrived early yesterday morning on the Fabre liner Providence, docking at the foot of Thirty-first Street, Brooklyn. He went directly to the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where he left his luggage with two friends who had met him at the pier. With them he discussed the news which he had received only an hour before, that his marriage had been postponed.

He left behind him in the hands of the customs officials $37,500 worth of jewelry, gifts for his prospective bride, which were held pending bond or the owner's departure.

While Lieutenant Becci was still at sea, Mrs. Frank A. Sayles, mother of Miss Sayles, announced the postponement of the wedding, which was to have taken place on Aug. 12, in a letter from New York to her estate at Salesholme, Pawtucket.

At the time no reason was given for the postponement of the match, although differences in religion were suggested as the cause, as the lieutenant is a Roman Catholic and Miss Sayles a Protestant. Lieutenant Becci's reported illness at sea was also suggested as the cause for postponement.

It was on reaching Quarantine that he received the first word of Mrs. Sayles's action in postponing the wedding indefinitely, and, according to the other passengers, seemed greatly surprised. After he had been at his hotel a few hours there was an indirect intimation that he soon would return to Italy.

A dispatch from Providence said that Mrs. Sayles might be visiting her daughter, Mrs. Neville Jay Booker, in East Sixty-ninth Street, or stopping at the Commodore or the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, but she was not found at any of these addresses.

SON KILLS MINISTER, WOUNDS HIS MOTHER

SAYS ROWS CRAZED FAMILY

Repentant After Flight in Auto and Capture, He Is Ready to Pay the Penalty.

Special to The New York Times.

ANDERSON, Iowa, Aug. 7.—Warren Vandervoort, 17-year-old son of the Rev. R. J. Vandervoort, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Parkersburg, Iowa, sat in his cell here this afternoon and calmly penned a confession of how last night he shot and killed his father and seriously wounded his mother.

The boy was held for the Grand Jury on a charge of first degree murder tonight, and another murder charge will be lodged against him if his mother dies.

He was so cool during the writing of the confession that he called for the Sheriff and asked to be supplied with an indelible pencil when the pen blotted the paper.

Mr. Vandervoort was shot six times through the body with a .22-calibre rifle. The lad then went to his mother's bedroom and fired two bullets into her head, went to the garage, got out his father's car, put on the chains, tossed the gun in the back seat and drove off.

About twenty miles from home the car became stalled in the mud. Young Vandervoort abandoned it, threw the death gun into the weeds beside the road and walked to Reinbeck, where at 4 o'clock he aroused a farmer and told him that burglars had murdered his parents and kidnapped him.

Mother Accuses Son of Crime.

Disbelieving the story, the farmer telephoned to Marshal Mitchell of Parkersburg, telling him about the boy. Until then Parkersburg had not learned of the tragedy.

Gathering other officials, Marshal Mitchell went to the Vandervoort home. He found the minister dead on the floor and Mrs. Vandervoort lapsing into unconsciousness. She managed to gasp out "Warren did it" before she became unconscious.

Sheriff H. W. Burma of Allison was notified. He went to Reinbeck for the boy and found him asleep at the farmer's home. Vandervoort stuck to his orginal story when questioned by the Sheriff, but on the way here he broke down and admitted that he had shot his parents.

He denied that there had been any argument between him and his father before the shooting, saying:

"When my father heard me come up stairs last night he cried, 'Who's there?' I did not answer but let him have it. Then I went to my mother's room and shot her."

Part of his confession was as follows:

"For the last four years our private home life has been one of constant bickering between father and mother, and this sometimes had included me. At first this was not so bad. It had grown worse until we were all nearly crazy.

"I believe my mother's mind was diseased and this made her quarrel with us nearly all the time. My father and I were good friends and I know that this continual fighting undermined his mind. I know that is what it did to me.

"My whole moral being was gone. I think because of our practice of deceiving my mother in things that we knew were for the best and yet which she would object to had an effect.

"For some time my father and I had been contemplating the purchase of a rifle, and last night I went to the store to get it. I carried it home but did not let my mother know I had it. She suspected something and she and my father and I had a heated discussion in which she declared she wished she were dead, and my father said the same thing.

"Then last night I woke up; that is, got up and dressed and went upstairs and shot my folks. I was not fully awake to realize what I was doing when I did it, and when I woke up my first thought was to get away from those horrible figures on the floor."

Repentant and Ready for Penalty.

The youth then related his flight and capture and concluded that he had since become "really repentant" and "ready for anything you may do to me."

Friends have advanced the theory that the boy is insane from overstudy, but this is denied, as it is said he has done no studying since he was graduated from high school last Spring. He was to have entered Cornell College at Mount Vernon in the Fall.

The family always had lived happily and friends deny that Mrs. Vandervoort was mentally unbalanced. The family had just returned from a two weeks' vacation at the Minnesota Lakes. Mr. Vandervoort had been prominent in the Methodist Church for thirty years. He had held charges at Reinbeck and Parkersburg. He was 50 years old and his wife is about the same age.

ENRIGHT, UNDER FIRE, ASKS 2,000 MORE MEN

Gets Help of Mayor in Request After Bronx Grand Jury Writes Him to Appear.

Commissioner Attacks Critics of "P. D." Plates—Grand Jury Asks for Data on Them.

The decision to ask the Board of Estimate for 2,000 more policemen, 1,000 for traffic and 1,000 for patrol duty in the outlying districts, was reached yesterday at a conference between Mayor Hylan and Police Commissioner Enright immediately after a letter from the Bronx Grand Jury reached Commissioner Enright, asking him to appear and explain an alleged insufficiency of police protection in the Bronx.

The quick action that followed the Bronx Grand Jury request duplicated the sudden results achieved by the New York County Grand Jury earlier in the week when the recall of all "P. D." signs followed closely on the jury's announcement that it wanted Commissioner Enright to appear before it and explain them.

The New York County Grand Jury of which Alexander Konta is foreman, took further action yesterday, sending Commissioner Enright a formal letter requesting him to submit the names, addresses and occupation of all those to whom the plates had been issued.

Commissioner Enright made his first explanation of the "P. D." signs yesterday, in a letter to Mayor Hylan. He said that only 106 had been issued to persons outside the police force. Commissioner Enright's letter followed a report that Mayor Hylan had personally issued the order to recall the signs, after the Grand Jury inquiry into them was announced. Last June, Mayor Hylan defended their issuance in a speech before the International Police Congress.

Commissioner Enright discussed in his letter the Meyer Committee, the Whitman investigation, the Almirall Grand Jury and other episodes; attacked various newspapers, and discussed the subject of the "P. D." signs, as follows:

"These malicious newspapers also falsely stated that the operators of automobiles, bearing P. D. plates, issued by this department, violate the traffic regulations and injure people on the public thoroughfares. This statement is false. No complaint has been received against any of the persons permitted to use these P. D. plates, nor have they, so far as I know, been involved in any accident in which they were deemed to be at fault.

"Outside of cars owned by the Police Department and operated by members of the police force, only 106 Police Department plates were issued, practically all of which were used by Honorary Police Commissioners, Special Deputy Police Commissioners, and the Honorary Surgeons associated with this department.

"Plates of this kind have been used on Police Department automobiles for many years, and long before I became Police Commissioner, and similar plates are used upon automobiles operated by many other departments of the city, State and Federal Government. But this means nothing to our critics. They are out to knock the City and Police Administration, right or wrong.

Cites Noted Recipients.

"Of course, the decent citizens of the city do not consider it a great evil to extend the courtesy of a Police Department plate to men like Special Deputy Police Commissioner Barron C. Collier, Special Deputy Police Commissioner John A. Harriss and Special Deputy Police Commissioner Rodman Wanamaker, who have rendered most extraordinary services to the Police Department and to the City of New York, serving without pay, and expending large sums of money from their private purse for the public welfare.

"Now will decent citizens consider it a great evil to extend the courtesy of a Police Department plate to such men as R. A. C. Smith, Colonel Herman A. Metz, Daniel B. Freedman, Colonel Walter Scott, William H. Todd, Edward Sykes, John F. Bermingham and M. S. Sloan, all of whom have contributed large sums of money to assist the unfortunate dependents of members of this department who have been killed in the discharge of their duty.

"No decent citizen will object to a Police Department plate being used by

BROWNING AGREES TO GIVE UP GIRL, WHO IS 17 OR OLDER

RECORDS SET HER AGE AT 21

Twice Registered for School as Born in 1904—She Cries She Wants to Go Home.

FATHER INSISTS SHE RETURN

Dorothy Sunshine's Former Foster-Mother Now Wants Her Back, Too—Inquiry to Go On.

Edward W. Browning announced last night that he was willing and ready to invalidate his adoption of Mary Louise Spas and let her return to her parents. The wealthy real estate operator made his announcement through his secretary. It followed two hours of searching examination of Mr. Browning by Richard S. Newcombe, District Attorney of Queens, who yesterday began an inquiry into the adoption proceedings.

The decision of Mr. Browning, said his secretary, was based on the attitude of Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of Public Welfare, who charged at the hearing by the District Attorney that the adoption was "highly demoralizing to the young girls of the community." It also was supported by the admissions of Mary Louise during a conference at the Kew Gardens Inn, Kew Gardens, L. I., in which the realtor's attorney was a participant.

Frequently during the conference persons in the street could hear Mary crying, and once she became hysterical, shouting: "I want to go to my mother! I want to go to my mother!"

The girl admitted that she was 17 years old instead of 16, as she had maintained before, and said her only desire now was to return to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spas, 29 Wilson Avenue, Astoria.

In connection with Mary Louise's admission that she was 17 years old, it was pointed out that school records, disclosed during the day, made her out to be 21 years old. In two school records she gave her birthday as July 31, 1904.

Browning Seeks Release.

Mr. Browning, who had been considerably agitated all day over the unexpected developments in his adoption of the girl, said that he was "trying his level best" to find a way out of the adoption and that he hoped to find a method of sending the girl back to Astoria today.

When that is accomplished, the District Attorney of Queens will continue his investigation of the whole matter. Mr. Newcombe made it plain that he did not intend to discontinue his inquiry with the return of Mary Louise to her parents.

Late last night, however, Francis C. Dale, attorney for Mr. Browning, said that Mary Louise probably would remain with Mr. Browning until the inquiry was ended.

John Spas, the father of Mary, was told after midnight that Mr. Browning had said he was willing to give up the girl. He rose from his chair, shouting, "I want my daughter back! Mary's place is in this house."

"I'm going to see that she comes back," he added, pounding the table. "I never wanted her to go. I——"

"But, John," his wife interrupted, "it is for Mary's good. She will have many things we could never have given her. And Mr. Browning is a good, kind gentleman. He——"

"No!" cried the father. "I don't care who he is or what he is. Mary's coming back to this house. That is all. I never wanted her to go, and now I'm going to end this foolishness. She's coming back."

Seek Return of Dorothy, Also.

Still another development, and one that came just as suddenly and unexpectedly as the fuss over Mary Louise, concerned Dorothy Sunshine Browning, 9 years old, also an adopted daughter of Mr. Browning. She is reported to be suffering from "Summer grip" at a girls' camp in Vermont. Mrs. William St. John of 44 Purchase Street, Rye, first foster-parent of Dorothy, asked Commissioner Coler to take steps to return Dorothy to her. Mrs. St. John

Lloyd George Begs America to Help Europe; Says Civilization Cannot Stand Another War

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—"For God's sake keep America free, but don't abandon Europe. Don't bring down the fire curtain that flames shall not consume you."

In these and other sentences replete with his old-time vigor and fire, David Lloyd George today made an impassioned appeal to America to save Europe.

The occasion was a reception at Pwllheli, Wales, to overseas visitors in connection with a big Welsh Eisteddfod celebration.

Looking squarely at the visitors from the United States, Mr. Lloyd George said "unless you in your continent, which has great advantages over us, come to rescue civilization, I am afraid of what will happen. I honestly do not believe Europe and civilization could survive another war. I saw the thing growing in destructiveness year by year, the machinery becoming more shattering, terrible and devastating. When the armistice was signed there were inventions ready to be hurled into a mass of humanity which would have been destructive beyond imaginaion.

"Since then science has been working to stop some of the most ingenious brains at the command of the communities who have been at the task of working out something still more terrible. What happened in the last war is nothing to what would happen if there were to be a war in the world today.

"America can save us. You cannot say you doubt 'Am I my brother's keeper.' No great country can have the brand of Cain on its brow and go through the world. Remember you belong to the same fraternity as poor Europe, and the best you have got came from Europe. Do not forget that you owe some of the greatest ideas that have made the freedom of America to the sufferings of Europe."

Robin, Riding With Policeman, Caught; Named Jimmie Walker

Police Sergeant Martin Coneely, driving from his home at Elmhurst to the West Forty-seventh Street Station in an automobile, paid no attention yesterday to a sound of flapping under the car until he drove up to the station. Then, gazing under the rear axle, he heard the flapping cease and, surprised, saw a robin fly from the machine through a window into the station.

Lieutenant Barney McGowan was making an entry in the police blotter when the bird lighted on his head and hopped to the book, streaking fresh ink over the page. McGowan attempted to grasp the bird, but it eluded him and flew through the window again to a tenement hallway across the street, where, tired out, it offered no resistance to capture.

Coneely claimed it, and the policemen named it Jimmy Walker, after Tammany's candidate for the Mayoralty nomination.

REPUBLICANS HOPE TO DRAFT WATERMAN

BROOKLYN TO GET 2D PLACE

Greater City Committee Considers Candidates—Hilles and Koenig to Take a Hand.

Only one place on the Republican Mayoralty slate has been filled and that only tentatively. The name of Frank D. Waterman, the fountain pen manufacturer, familiar since his successful "Say it with shovels" campaign through which he prevailed upon Mayor Hylan to lay aside temporarily his obstructionist policy with relation to the building of new subways, appears at the head of the slate, and the Republican leaders hope it is there to stay, but are by no means certain.

This information was received after another conference of the Greater City Republican Committee yesterday. Republican National Committeeman Charles D. Hilles, Chairman of the committee, was not in attendance, having been called suddenly to Ohio on personal business.

Mr. Waterman several months ago put the end to a short-lived boom by declaring that under no circumstances would he become a candidate for office. He said he would stick to his present business of turning out fountain pens for Republicans and Democrats alike.

Attempts to reach Mr. Waterman after the Republican committee had ended its deliberations failed. There is reason to believe, however, that consent to run for Mayor on a "Citizens'" ticket has not yet been wrung from him, and that for this reason the selection of some other man may be found necessary when the Republican leaders meet again on Monday.

According to a statement emanating from an authorative source two other names are being held in reserve in the event Mr. Waterman should be found unwilling to assume the responsibility of leading the Republican Mayoralty fight.

While candidates for Controller and President of the Board of Aldermen have been discussed no decision has been reached with regard to the Controllership, while the third place on the ticket was declared "wide opener." It is understood that second place will go to Brooklyn and third place to the Bronx.

The Republicans are figuring on naming a ticket that will appeal to business men as well as the general run of voters. The selection of Mr. Waterman to lead the fight undoubtedly is due to a belief, widely prevalent in Republican circles, that Mayor Hylan may win in the primaries, and if he does not will run as an independent.

There is not likely to be any activity in the Republican camp until Monday with Mr. Hilles away. Samuel S. Koenig, Chairman of the New York County Republican Committee, has gone out of town also over Sunday, but will return on Monday for a meeting of his Executive Committee.

While the Republican leaders profess to have delayed their decisions with regard to candidates in pursuance of a policy of watchful waiting, pending Democratic action, there is reason to believe that difficulty in prevailing upon men of required calibre to enter the Republican fight has been a contributory factor in the delay.

WALKER STANDS ON 5-CENT FARE ISSUE; HYLAN HITS SMITH

Senator Says He "Would Rather Cut Off Right Arm" Than Help Increase Rate.

EAGER FOR PRIMARY FIGHT

Mayor Springs Surprise by Attacking Tammany Hall in City Hall Speech.

McCOOEY BUSY ON SLATE

Metz May Get Second Place on Hylan Ticket—Smith to Speak for Senator.

Although as yet neither has qualified as a contender in the Democratic primaries through the filing of his designating petitions, Senator James J. Walker, anti-Hylan candidate for the Mayoralty nomination, and the Mayor both took the warpath yesterday, thus ushering in a political struggle which is likely to go down as one of the bitterest in the history of the city.

They opened fire almost simultaneously. Senator Walker turned a gun on Mayor's Hylan's claim to being the five-cent fare's protector-in-chief and patron whose defeat inevitably would lead to fare increases, by pointing to his own championship in the Legislature during the last ten years of the nickel fare, and adding a solemn pledge that he "would rather cut off his right arm" than do anything that would increase the cost of transportation in this city.

Mayor Hylan in a speech at the City Hall before a delegation from Staten Island declared that Tammany wanted him out of the way so that it could put a man in the City Hall who would do its bidding while the leaders, in turn, bowed to "unseen" influences.

Mayor Hylan in this address urged his hearers to vote for him in the primaries, virtually renewing his pledge that he would abide by the result of the primary election.

"You know," he said, "if I am beaten in the primaries, I am through."

"That won't happen," rose in a chorus from the men and women from Richmond, who had called upon him for transit relief in their borough.

Walker Cites His Record.

Senator Walker's five-cent fare pledge was part of an interview he gave in his office at 61 Broadway. Before making it he cited his legislative record to show that long before Mayor Hylan entered the City Hall, or the five-cent fare had been a topic of discussion and public interest, he had worked and voted for legislation designed to protect the people of the city against any increases in the prevailing rate of fare. He declared that discussion of the five-cent fare was largely academic anyhow, because every candidate for Mayor, including the man the Republicans would nominate, must go before the people with a pledge against fare increases.

"We may as well have this five-cent fare business settled right away," Senator Walker said. "That is the one thing upon which there will be absolute unanimity on the part of all the candidates for Mayor in the coming campaign. There are two standards by which a candidate may be judged—one is what he says; the other is what he has done. I am willing to be judged by either.

"If any one wants to know where I stand with regard to the 5-cent fare, all he has to do is to look up my legislative record. The record will show that I have opposed every attempt at tearing down and supported every measure designed to protect the 5-cent fare."

Wants a 5-Cent Fare Plank.

Senator Walker said he would insist on the drafting of a concise and constructive platform in which the 5-cent fare plank would be the central feature.

"I have been trained so long in the Smith school that I am used to the idea of a constructive platform containing pledges meant to be fulfilled and capable of fulfillment," he said.

The Senator said he was averse to discussing the proposed platform in detail in advance of its preparation. He declared that he would make a vigorous, and, if he had his way, a dignified campaign, but that he was ready for any kind of a fight the prospective opposition invited.

"I'll go wherever I can find a crowd to listen to me," Senator Walker said. "Maybe I'll go into the parks; but I will not carry the fight on to any boardwalk. I have no desire of competing with the wild waves. And, besides, I might get wet."

Mayor Hylan's opening attack on Tammany Hall came as a surprise. He got so absorbed in that topic that a spokesman for the Staten Island delegation had to recall to him the fact that they had come to obtain transit relief for New Dorp, where operations of a private bus company had been stopped through an order issued by Justice James C. Cropsey of the Supreme Court, which was followed by contempt proceedings when the company failed to comply. The private buses had been operating at a 5-cent fare under a temporary permit issued by the Department of Plant and Structures. Mayor Hylan promised that he would call a special meeting of the Board of Estimate next week when the private bus owners might receive a franchise that would permit them to resume operations.

"Orders have been issued by the powers behind the throne," the Mayor said, "to place in the field in the Democratic primaries a ticket against me. Back of all this is the desire of the minority in the Democratic Party to get control of the City Government and eventually to increase the carfare.

For the People, Mayor Says.

"Certain political leaders wish to place in charge of the City Government men who do their bidding while they are doing the bidding of some one unseen. When you try to relieve the suffering of the people, certain political leaders dislike a public official giving such relief for reasons best known to themselves.

"I am now fighting the cause of the people against those in my own party who disagree with me and who want to, and feel they can, increase the car fares, if placed in power. I have given the best in me, but powerful political leaders feel that I have served the people too well.

"There are some people around town who would like to get me out of the way for the next thirty days on account of the primaries. I have tried to serve the people, and not the corporations, for the eight long years I have been here. I have resisted their efforts to take $60,000,000 from the people through an increased fare."

Mayor Hylan closed by saying that he was in a peculiar position, where he could not comment on the action of the court, because he might be sent to jail himself for contempt.

According to his friends, the Mayor has said that his fight for renomination should be, incidentally, a fight on the leadership of Governor Smith, whom he holds responsible for the failure of Tammany Hall to fall in line for a third term. He insists upon looking at Senator Walker merely as an understudy for the Governor.

"He must be a glutton for punishment if he is willing to take on 'Al' Smith; that's more than I would do if in his place," said a friend of the Governor's in comment on Mayor Hylan's plan of campaign.

Mayor Hylan would make no comment yesterday on the candidates named by the Tammany-Bronx entente to fight him in the primaries. He said he might have something to say on the subject after Monday, when his own ticket, it was expected, would be announced by John H. McCooey, Democratic leader in Brooklyn, and his allies, Borough President Connolly of Queens and David S. Rendt, Democratic leader in Richmond.

Seek Metz for Controller.

Leader McCooey and his allies, it was learned last night, are having some trouble in finding a Democrat from Manhattan to accept the nomination for Controller, thus lending the necessary geographical balance to the Hylan ticket. The third place last night also remained vacant, although it had been offered to Commissioner of Public Works William J. Flynn of the Bronx, until recently a stanch champion of Mayor Hylan's renomination. Commissioner Flynn had a visit with Mayor Hylan at the City Hall on Thursday, but remained deaf to every plea that he take third place. It is regarded as certain now that he will cast in his lot with the Democratic organization of his borough, which is against Hylan as strongly as is Tammany Hall.

A tentative slate, which was made public yesterday, contained for second place the name of ex-Controller Herman A. Metz, a former Brooklynite and friend of John H. McCooey, who has served two terms in the Controller's office. Mr. Metz is an Honorary Deputy Police Commissioner. Later it was learned that there had been no definite selection for the Controllership, but it was thought Mr. Metz, if called upon, would be willing to run, although he did not seek the designation. Mr. Metz was in conference with Mr. McCooey yesterday.

Mr. Metz, who is the head of several chemical and dyestuff concerns, is a director of many banks and corporations, including the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. His connection with one of the transit companies which has come in for almost daily castigation from Mayor Hylan made it appear incredible at first that he could become a running mate of the Mayor.

Metz Is Noncommittal.

When interviewed on the report that he was to run, Mr. Metz, after his talk with Mr. McCooey, said he preferred to remain noncommittal.

"Wouldn't it be strange," he said, "if I were to run against General Berry. We have long been associated in matters military. I am a Lieutenant Colonel in his regiment and expect to attend camp with him for the next two weeks."

Governor Smith left for Albany yesterday afternoon. He will remain at the capital for a week, returning to this city about Aug. 15.

The Governor not only will make speeches in every borough, but undoubtedly will have a great deal to do with the management of the campaign for his friend, Senator Walker.

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO MILLER.

Upper Sixth Avenue Body in Move to Rename Manhattan Head.

The Republican members of the Upper Sixth Avenue Association, Inc., have joined with the Democrats and other members of that organization in framing an appeal to the Democratic Party of New York City to renominate Julius Miller for the office of Borough President of Manhattan. Dr. H. T. Galpin, President of the association, said the members of the Upper Sixth Avenue Association would vote solidly for Borough President Miller if he was renominated.

A resolution endorsing Borough President Miller for renomination was adopted by the association, whose membership is included in the area bounded by Fifty-third and Fifty-ninth Streets, Fifth and Seventh Avenues.

"My family has always voted Republican, and I have always voted Republican," said Dr. Galpin, "but I am a Democrat so far as this man is concerned."

Borough President Miller has won the confidence and support of the members of the association, according to Dr. Galpin, by "the monumental improvements he has completed and inaugurated all over Manhattan." The voters are particularly grateful to the Borough President because of his removal of the unsighly elevated railroad spur from Fifty-third to Fifty-ninth Street, which enhanced not only the appearance of Sixth Avenue but resulted in an active real estate boom, he said.

"If he is nominated," said Dr. Galpin, "I don't think there is a man from Fifty-ninth to Fifty-third Street and from Madison Avenue to Broadway who will not vote for his re-election. We will all get out and work for him irrespective of party affiliation. We are all behind him because he has never played favorites."

Dr. Galpin was asked if the members of the Upper Sixth Avenue Association in endorsing Borough President Miller's renomination and re-election had committed themselves to vote for Senator Walker.

"Personally I am going to vote for Walker," said Dr. Galpin. "I can't speak for other members of the association."

Borough President Miller was asked to comment on the action of the association. He said he was highly appreciative of the compliment paid him and that he had always found them ready to cooperate.

POLITICS TO INVADE LINKS.

Republicans and Democrats Will Play in Tournament Sept. 16.

Golfing members of the National Republican Club and the National Democratic Club will play in the second annual tournament at the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., on Wednesday, Sept. 16.

Because of the large turnout last year it was necessary to obtain a club having two courses. Between 300 and 400 players are expected, including the leaders of both parties. It is hoped the Governor, the Mayor and others will meet in a friendly round of golf on that day, when the Democratic ranks will be united to retain the trophy won from the Republicans last year. Peter J. McCoy, Chairman of the Republican National Golf Committee, and Major Eugene J. Sullivan, Chairman of the Democratic National Golf Committee, are preparing for the coming battle.

COAL PEACE WAITS ON LEWIS'S REPLY

BELIEF IS HE WILL ACCEPT

Conciliatory Spirit Indicated in the Attitude of Workers' Representatives.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—Negotiations between the anthracite operators and miners for a new wage contract to replace that which expires on Aug. 31 may be resumed in the near future and the suspension of work, threatened by the miners' action in breaking off the conference last Tuesday, may be averted, according to reports prevalent here tonight.

The optimistic outlook was based on renewed intimations that the miners would assume a more conciliatory attitude, in line with that adopted by Samuel D. Warriner, President of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company and Chairman of the Anthracite Operators' Conference, in his reply to the letter of John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers. In the letter which drew Mr. Warriner's reply the miners' chief had taken exception to some of the members of the operators' negotiating committee, whom he called "supernumeraries."

Mr. Warriner's reply was received yesterday. Mr. Lewis has not yet answered it. He said today that he desired to give the peace overture "serious consideration and thought" and that he would send his reply tomorrow. It was plainly indicated, however, that Mr. Lewis's letter would be fully as conciliatory in tone as that of the operators' leader.

Lewis Talks Over Radio.

Mr. Lewis met this statement in a radio talk from the Hotel Ambassador this evening. He discussed "What's the Matter With Anthracite?" Among other things he urged that anthracite operators' profits were large enough to pay higher wages and yet earn a profit that would compare well with the gains in other industries.

Quoting the report of the United States Coal Commission, Mr. Lewis said that 43,822 out of 45,678 outside day men earned less than $2,000 a year and only 1,856 earned more than $2,000. Approximately 22,000 earned less than $1,000.

He declared that mine workers who earned between $1,000 and $2,000 a year had to work from 251 to 396 days and that the 1,856 men who earned more than $2,000 had to work from 292 to 470 days.

"The fact is that the wage rates of anthracite mine workers are far below the wage rates of men employed in other industries in the anthracite region and throughout the country," he went on. "We say there should be a revision upward and we propose that such revision shall be made. Our demand is fair.

"But when we state the case of the coal miner to the anthracite operators we are met not only with a blunt refusal to grant any increase, but with a demand for a reduction in the present pitiably low wage rates.

Scouts Arbitration Proposal.

"Anthracite operators ask the miners to arbitrate the questions involved in the negotiation of a wage and working agreement. Arbitrate what? Is it possible that we are asked to arbitrate the matter of life or death? Are we to arbitrate the question of whether the miner shall be permitted to earn a decent American living for himself and his family? Are we to arbitrate the earning capacity of the miner? Are we to arbitrate the amount which he may spend for food, for clothing, for shelter, for education of his children, and his status as a citizen?

"Such questions are not subject to arbitration, and the United Mine Workers of America will never agree that such personal and family matters are to be determined by outsiders."

Says Coal Would Cost More.

Major W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the operators' subcommittee, speaking over the telephone from his home in Scranton, Pa., tonight said that Mr. Lewis had entered the conference on Tuesday with the intention of bringing about a break.

"Does anybody in the anthracite region, including the mine workers, think that the industry and the consumers of anthracite can regard lightly demands that would add at least $2, and possibly as much as $3, to the price of coal?" he asked.

"We have only to look at the bituminous coal industry to see how an impossible wage scale works out. It was all very well for the United Mine Workers to insist on a $7.50 per day minimum wage in the bituminous coal industry. They got it, but what good has it been to them? About 200,000 bituminous coal miners are getting no work at all, or very little. The non-union mines are getting all the orders.

"A wage scale and adjustments such as demanded at the Scranton convention would have the same results in the anthracite industry—broken time and small earnings for the miners, ruination for many of the operators, depression for all sorts of business in the anthracite region.

"I haven't found anybody in the anthracite region who wants a suspension, and I wish that the miners' representatives at Atlantic City could be impressed with this fact. Perhaps the would assume a different attitude if they would listen to the united voice of the whole anthracite region, which demands that no suspension shall take place."

Mr. Lewis was busy today conferring with operators and miners from the soft coal regions of Illinois and Indiana. Van A. Bittner, in charge of the union's affairs in Northern West Virginia, is here for a conference with the miners' chief.

COOLIDGE LOOKS FOR ACCORD.

President Expects Operators and Miners to Resume Parley.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 7.—President Coolidge is still keeping aloof from the deadlock in the negotiations between the hard coal operators and the miners. His position is that the disputes should be settled by the parties involved, who have a public responsibility to exhaust every honorable effort before breaking relations so long in advance of the expiration of the wage contract.

The impression in Administration circles is that the negotiations will be resumed before the middle of this month and continued until an agreement is reached. This view apparently is on reports from the Government agents at Atlantic City. President Coolidge is still confident that there will be no strike.

In consequence of this attitude he did not discuss the Government's position in the event of a strike with Attorney General Sargent, who was here today. He does not intend to talk on this subject with Secretary Hoover, who will arrive at White Court tomorrow for the expressed purpose of inviting the President to attend a jubilee celebration in San Francisco, and also discuss departmental matters with Mr. Coolidge.

It was emphasized by President Coolidge that contrary to a previous impression he had not summoned Attorney General Sargent or Secretary Hoover for a discussion of the coal situation. The former discussed with the President candidates for Judges and other Federal places, as well as a number of pardon cases.

REDWING, Minn., Aug. 7 (AP).—A. H. Andresen, new Representative from the Third Minnesota District, in a letter to President Coolidge yesterday urged the President to call an extra session of Congress should a strike of anthracite miners become effective Sept. 1. Andresen characterized the inability of the anthracite miners and operators to agree on a new working contract as "an annual excuse" to boost coal prices.

such men as John M. Shaw, Dr. Carleton Simon, William H. Edwards and Edmond A. Guggenheim, who are serving without pay and who have rendered extraordinary services to hundreds of policemen in the treatment of most difficult medical and surgical cases which the men of this department would be unable to pay for under any circumstances."

Commissioner Enright said yesterday after his conference with Mayor Hylan that he was satisfied that the Board of Estimate would give him the entire 2,000 men requested.

"By Oct. 1," he said, "all of the 1,000 additional men granted for this year will be on duty. It takes at least three weeks to train new men."

Discusses Graft Charges.

Discussing cases of graft in the Special Service Squad alleged by Corporation Counsel Nicholson, Commissioner Enright said:

"There is one thing about it; we have taken the onus off the shoulders of the Inspectors. Formerly the Inspectors and officers were under constant suspicion by their own men, which is not conducive to respect by the men in the ranks. That has been entirely eradicated by the use of the Special Service Squad.

"There are bound to be undesirables and unfit men in any large body, and we weed them out just as soon as we begin to suspect them in the squad. I think I am safe in saying that of the original Special Service Squad there are less than 20 per cent left now. They are constantly shifted, with a view to eliminating any objectionable conditions."

District Attorney McGeehan of the Bronx made the following statement:

"If it is true that Commissioner Enright's request for 2,000 additional police will be granted, and we have any assurance to that effect, the Bronx Grand Jury may decide next Tuesday not to occupy itself further with the question.

"The investigation undertaken last Monday was not designed to embarrass Mr. Enright or the Police Department. No Grand Jury while I am District Attorney will become a party to a political situation such as seems to have developed since the investigation was started.

"For fear that the wrong interpretation might be put upon the activities of the Grand Jury I want the community to know that the sole object of the proposed investigation was to secure better protection for lives and property in the Bronx. Upon definite assurance from those in charge that the increase will be granted the District Attorney will deem the matter closed."

HYLAN'S GUARD PROMOTED.

Enright Shifts Four to Give Edward J. Quinn a Full Captaincy.

Acting Captain Edward J. Quinn, guardian of the person of Mayor Hylan at City Hall, was promoted to a full captaincy yesterday by Police Commissioner Enright and assigned to command the East Fifty-first Street Station. The order takes effect this morning. The Police Commissioner shifted four captains in making a place for the Mayor's police aide de camp.

Captain Quinn has held the position at City Hall for five years and during that period has had even more than his share of events that ordinarily come to the guardian of the Chief Executive of the City. He was accustomed to represent police enforcement at the meetings in which the Mayor and Mr. Craig engaged in wordy combat, sometimes verging on physical battle, and his position was trying.

Just before Mayor Hylan left for the South last Autumn the Controller and the Mayor had a tiff at a meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission and Mr. Craig, objecting to Mr. Hylan's tactics, rose in his seat and demanded that Captain Quinn arrest the Mayor. The policeman declined with thanks.

He has been on the police force since April, 1902, and is a native of Greenwich Village, although he now lives at 326 Eighty-fourth Street, Brooklyn. He was appointed a sergeant in 1909 and a lieutenant in 1914. He is 47 years old.

He will replace at the East Fifty-first Street Station Captain Benjamin F. Austin, who has been transferred to the Simpson Street Station, in the Bronx. Captain James Reynolds of the Simpson Street Station has been shifted to the Wakefield Station, the Bronx, while the head of that precinct, Captain Joseph O'Connor, has been transferred to the Newtown Station, in Queens He will fill the place left vacant by the Commissioner's shifting of Captain James J. McKenzie to the Astoria Precinct.

The Commissioner assigned no reason for the transfers other than the customary one that they were "for the good of the service."

ADVISES POLICE RECRUITS.

Muldoon Says Alertness Is Best Ally—Sees City 10,000 Short.

To perform their duties efficiently and to protect themselves against the desperadoes who infest the city, policemen must learn to rely on alertness of mind rather than on strength of body, William Muldoon, member of the State Athletic Commission, said yesterday afternoon in an address to the students of the Police Academy, Twenty-third Street and Lexington Avenue. He was introduced by William H. ("Big Bill") Edwards, Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of the academy.

"In order to be a credit to the Police Department," he said, "a policeman must keep in good physical condition He must learn to decide instantly, move about rapidly and shoot straight. All these things are dependent on a wide-awake mind. Unscientific exercise is doing more harm than good today to thousands. Coordination between the mind and the body is the end to be aimed at."

Mr. Muldoon told the student-policemen to learn to control themselves before they tried to impose self-control on others. He stressed the importance of silence and the development of willpower. Obedience and loyalty, he said, are fundamental prerequisites in an efficient policeman.

"Policemen are inclined to underestimate their own importance," he went on. "They should always remember that they are the representatives of the finest and greatest Police Department in the world. There is a shortage of 10,000 policemen in New York City at present. That fact imposes a larger measure of responsibility on the members of the department. You men are badly needed, and you should not spare any effort to prepare yourselves properly."

Ask $5,000 to Give Scopes Science Course; Scientists Find Him Unharmed by Limelight

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 7.—Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, Dean of the New Jersey Agricultural Station here, has, with other scientists, sponsored a plan to raise $5,000 to finance John T. Scopes in a three-year graduate course in science at Rutgers College or some other suitable institution.

Dr. Lipman was one of the scientists called by the Scopes defense, and his views on evolution were incorporated in the written argument submitted by Scopes's counsel during the recent trial at Dayton, Tenn.

"The young school teacher John T. Scopes, became the defendant in the famous evolution trial with no thought of any personal reward, but with high courage in the face of public opinion," letters soliciting contributions point out. "The widespread publicity which has been attached to his name has left him entirely unspoiled. He is still a modest, unassuming young man, entirely untouched by the events of the past month.

"When approached with offers of glittering financial success if he would appear on the lecture platform or vaudeville stage he refused with the comment that he does not know enough about evolution to lecture concerning it and that he would merely be capitalizing undeserved publicity."

Professor Maynard M. Metcalf is Chairman of the general committee to raise the fund. Professor Kirtler Mather is Vice Chairman and Watson Davis and Dr. Frank Thone of Washington are Secretary and Treasurer, respectively. Leading scientific men have agreed to act as regional Chairmen.

IDENTIFIES VICTIM OF SCHWARTZ BLAST

Placerville (Cal.) Man Says Body Is That of G. W. Barbe, a Wandering Preacher.

LETTERS PROVIDE PROOF

One Was Unfinished in Wrecked Plant—Bedding Also a Clue—Father Is Philadelphian.

Special to The New York Times.

MARTINEZ, Cal., Aug. 7.—The man who was lured to the plant of the Pacific Cellulose Company at Walnut Creek, murdered and burned in an incendiary fire in Charles H. Schwartz's laboratory on July 30, was identified today as G. W. Barbe, an itinerant laborer and preacher.

Barbe was a member of the cult of Eternal Brotherhood. Pamphlets of this cult, with the name of Barbe written on the fly leaf were found near the charred body.

The identification came from Cecil A. Barker, an undertaker at Placerville, who had known Barbe for more than a year.

It came also through the statement last night by Hart Schrader Jr., handwriting expert of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification at Sacramento, that the handwriting of a letter received by Barker from Barbe is identical with that of an unfinished letter found in the wrecked laboratory at Walnut Creek. Barker said last night that he believed that Barbe had started to write the letter to him.

Family in Pennsylvania Notified.

The dead man is the son of the Rev. John H. Barb of 105 Locust Street, Jersey Shore, Pa. He added an "e" to his father's name. A sister, Mrs. E. S. Carter, lives at 5,535 Bromwell Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

Martinez officials have communicated with both father and sister, asking them to aid in further identitfication of the body.

A little more than a year ago, Barbe appeared at the home of the Placerville undertaker, worked a week and went away. In two months he returned and worked another week. Barker last saw him in October.

On July 18 Barbe wrote a letter to Barker from Los Gatos, sending his personal papers and identification records from the army for safekeeping. He had been a private in the Quartermaster Corps on the Canal Zone in 1920.

In this letter, which begins, "Dear friend," as does the letter found at Walnut Creek, Barbe says that he is a missionary and is preaching "mostly among society's outcasts." He expresses the hope that he will see his friend in about two months.

Blanket and Cord Tally.

In addition to the letter, which is considered by Martinez authorities as certain identification, Barker said that the woolen blanket and cord, burned bits of which were found under the head of the victim, are the same blanket and cord he saw Barbe carry away with him from Placerville when he started on his wanderings.

"The description of the body is strikingly like that of my friend Barbe," said Barker at Sacramento tonight. "He had the same small hands and feet and the sloping forehead, with receding chin and conclave nose. His hands were almost dainty. He did no hard work.

"He was about 5 feet 6½ inches tall and weighed about 140 or 150 pounds. He had slightly gray hair and was bald on either side. I believe that he was the victim."

Professor E. O. Heinrich of Berkeley, in charge of the "reconstruction" of the crime, believes that Swartz sought a man who looked like himself and that he might have met Barbe on some of his trips to the Santa Cruz oMuntains with Miss Elizabeth Adams, who sued him for $75,000 last June, charging he had promised to marry her.

Miss Adams said tonight that Schwartz was "a dangerous man," and edded: "It is time that I was telling what I know about him." She will be questioned by officials.

SEES EUROPE IMPROVING.

Dr. Butler, in Address at Columbia, Says War Causes Are Vanishing.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler in an address before a large audience in the Columbia University Gymnasium, last night, said the European situation was greatly improved. He said that Europe's increased use of The Hague Court was advancing the cause of peace and that better Franco-German relations were removing one of the chief disturbing factors on the Continent.

Three problems yet to be settled, he said, are security, particularly the security of France; the judicial settlement of international differences, and the sharp limitation of armaments. He found the outlook in each case encouraging, and was sanguine of Europe's economic future.

Applicants Swamp American Examiners—Many Must Wait.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Londoners who wish to go to the United States and settle there permanently are so numerous that further applicants will be unable to receive permission to enter before the middle of next year.

This fact was revealed yesterday by the United States Consulate, where the new immigration examination department was set up. More than 240 visas a month are being issued to emigrants from London.

SAYS COOLIDGE LACKS HOLIDAY-MAKING ART

London Woman Reporter Views His Surroundings at Swampscott.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

London, Aug. 7.—"There is an art in holiday making. I do not believe President Coolidge knows what it is or how to acquire it," is the report sent to The London Evening Standard by a woman reporter who went to Swampscott to get a glimpse of Mr. Coolidge on vacation and tell about it to the natives of England, who go to great lengths in making vacation as different as possible from work.

"It is far easier to catch a glimpse of the King and Queen of England than to see the American President and Mrs. Coolidge," continues the reporter. "I saw him yesterday and thought he had less of the holiday spirit than any American I have ever seen. What is the use of a beautiful beach if you never bathe or sit on the sands? What advantage are tennis courts if you never play, golf links if you cannot swing a club, or bridlepaths if you do not ride?"

England is informed, furthermore, that President Coolidge is never seen walking nor playing bridge or mah jong and that his bedtime generally is 10:30 P. M.

COOLIDGE TO STUDY COSTS.

Will Discuss Federal Budget With Director Lord on Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 7.—General Lord, chief of the Budget Commission, will come here next Monday to go over budget matters with the President and present the result of the surveys made in the War and Navy Departments. General Lord usually confers with the President twice a week while in Washington, and his trip here will be made to acquaint Mr. Coolidge with developments in cutting down governmental expenses.

Senator Moses and other members of the Postal Commission are expected to call upon the President early next week. Mr. Moses is opposed to the World Court, and probably will talk with the President about the move for a compromise on the court protocol.

President and Mrs. Coolidge may motor to the former's home in Plymouth the latter part of next week to pay a visit of several days with Colonel Coolidge, who is recovering from a serious operation.

It was indicated today by Mr. Coolidge that he would not be able to go to California next month in response to the invitation which will be presented by Secretary Hoover. He will not make any political speeches in the Northwestern States, such as North Dakota and Wisconsin, where United States Senators are to be elected. He said he was not taking any active interest in the politics in these States, and was not involved in the factional politics of Illinois.

CHILDREN HELD IN PAWN FOR FATHER'S OLD RENT

Court Frees Them and Censures Landlord—Boy and Girl Find New Home in Candy Store.

Frank Kanopka, now of 208 Monroe Street, Hoboken, appeared yesterday before Acting Judge Edward Markley in Criminal Court in Jersey City with the complaint that his landlord at a former residence was holding the two young Kanopka children as security for the payment of back rent.

Kanopka brought the defendant to court with him. The latter was Michael Silkzonski of 13 Corbin Avenue, Jersey City. Kanopka said that his wife died about four months ago and that he and the two children, Peter, 11 years old, and Eva, 6 years old, had rented rooms at the Corbin Avenue address. Shortly thereafter, Kanopka lost his job and was unable to meet his rent payments regularly.

A few days ago, after Kanopka had accumulated a rent debt of $93, Silkzonski evicted him, he asserted, and locked the two children in the apartment, stating that he would release them when the back rent was paid.

After listening to Kanopka's story, which was not denied by Silkzonski, Judge Markley ordered Silkzonski to return the children to their parent, and directed the father to go to work at once and earn the money with which to pay the overdue rent. The Judge severely censured Silkzonski.

"You can't hold children as chattels," he said. "Trunks or other inanimate pieces of property may be retained for the payment of debts, but children are something else again. If you don't let these children go, you'll find trouble camping on your trail."

Little Peter and Eva were rejoicing in their new freedom last night at the Monroe Avenue address, where Kanopka had found a home for the time being with his brother, who conducts a small candy store there. The youngsters didn't object to living in a candy store, either.

WARNS BRITAIN TO SAVE.

Churchill Declares Reductions Can and Will Be Made.

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, during a discussion of national economy in the House of Commons today said that "the time has come to call a decisive halt" in national expenditures.

The Chancellor announced that Lord Colwyn, the Earl of Bradford and Lord Chalmers, former Governor of Ceylon and Under-Secretary for Ireland, would form an expert committee to review the expenditures of the army, navy and air force.

"Reductions can and will be made," Mr. Chamberlain said.

Schwackhamer. He had been convicted with Herman Hoptweg of Paulsboro of having been involved in the thefet of automobiles. Hoptweg is at liberty under $8,000 bail.

OFFER 3 SOLUTIONS OF MOSUL DISPUTE

Boundary Commissioners in Report to League First Propose 25-Year Mandate.

OR TURKISH SOVEREIGNTY

Third Plan Is for Partition With Line at Lesser Zab River Between Mosul and Bagdad.

GENEVA, Aug. 7 (AP).—Three solutions are proposed by the special commission appointed by the League of Nations to recommend a settlement of the Mosul boundary, now in dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, in its report which was presented to the League today.

The first proposal is that the disputed district in the Mosul area should become a League of Nations mandate for about twenty-five years and that provision should be made to meet the desires of the Kurds for the appointment of administrative officials, judges and teachers of their own race and for the establishment of the Kurdish language as the official tongue of the district.

The second solution offered is that should the mandate over Iraq, which Great Britain holds under the League of Nations, terminate after four years, as provided in the treaty of 1922-23 between Great Britain and Iraq, and if guarantees cannot be given the Kurds under the rule of Iraq, then the majority of the population of the disputed area would prefer Turkish sovereignty to that of the Arab State of Iraq and the territory, therefore, should go to Turkey.

The third solution is that if, after examining the whole situation, the Council of the League should prefer the partition of the territory, the commission recommends the establishment of the Lesser Zab River, a tributary of the Tigris which flows into that stream between Mosul and Bagdad, as the line of demarcation.

Council to Take Up Report Sept. 2.

The report of the Commission will be considered at a meeting of the Council of the League on Sept. 20.

The Boundary Commission holds that from the legal point of view Mosul is an integral part of Turkey until Turkey has renounced its right of sovereignty, but both Turkey and Great Britain have agreed to abide by the ultimate decision of the Council of the League on this point.

The report of the commission will be syrian Christians, saying that they, like the Jewish and Yezidi minorities in the disputed district, should be protected by whatever régime is established. The commission believes that the Assyrians should receive some form of local autonomy with religious freedom and the privilege of appointing their own officials.

The commission furthermore recommends that a representative of the League of Nations should live at Mosul for several years regardless of what solution is chosen.

Should the Council adopt the commission's third conclusion, about two-thirds of the disputed territory would go to Turkey, including the City of Mosul itself.

In connection with the second proposal the commission expressed the opinion that if it were found to be impossible to create a twenty-five-year League of Nations mandate and the Kurds did not obtain satisfactory guarantees the annexation of the area to Iraq "would be attended by grave political disadvantages." It would be preferable for the entire population to live under Turkish sovereignty, "whose internal state and external political condition are incomparably more stable than those of the Iraq."

The report of the special commission comprises 200 printed pages and maps. It deals chiefly with the ethnic, economic, political, social, strategic and geographical position of Mosul and its relations to Iraq and Turkey.

British Criticism Is Forecast.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The report of the League of Nations Commission on the Mosul boundary question, given out today, recommending extension of the League mandate for twenty-five years, is likely to be received in this country with a good deal of misgiving.

There has not yet been time for the British Government to consider the report and formulate views upon it, but in some quarters severe criticism of it is expected on the ground that it implies Britain must incur a heavy expense in continuing the mandate for another generation without drawing any direct advantage.

It is believed likely that the question will be asked whether the commission is not going entirely beyond its powers in raising the issue of how long the mandate should last. Inasmuch as the commission was instructed to report on a boundary dispute and is believed here to have gone into difficult political questions, the opinion is that it has exceeded its competence.

In passing the final disposition on to the League Council, the commission has put forward various considerations from different points of view which may assist the Council reaching a decision. Thus, from a geographical standpoint, it pronounces both of the frontiers claimed by the British, and actually ocupied under the Brussels compromise, entirely suitable. The line claimed by Turkey is held good as far as the western portion through the desert, but not so good in the east. The northern part of the territory, with Mosul as the centre, has affinities with the adjacent Turkish, Syrian regions, while the southern portion is more closely connected with Iraq and Persia. The races are too confused to allow ethnical considerations to have any weight and it is quite impossible not to violate historical associations whatever line is adopted.

Economically, the Commissioners favor the union of the disputed area with Iraq, though the mountains of the North Brussels line could be saparated without inconvenience. Strategically, the Turkish line is poorest, especially in its eastern part, while both the British and Brussels lines are excellent.

Legally, the Commissioners hold, Iraq cannot claim territory either by right of conquest or on any other ground. It can only argue on moral grounds that the disputed area is necessary to its own development as a State.

The Commissioners, in declining responsibility for making recommendations on political grounds, admit that Iraq has progressed greatly in the past few years under British advice and influence, but express the view that it is still very unstable. It is on this ground that they recommend the extension of the League mandate for twenty-five years and believe that if this is done the wishes of the inhabitants would be more in favor of Iraq than of Turkey. Yet they deny that the inhabitants of the disputed zone have any real feeling of solidarity with the Arab kingdom, and the only reason they favor joining the kingdom is their belief in the influence of the mandate and the economic advantages they expect from a protected, stable Iraq. Otherwise the inhabitants probably would prefer a return to Turkey.

Hindenburg's Cellar Stocked With Every Wine of Germany

COBLENZ, Aug. 7 (AP).—President von Hindenburk's wine cellar has been so plentifully stocked that he may, if he chooses, sample a different brand of wine each day for the next several weeks without once repeating.

The United Wine Growers and Dealers of Germany, who are conducting a wine exposition here, have sent the President samples of all the different wines produced in Germany, to demonstrate to him the extent of wine cultivation and the excellence of the native wines. The collection includes the choicest of Rhine, Moselle and Palatinate wine, also less well-known brands, such as Meersburg and Werder.

As President von Hindenburg is a moderate consumer, it is believed the supply will last him for many months.

GERMAN TAX BILL PASSES REICHSTAG

Over 7,000,000,000 Gold Marks Will Be Raised—Dawes Plan Payments Ratified.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—After many days of long and dreary debate the Reichstag put through the Government's tax bills tonight. Thereby the Reich is assured of revenues totaling more than 7,000,000,000 gold marks, and the payment of obligations under the Dawes plan for the coming fiscal year is legislatively ratified.

Various sections of the tax measure were voted upon separately. The result, which most clearly showed the Government's majority, was 253, against 156 in favor of the turnover tax on all business transactions.

Viewed from a purely political standpoint, the vote serves to strengthen the Luther Cabinet's Parliamentary position. The Catholic Centre, which had been a doubtful factor among the governmental parties, solidly backed the Chancellor in the final test. It was finally won over by the Government's offer to reduce the turnover tax to 1 per cent., one-half of 1 per cent. less than had been envisaged.

This reduction, the Centrists hope, will mitigate any increase in the cost of living resultant from the protective tariff on foodstuffs, which they are pledged to support in the Reichstag next week despite the opposition of Catholic Labor.

The Cabinet also found a solution in its prolonged conflict with the Federated States in a compromise which gives the State Treasuries more than 25 per cent. of the Federal revenues. This aid was necessitated by the hole left in the income of the respective States by the loss of railroads and other enterprises formerly under their control and now federalized. The absolute minimum guaranteed to the States is 2,100,000,000 marks, but their receipts are likely to be far larger.

Herr von Schlieben, the Nationalist Finance Minister, faced a violent rhetorical bombardment when he appeared before the Reichstag for the third reading of the tax measures. The Democratic spokesman denounced his program on the ground that it was based on increased taxation rather than reduced expenditure, while for the Socialists, Dr. Hertz, an eminent financial authority, pointed out the discrepancy between the imposts levied on the masses and those imposed on capital.

ORLANDO RESIGNS SEAT IN CHAMBER

Assails Fascisti Methods at Palermo as He Leaves Public Life.

MUSSOLINI'S POLICE ACT

ROME, Aug. 7.—Former Premier Orlando resigned from the Chamber of Deputies today because of the manner in which his forces were defeated in the recent Palermo municipal elections. In his letter to the President of the Chamber he said that the affair convinced him that there was now no place in Italian public life for a man of his past record and political beliefs.

Signor Orlando added that he had thought so for a long time, and that the Palermo experience had shown him the uselessness of serving any longer in office.

Fascist newspapers are treating with the utmost lightness this new and important political development, which will make Premier Mussolini's Parliamentary situation even more difficult when the Chamber reopens. Of three Fascist evening newspapers one, Popolo d'Italia, Mussolini's personal organ, disregards it completely, not even publishing a bare announcement of the resignation. Another merely prints the text of the ex-Premier's letter, without a single word of comment or explanation. The third prints the letter under the caption, "Orlando Confirms and Confesses Liberal Defeat in Palermo."

The Opposition press, however, plays up the story in a big way, publishing columns of comment under huge headlines clear across the page. The first issues of Tribuna and Giornale d'Italia, the chief Roman Liberal organs, were seized by police in accordance with Mussolini's decree regulating the activities of the press, allegedly for overstepping permissible bounds in their comment.

Tribuna stated that Orlando's letter clearly implies that the election in Palermo was not carried out by fair means and that the results did not represent the true state of public opinion there, and ascribed the ex-Premier's resignation to disgust at the "foul campaign of misrepresentation carried out by the Fascisti in the days preceding the election."

The Giornale d'Italia said the resignation was caused by a feeling of disgust at the depth to which political methods have fallen in Italy and should be interpreted as a fierce protest against the Fascist régime.

Observers who say they judge the matter impartially assert that it is certain that Orlando's position in Parliament was made extremely difficult by the defeat in Palermo. He entered Parliament on the Fascist ticket. When he passed to the Opposition he answered the Fascist intimations to resign his seat with the statement that he had been elected by the Liberal voters of Sicily, who backed the Fascist ticket because he, Orlando, was on it and not because they had any sympathy with Fascismo. Now that this contention seems to have been proved unfounded by this latest election, in Orlando's own home city, the only dignified thing left for him to do was to resign, they point out.

Signor Orlando's resignation further hampers Mussolini's control of Parliament. Not only is Mussolini continually fighting to hold a quorum in the Chamber, which is a difficult task, with roughly one-third of the Deputies of the members of the so-called Aventine Opposition boycotting Parliament, but the silencing of Orlando's voice in opposition in the Chamber will be a loss rather than a gain to Mussolini.

The regular Opposition in the Chamber is led by three former Premiers—Giolitti, Orlando and Salandra. This served to rivet the country's attention on the Chamber, distracting it from the Aventine Opposition, which, in reality, is far more dangerous for Fascismo. Every loss of strength of the regular Opposition in the Chamber, therefore, results in an increase in the importance of the Aventine Opposition and thus indirectly in added danger for the Fascisti.

MORE AMERICANS IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—American tourists are beginning to rediscover Berlin. According to police statistics, 3,500 of them registered here in the month of July. This total, while far fewer than the throngs that flowed through Germany in the Summers before the war, is considerably bigger than that of any previous month since the armistice.

It is also a record in that it makes Americans the most numerous foreigners in Berlin, where the foreign transient population aggregates only about 20,000 altogether.

It is officially and regretfully observed, however, that Americans linger here only a few days, presumably owing to the high cost of hotel living.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Through the English press the French learned of the attack on a French column by Druze tribesmen in Syria. At the Quai d'Orsay no supplementary information was available, even Foreign Minister Briand admitting this morning that he had not full information. He added:

"I think it right to say General Sarrail has sufficient forces available to meet the situation."

During recent weeks several battalions have been withdrawn from Syria for Morocco, and there is a tendency here to regard the Druze attack as a part of the general Mussulman movement of which the Riff is now the centre. In Government circles the movement is not, however, regarded as serious or as in any way connected with Events in North Africa.

Fourth Attack By Rebel Leader.

This is the fourth successive August that El Atrash Pasha, the so-called Sultan of the Druzes and their Arab allies, in the southern regions of the French mandate of Syria, has attempted by surprise attacks to capture French columns and isolated garrisons. The most serious revolt took place under General Gouraud's Administration in 1922, when Damascus was actually threatened and the High Commissioner was obliged to appeal to Premier Poincaré, who was also Foreign Minister, for reinforcements, 10,000 of whom were sent.

It was then that El Atrash Pasha from his inaccessible retreats in the southern hills, where French columns have never penetrated, founded the organization known as the "Iron Hand." Its object was at first to make direct assaults upon French officials and the native police under the French administration. The new High Commissioner, General Sarrail, who defended the Verdun position while the Germans were advancing on the Marne, in August, 1914, has gradually ended the work of the "Iron Hand" as far as direct assaults were concerned, and so the activities of the organization are now occupied with propaganda.

According to the most recent mail advices from Beirut, the port of Damascus, the Atrash clan, which includes some leading chieftains of the Jebel Druz, who have long resented the appointment of a French Governor, seeing in the rapid introduction of reform and the democratic principles a threat to their influence, and having failed in their recent attempt to secure the Governor's removal, broke into open rebellion on July 23.

The authorities, therefore, expelled three members of the clan, including Sultan Atrash, who tendered his submission with that of fifteen lesser chieftains.

It was officially announced in Beirut on July 24 that all communication between Sueida, which is the principal town of the Jebel Druz, and the Palestine border had been cut by roving nomads evidently acting under orders. Reinforcements were also ordered from Damascus to Sueida, via the Damascus-Ezra Railway, due south 38 miles, and then southeast over the partly finished line to Sueida—25 miles.

It was then said to have been General Sarrail's intention to use swift and energetic measures against the Atrash clan and its allies before they could concentrate on Sueida, and for this reason he was preparing a flight of airplanes into that region.

MOROCCO FRONT IS QUIET.

Replacements Allow Worn Troops to Have a Rest.

FEZ, Morocco, Aug. 7 (AP).—"Everything is quiet along the Moroccan front," said General Naulin, the French Commander-in-Chief, when he returned to Fez tonight from a four-day inspection tour of the front-line positions where the troops are facing Abd-el-Krim's warriors. His announcement was corroborated by an official communication which said that 50 per cent. of the troops on the firing line would have an opportunity for rest during the coming three weeks.

Still further corroboration seemingly was shown today by the fact that, for the first time since active fighting between the French troops and the Moroccans began more than three months ago, French troops on leave, wearing three or four weeks' growth of beard and uniforms badly tattered, walked the streets of the sacred city, enjoying needed rest.

Replacements have now arrived in Morocco in sufficient numbers to permit of an almost complete replacement of the soldiers who have been bearing the brunt of the Moorish attacks during the terrific heat of the Summer months.

The arrival of fresh fighting units and the splendid organization they have shown, especially during the last two or three days, when, with the thermometer hovering between 122 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit, the infantrymen kept marching forward, seems to have gone a long way toward quelling the tendency of the native tribes to renounce their neutrality and join the forces of Abd-el-Krim.

The French outposts now are comparatively quiet. The most important engagement reported during the past two days was at Fez-el-Bali, where the French troops attacked enemy positions. Although the Moors were well entrenched, they were dislodged after sharp combats. A number of Riffians were made prisoner. The French here feel particularly elated over this victory owing to the fact that neither tanks, artillery nor airplanes were used during the battle, the tribesmen being defeated with rifles and bayonets, the only weapons they themselves were using.

'$300,000,000 SUIT' CALLED MAIL FRAUD

Two Men Held in Richmond, Va., Are Accused of Collecting Money to Get Mythical Fund.

BAIT WAS $10,000 FOR $100

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 7.—Charged with complicity in a gigantic mail fraud conspiracy, S. T. Kent Oliver and R. W. Warren, fashionably dressed men of middle age, are held in the city jail for hearing before United States Commissioner Melvin Flegenheimer tomorrow morning. Bail has already been refused both prisoners by the Commissioner, but it is likely that they will be released tomorrow morning on bonds of $5,000 each.

They are accused of collecting money from hundreds of persons to finance a suit for the recovery of $300,000,000 growing out of the California gold rush of 1849, said to be in the Federal vaults, and which the authorities declare does not exist.

O. H. Oliver arrived here on Wednesday from Pace, Halifax County, where he owns extensive farm lands, and offered to give bond for his son and for Warren, and Robert H. Talley, counsel for the prisoners, asked for bail. Commissioner Flegenheimer denied the application, stating it was his inviolable rule to accept bonds only within the Eastern district of his Federal jurisdiction, and that the bondsman resided outside of the district.

An Assistant United States Attorney, Callon B. Jones, demanded not less than $5,000 bond for each. Mr. Talley said men charged with murder had been released on smaller bond. He communicated with Circuit Judge Edmund Waddill at White Sulphur Springs, asking for an order directing the Commissioner to admit both men to bail on "reasonable bond." Judge Waddill's answer is expected before the case is called tomorrow.

Department of Justice men are combing the country for George Stevens Sterns, who is regarded by Federal men as the most important figure in the alleged conspiracy.

As in the cases of the two men held here, the warrant against Sterns carries merely the specific charge of "conspiracy to defraud certain persons by use of United States mails."

Government men allege that in the City of Petersburg alone the victims of the alleged fraud contributed $10,000 to a fund to recover by suit from the United States the sum of $300,000,000.

This enormous prize was represented to them, Federal agents allege, to have been held for many years in the Federal Treasury in Washington, awaiting court decision that will award it to the rightful claimants.

The story of this fund and the pursuit of it reads like the romance of a treasure trove. It harks back to the stirring days of the "Forty-niners," when the elder Hearst and his comrade, Flood, were prospering with pick and pan in the gold hills of California.

Through its narrative runs the building of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific Railroads; the rush of the Argonauts to the gold fields of the Pacific Slope and the struggle of rival railroad kings for dominance.

These historical episodes of the great and bounding West are revived in a printed prospectus which the men under arrest and their associates are alleged to have used as a lure to hundreds of Virginians and other hundreds throughout the eastern part of the United States, who are said to have paid their mite toward the expense of bringing suit to recover the $300,000,000 that is supposed to be awaiting lawful owners in the United States Treasury.

Federal officers pronounce the fund a myth. As they relate it, the small army of contributors were promised $10,000 for each $100; $100,000 for each $1,000, and $50 for each $1 under $100 contributed.

Oliver was arrested in Washington on Tuesday and arrived here with Warren, the men being in the custody of Chief Deputy Callahan and Deputy Donham of the United States marshal's office in the District of Columbia.

BUS OFFICIAL GETS 10 DAYS FOR CONTEMPT

C. W. Wood of Staten Island Company to Appeal From Justice Cropsey's Sentence.

Supreme Court Justice James C. Cropsey sentenced Clinton W. Wood, Vice President of the Tompkins Bus Corporation of Staten Island, yesterday in Brooklyn, to ten days in the Richmond County Jail for contempt of court. The corporation was fined $250 for failing to obey an injunction issued by Justice Cropsey July 31 restraining it from operating buses between the New Dorp Railroad Station and Cedar Grove Beach. The company continued to run the buses for three days, without collecting the usual fare of five cents.

Justice Cropsey held that his injunction was unqualified, and last Wednesday adjudged Wood and the corporation in contempt. Minthorne T. Gordon, President of the Tompkins Bus Corporation, and Gerald Jones, an employe, were also summoned to appear in court last Wednesday, but since they had not been served with the contempt papers they were not named as guilty.

The injunction, obtained by Antonio Marcianti, an independent taxicab operator of Staten Island, representing thirty other taxi owners, was granted on the ground that the bus corporation had no franchise. The order of Justice Cropsey was not filed with the Clerk of Richmond County yesterday afternoon, as the office closed too early. It is understood that it will be filed this morning and certified copies delivered to the Sheriff for execution of the sentence.

It was said yesterday that counsel for Wood would ask a stay of execution pending an appeal, to be heard Oct. 5.

BOMB WRECKS TRAIN OF SOVIET WAR OFFICER

Commissar Frunze Is Reported Object of a Futile Assassination Plot.

LONDON, Aug. 7. — An attempt by blowing up his train to assassinate M. Frunze, the Soviet Commissar of War and Marine, was reported today in a Morning Post cable from Warsaw.

During the military manoeuvres near Minsk, Commissar Frunze received a telegram concerning developments in the Far East necessitating his presence in Moscow, it was said, and leaving in command General Budenny, Commissar Frunze hastily left for Moscow on a special train.

The train was blown up en route, but the fuse of the infernal machine was so badly timed it exploded under the fifth car of the train, too late to accomplish its purpose.

Large detachments of troops and police are in search of the plotters.

8 ITALIAN NOVICES ARRIVE.

Will Teach School in Trenton, N. J. —Rome Attache Here on Leave.

Among the passengers yesterday on the incoming liner Dante Alighieri were eight Italian novices of the Filippini Order of Villa Victoria, Trenton, N. J., who are to teach in parochial schools there. Sister Metta, Mistress of Novices at Villa Victoria, headed the party.

None of the novices is over 18 years old, and none can speak English. After a brief course in English they will begin their duties. The order is a branch of the pontifical institute, being under the direction of "Protection of the People" instead of under a Bishop.

Captain Walton W. Cox, U. S. Army, Assistant Military Attaché at the American Embassy in Rome, arrived on a three-months' leave after two years duty at Rome. He said that a separate air service, distinct from the army and the navy, had worked out well in Italy. Prices are high in Italy, he said, and despite the host of pilgrims in Rome for the Holy Year, American tourists are not bringing as much money to Italian hotels and shopkeepers as was expected. The Dante Alighieri brought 332 passengers from Genoa, Naples and Palermo.

HOLD 2 IN WOMAN'S MURDER.

No Bail Allowed for Men Accused in Killing of Mrs. Connolly.

Magistrate Moses R. Ryttenberg, in Homicide Court, yesterday held John Rigley, 22 years old, of 482 Cherry Street, and Edward Hart, 18 years old, of 18 Hamilton Street, without bail for a hearing on Aug. 12 on charges of being responsible for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Marie Connolly, 35 years old, as she stepped from her home at 433 West Thirty-fourth Street, Thursday night.

The shooting occurred, the police allege, when Mrs. Connolly stepped from her apartment and was pulled in front of one of the men, who used her as a shield against police bullets. Magistrate Ryttenberg said that the two men were too young to hold the World War responsible for their alleged crime.

Detective William Heneberry of the Truck Squad, who was shot by the bandits, was reported last night to be in a critical condition.

NEW TIP ON KNAPP FAILS.

Woman Designated in Letter to Hensley Denies Knowing Fugitive.

District Attorney Weeks of Nassau County received from Major William N. Hensley, Commander of Mitchel Field, yesterday a letter written to the latter by a person who signed himself "Tom Karos," saying that a woman residing at 333 West Thirty-seventh Street, Manhattan, could disclose the whereabouts of Philip K. Knapp, an army private, who is wanted for the murder of Louis Panella, a taxicab driver of Hempstead.

At the West Thirty-seventh Street address was found Miss Lena Daniels, who said she knew Karos but denied she knew Knapp or his whereabouts. She said she had once been a friend of Karos when both had been employes of the Hotel Gotham, but broke the friendship when she learned he was married. She attributed his letter to Major Hensley to a desire for revenge by causing her trouble.

BRONX MAN SUICIDE BY GAS.

Sader Had Been Ill for Several Months, Relatives Say.

The body of Abraham Sadev, 48 years old, a real estate man living at 846 Beck Street, the Bronx, was found dead in the kitchen of his apartment last evening after neighbors, smelling gas, had called a policeman, who broke a window from the fire-escape. Sadev was seated in a chair near the gas range with all burners open.

Neighbors and friends said that Sadev had formerly owned property in Rockaway, which he had sold a short time before the present real estate boom. They reported him as having said recently: "Had I not sold my property when I did I would be a rich man today."

Relatives last night, however, denied that he had ever owned any property at Rockaway. They said that he had been in ill-health for several months.

Members of the family were away when the body was found.

'BANDIT-PROOF' SHOP IN $100,000 HOLD-UP

THEIR LISTLESS POSE WINS

Youths Bind Employes, Then Slouch, Bareheaded, Back and Forth to Car, Ignored by Crowd.

By combining boldness and strategy five youths held up the supposedly bandit-proof fur establishment of Harry Bleiweis at 124 East Broadway at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, tied the manager and five employes, and while hundreds passed by loaded their automobile to capacity with fine furs worth approximately $100,000.

Bleiweis had burglar alarms, a locked door and a boy on guard instructed to keep a lookout and shout for help if anybody approached who looked like a robber. The doorman was Jack Wishnie, 19 years old, of 166 Henry Street.

Wishnie started to open the door, when a handsomely dressed youth outside announced he had come on "union business." Then a suspicion struck him and he started to close it. But the man had already inserted a foot in the doorway. He showed the door open and brought two pistol muzzles in contact with Wishnie's abdomen.

"One sound and you're dead," he said. "March in back quick."

Four other young men followed the first. They tied Wishnie with rope and then all the invaders started upstairs to the workroom. They slipped in quickly and covered Isadore Bleiweis, manager and brother of the owner, and the four workmen, Isaac Hefman, Benjamin Lansfogel, Eugene Hartman and Max Smith. Using a hundred feet of rope to a man, the robbers tied the five individually and then trussed them one to another, so as to limit their freedom of action.

There were sixteen fireproof and burglarproof safes full of furs in the establishment, each working by a different combination. But every safe was open.

Leaving one man with a pistol to guard the bound men, the others began carrying bundle after bundle of furs downstairs and piling them on the counter.

Then each man removed his hat. Bareheaded they carried bundles out to the automobile and loaded it. This is one of the busiest streets in New York. Scores of automobiles and hundreds of pedestrians passed by. Two policemen were on duty within sight of the place and the whole district was sensitive on the subject of daylight robberies. But they expected bandits to act like bandits. It was a new thing for desperate criminals to be hatless and to move listlessly back and forth from the place of the hold-up to their automobile.

The robbers had been away fifteen minutes before the men upstairs untied themselves. They threw the street into a turmoil with shrieks of "Robbers," "Thieves" and "Bandits," but by that time the robbers were far away.

CROWD WATCHES THIEF CHASE

Arrested Man Denies Stealing $100 in Shirting—Held in $10,000 Bail.

Patrolman Mortimer Sullivan heard David Cohen, a shirtmaker of 844 Sixth Avenue, shout "stop thief" yesterday at a man turning eastward from Sixth Avenue into Forty-seventh Street. The patrolman followed, drawing his pistol as he ran, and, as the man seemed to gain ground, he fired three times in the air.

The curiosity of women shopper along the street turned into fear. Screaming, they ran into doorways of stores and office buildings.

Sullivan fired three more shots and the running man darted into the hallway at 21 West Forty-seventh Street. Cohen followed the policeman into the building and pointed out there in the crowd as the man who had stole some shirting from him a few minutes earlier a man who said he was Julius Phillips, 24 years old, of 40 West 117th Street.

Cohen said Phillips came into his shop with a brief case, saying he was soliciting magazine subscriptions, and that while they talked the visitor stuffed $100 worth of shirting into the case. The shirtmaker said he tried to stop the man, but he ran, dropping the case outside the shop.

Phillips denied he was the thief, asserting he was one of the crowd which followed the policeman into the building, but Magistrate Weil held him in the West Side Court in $10,000 bail for examination Monday for grand larceny.

STOLE TO HAVE A GOOD TIME

Bronx Girl Held at Atlantic City for Robbing Three Others.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—Charged with burglary, Phyllis Smith, 17 years old, of 883 Holmes Street, the Bronx, known here as the "girl Raffles," was this evening held in $500 bail for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Joseph Paxson.

Almost hysterical, the girl, who is a bobbed-hair blond, seemed bewildered when brought into court from her cell and repeatedly said that she did not mean to do anything wrong, and "only wanted to have a good time."

According to the police she has no previous criminal record, and Magistrate Paxson characterized her merely as a wayward girl. Her relatives have been notified and are expected here shortly to obtain her release.

The girl came here last week and was stopping at 10 South Maryland Avenue. The police said she entered the rooms of three other girls by means of the fire escape and stole jewelry, silk underwear and $11. She paid for her room with the stolen money.

Pleading guilty to a charge of grand larceny in connection with an "inside job" in which $832 was stolen from the safe of George H. Fennell, furniture dealer, of 2,209 Third Avenue, Ernest F. Huber, 25 years old, cashier of the store for the past eight years, was held in $2,000 bail for the Grand Jury yesterday by Magistrate Renaud, in Harlem Court. Huber gave back $513. He had used the rest to "balance the books." Detective Begley said this was Huber's first offense.

Mob of 1,000 Lynch Negro in Missouri, With Passengers on a Train as Witnesses

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Aug. 7 (AP).—A mob of a thousand persons lynched Walter Mitchell, a negro, here today for an attack about midnight last night on a young white girl in the country.

The attack occurred while the girl was being taken to her country home by Leonard Utt. Several miles from town the negro jumped on the running board of their car, brandishing a flashlight, with which he struck Utt in the mouth, knocking him temporarily unconscious. The negro then forced the girl into the rear of the car and tried to attack her, but was beaten off. Frightened by her cries, the negro ran toward Excelsior Springs.

The police traced the negro early today by his tracks. They found him asleep in a small house in which he lived. Near by lay the flashlight. Utt identified him at once and the young woman did so later.

When news of the identification spread, a crowd formed about the jail where Mitchell had been taken. Chief of Police Craven and eight or ten deputies tried to disperse the crowd. They attempted to remove Mitchell by way of a basemnt door, but part of the mob guarded that exit.

When a false fire alarm was turned in and the door of the fire department room was opened for the truck, the mob poured in. A man with a sledgehammer battered down the door leading to the cell room and smashed the cell lock.

The negro, already in handcuffs, was dragged from the building through the main village street into the open country. A rope was procured, and at an oak tree about a mile from town a man shinned up the tree, tossed the rope over a limb, and five other men pulled the negro into the air.

The hanging was witnessed by passengers on a train that runs between Excelsior Springs and Excelsior Springs Junction. The mob swarmed over the tracks and forced the train to stop.

Witnesses said that as the negro was dragged through the streets he admitted the attack and pleaded for mercy.

Fifty policemen from Kansas City, armed with riot guns, arrived at the scene of the hanging fifteen minutes too late. They cut down the body and turned it over to the Coroner.

POLICE HUNT SUICIDE IN OLD JERSEY MINE

Lower Each Other in Relays Down Dark Shafts Amid Snakes and Bats.

BOYS FIND NOTE ON TREE

Two-Day Search Fails to Locate Body—Officials Scout Practical-Joke Theory.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., Aug. 7.—Snakes wriggled underfoot and bats flapped overhead in pitch-black caverns of the abandoned copper mine here today while three policemen searched seventy-five feet underground for the body of the man or woman whose initialed suicide note was found yesterday near one of the mine shafts.

Two Montclair boys, prowling about the mine to investigate a legend of local youth that the place was haunted, found the note fastened to a tree. It was written in pencil, barely decipherable, and read:

"Good-bye, cruel world. I am sick of living. I'd better be dead. Notify my folks. "L. H. S."

The two boys took the note to Chief of Police Michael Sallman of North Arlington. Sallman called Samuel Goodbody and George Shippe, the borough's two other policemen, and they began to search the ten shafts of the mine. They had finished only three shafts by nightfall and renewed their search early today. Hoisting apparatus at the top of the shafts had decayed, so the policemen lowered each other with a rope and pulley.

Only two men went at a time. Shippe, the heavier of the three, went first, followed by Goodbody. Sallman remained above to pull them back to the surface. Iron rods extending down the sides of the shafts at either side of footholds enabled the men below to assist the man above by pulling themselves up hand over hand.

Shippe and Goodbody carried flashlights. They searched first the shafts near the tree on which the note was found, believing that the supposed suicide might have jumped into one of them.

Twenty feet from the bottom of one of the shafts the policemen found a pool of water. This they dragged all the afternoon, thinking it possible that if a person had jumped into this shaft the body might have fallen into the water and drowned.

After Shippe and Goodbody had worked for a while, Shippe was drawn up and Sallman went down to help Goodbody, who later was relieved by Shippe. Each of the policemen took turns at working with another, but after searching all day they found no trace of a body.

The search will be continued tomorrow. It was suggested the note may be the work of a practical joker, but the police take it seriously.

SAYS AMERICANS TREAT CRIMINALS TOO KINDLY

British Lord Chancellor Declares Indeterminate Sentence Does Not Impress the English.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—"Our people still regard a criminal not as an invalid but as an offender against the public good," Lord Cave, British Lord Chancellor, said today in contrasting English and American attitudes toward lawbreakers before the International Prison Congress.

Thirty-seven American States, Lord Cave said, had tried the experiment of applying the system of indeterminate sentences—confined in this country to persons under 21—to adults. The system had not won its way into favor on this side of the Atlantic. Some prejudice had been caused by what appeared to be overindulgent treatment accorded to lawbreakers at some American prisons, he said, including concerts, newspapers and meals a la carte.

A prisoner was not regarded in Britain as an "unfortunate invalid," according to the Lord Chancellor.

HONGKONG, Aug. 7—Fully 100 important public organizations in Kwangtung Province have telegraphed to Peking calling attention an alleged Bolshevist conspiracy there.

They charge that certain Russians, whose names they give, are dictating the Administration of the Province. They warn Peking against Mr. Sun Fo's mission and urge the immediate dispatch of punitive armies to drive out the Bolshevists and reunite the country.

Sun Fo, ex-Mayor of Canton and a member of the new Canton Government which rules Kwangtung, is said to be endeavoring to arrange a truce with Peking.

LILIES BACK IN THE PASSAIC

Sewerage Body Reports More Oxygen in the Water—Fish Return Also

Commissioner George Burke of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission reported yesterday at a meeting of the commission in Newark that water lilies were growing in the Passaic River near Belleville and that fish had once more returned to the river.

The commission installed a new sewer last year following complaints that the waste from factories along the riverfront was polluting the stream. Recent tests of the water show that there is a greater percentage of oxygen than it formerly contained.

COMMUTERS' BOND FIXED AT $150,000

Plaintiffs Must Protect New Haven Road if Injunction Is Made Operative.

HELD OFF BY REBATE SLIPS

Justice Tompkins Grants It, but Holds It in Abeyance While Road Protects Riders.

Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins fixed at $150,000 yesterday the bond he would require of the Westchester commuters on the New Haven Railroad if for any reason he should finally make operative an injunction against the 40 per cent. rate increase on the road. The commuters would be bonded to indemnify the railroad against losses as a result of the injunction they sought through Frank J. Hermes, pending an application to the Public Service Commission of New York for a rehearing of the New Haven rate matter.

Justice Tompkins granted the injunction in White Plains yesterday, but inserted a provision in his decision which made it inoperative in view of the agreement by the New Haven to issue rebate certificates. The slips will cover the difference between the old fares and the new ones that became effective Aug. 1.

In Justice Tompkins's chambers when the decree was signed were Charles A. Van Auken, Corporation Counsel of New Rochelle; Hugh M. Hewson, Corporation Counsel of Mount Vernon, and Benjamin I. Spock, General Counsel for the New Haven Railroad Company.

Mr. Spock announced that the rebate certificates would be issued to commuters beginning probably next Wednesday. He also said that purchasers of tickets between Aug. 1, the date when the new rates went into effect, and the time the refund slips are issued would be entitled to obtain the slips by presenting the covers of their ticket books.

Mr. Spock refused to comment on the company's next step if the Public Service Commission grants a rehearing He said, the commission in deciding to allow the 40 per cent. increase had disallowed some of the company's claims and used figures of the commuters.

"Even on the commuters figures," he declared, "the commission decided that the company was nevertheless entitled to an additional sum of $63,000 a month, $750,000 a year to make the rates lawfully reasonable. That amount is only about half claimed by the company on its figures."

Mr. Van Auken had a conference with Milo R. Maltbie, former Public Service Commissioner, in the afternoon, and put the finishing details upon the application for a rehearing. He said he would forward the application to Albany and expected it would be served on the Public Service Commission this morning.

HOUSING CONSTRUCTION UP TO NATION'S NEEDS

Government Report Warns of Danger of Overproduction and Depression.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Building construction is shown in a Labor Department survey, just completed, to have caught up completely with the nation's housing needs, with indications beginning to appear that there is danger of overproduction and depression.

Ethelberg Stewart, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, who conducted the survey, declared tonight in summarizing the results that at the close of 1924 building in the country had gone ahead of the demand for the first time in several years.

Analysis of the figures, he said, justified the conclusion "that construction now need meet only normal requirements, and that a continuation of the high rate of building in the last three years must result in an overproduction with a sequel of depression."

POPE RECEIVES OUR SAILORS

ROME, Aug. 7 (AP).—Pope Pius today received in audience a party of thirty American sailors from the schoolship Annapolis of the American Naval Academy.

The pontiff delivered a short address urging the seamen to be loyal to their country, to perform their duties and to maintain discipline under all circumstances. He also urged that they distinguish themselves for patriotism and religious zeal.

The Pope also received 500 pilgrims from the congregations of Mary in the United States, led by Mgr. Samuel A. Stritch, Bishop of Toledo; the Rev. M. A. Clark, rector of the College of St. Francis Xavier of New York, and the Rev. J. P. O'Reilly, rector of St. Joseph's Church, Philadelphia.

"Collections were slightly ahead of the same period in 1924."

PERKINS GIRL WROTE CONNORS AFTER CHARGE

Love Letters to Man She Had Indicted Are Read at His Trial —Slayer Testifies.

While Dorothy Perkins was testifying yesterday that Michael ("Mickey") Connors committed against her the statutory offense for which he is on trial before Judge John F. McIntyre and a jury in General Sessions, letters of love written by her to the defendant since she caused his indictment were read into the records.

The Perkins girl, who is 17 years old and lives at 26 Jane Street, is under sentence of five years for manslaughter for killing Thomas Templeton, whom she shot to death at a party in her home Feb. 14 last because, it was alleged, he made a derogatory remark about Connors. She was then secretly going with Templeton, while professing her love for Connors, who is 35 years old and married.

The girl lost her composure during the reading of her letters, hid her face in her handkerchief at times, then raised it, glanced at Conors and giggled hysterically. Connors's smile was less broad than on the first day of the trial, but there was something of scorn in his expression whenever he glanced at the girl witness. Dorothy denied she had ever purchased a pistol. She admitted she objected to Connors marrying another girl because she felt he should have married her. Then she declared she no longer loved him. The letters were introduced at that point.

The trial will be resumed Monday.

STEER CRASHES INTO STORE

Plunges Through Window, Escapes, Butts Trolley and Breaks a Leg.

A big steer charged through the Bushwick section of Brooklyn yesterday afternoon, breaking plate glass windows, chasing bystanders and baffling the attempts of police to lasso him. Not until it attempted to try conclusions with a Lorimer Street trolley car and broke its leg in the effort was the animal subdued and taken away in a wagon.

The steer was being led to the slaughterhouse of Aaron Aron, 335 Johnson Avenue, at noon yesterday when it suddenly broke away and dashed down Johnson Avenue to Graham Avenue, followed by employes of the slaughterhouse and bystanders. Officer Patrick Knowlton of the Stagg Street Police Station was driving in a department car and tried to head the steer off, but it ran up on the sidewalk and burst through a plateglass window into the furniture store of Harry Greenstein.

After overturning and breaking a good deal of the furniture, the steer made its exit through another plateglass window. In the meanwhile Officer Knowlton had found a rope and tried to lasso the animal, but it evaded him and rushed down Montrose Avenue, where it turned about suddenly, faced the crowd, then dashed to Lorimer Street, where it attacked the trolley car.

SCOTT SAYS HE IS SANE.

He Tells Reporters He "Won't Do the Nut Act."

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP). — Russell Scott, who last night escaped the gallows when a jury decided he had become insane since his conviction for murder, today informed the newspaper men that he is "as sane as you are."

"They want me to do the nut act," he said, "but I won't do it."

The former Canadian financier, who was convicted of the murder of a Chicago drug clerk in a hold-up, and who five times neared death on the gallows, will be taken to the Chester Asylum for the Insane tomorrow morning.

He was to have gone today, but the State's Attorney objected to the form of commitment, insisting that it should specify that if Scott ever becomes sane he be returned to the Sheriff of Cook County to pay for his crime on the gallows.

Judge Joseph B. David, who presided at the sanity hearing, agreed to the change, which will be made in open court tomorrow morning.

10 FREED IN BOSTON CRASH.

Judge Orders Acquittal in Building Collapse.

BOSTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Ten of the twelve defendants, indicted for manslaughter in connection with the deaths of forty-four persons in the collapse of the Pickwick Club Building on July 4, were discharged today in the Suffolk Superior Court when Judge Lummus ordered the jury to return not guilty verdicts.

The defendants ordered acquitted are Edward W. Roemer, George C. Funk, Nathan Fritz, Henry M. Haven, John M. Tobin, John L. Pultz, Nathan Ginsberg, Hyman Bloomberg, Timthy J. Barry and Daniel Barry. The last four were also indicted for maintaining a common nuisance, Ginsberg and Bloomberg being lessee and sub-lessee of the building and the Barry brothers officers of the Pickwick Club.

BUTLER LAYS CORNERSTONE

$1,500,000 Physics Building at Columbia to Be Ready in 1926.

President Nicholas Murray Butler laid the cornerstone of Columbia University's $1,500,000 physics building yesterday afternoon in the presence of several hundred Summer session students. Classrooms and laboratories of the twelve-story structure, standing on the green just east of Broadway and 120th Street, will be ready for occupancy in September, 1926. Dr. Butler used the trowel which did service thirty years ago in laying the cornerstone of the library, one of the first university buildings on Morningside Heights.

Equipped for extensive research, the new building, Dr. Butler declared, would do much to link education with the industry. He said that special problems related to applied physics in engineering, as well as fundamental scientific subjects, would be investigated.

SMOKE HEARING DELAYED.

Hunters Point Protests Against Railroad to Be Heard Next Week.

Sixty members of the Hunters Point Community Council of Long Island City appeared at the Long Island City Police Court yesterday prepared to present their side of the controversy with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company over an alleged smoke nuisance. The attorney for the railroad company failed to appear in time, so Magistrate Thomas F. Doyle adjourned the hearing to Aug. 14.

Members of the Community Council charge that the four smokestacks of the company at Third and Front Streets, Long Island City, at all times send forth great clouds of smoke, which enters their apartments and also settles on clothes hung out on lines.

Magistrate Doyle told the attorney for the company, when he finally appeared, to be present on time a week hence and to have all witnesses with him.

Randolph, slayer of his 73-year-old mother, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury here last night and sentenced to death, which in this state means asphyxiation by lethal gas. Randolph beat his mother to death with his fists. He is the third man sentenced to death by lethal gas in Nevada. The two others have appeals pending.

MAIL RUM RING INDICTMENT FOUND

PADLOCK COURTS BUSY

Twelve Decrees Issued, Two Complaints Dismissed—Texas Guinan Case Put Off to Aug. 12.

The Federal Grand Jury, which has been investigating mail order bootlegging by a syndicate, whose offices at 1,123 Broadway were raided last month, returned a sealed indictment yesterday afternoon to Judge William Bondy. Assistant United States Attorney Joseph E. Manley said it probably would be several days before arrests were completed, which was taken as an indication that the accused were scattered through the country.

The syndicate did business in twenty-nine States and the District of Columbia, and was said to have been backed with almost unlimited funds. Seventy cities and towns are represented on the lists of patrons which fell into the hands of the Government as the result of the raid.

The two padlock courts conducted by Judges Augustus N. Hand and John C. Knox were busy again yesterday, and twelve padlock decrees were issued. Two complaints were dismissed and two adjournments granted. Charles J. Trainor of 448 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y., escaped with a personal injunction restraining him from violating the law. He said he hadn't violated it, but could see no reason why he should not be enjoined.

Two road houses were padlocked, the Woodside Inn of Thornwood, Mount Pleasant, N. Y., and the Comfort Country Club of Harrison, N. Y. Both were closed for six months. The disorderly effects of a tom-tom which disturbed the peace of Thornwood contributed to the action against the Woodside Inn.

Other places closed were those of W. J. Clare, 181 Broadway, Newburgh, N. Y., six months; Abe Schifrin, 135 West Thirty-third Street, three months; Walter Avadel, 330 West Ninety-sixth Street, three months; Samuel Cohen, 223 First Street, Newburgh, N. Y., two months; Walter Gardner, 214 Washington Street, Newburgh, six months; William Wolf, 2,340 Second Avenue, thirty days; Nick Russo, 161 Hester Street, six months; Star Restaurant, Liberty, N. Y., thirty days; August Meyer, 701 Columbus Avenue, six months; Thomas Hannah, Kingston, N. Y., two months.

The case against the Texas Guinan Club was put off until Aug. 12.

STAYTON ATTACKS GARY.

Judge Declines to Notice Wet Leader's Statement at Present.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Captain William H. Stayton, National Chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, came out this evening in a personal attack on Elbert H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, in connection with the movement supported by Judge Gary for the organization of a National Crime Commission and a Citizens' Committee to deal with crime conditions.

"Is Judge Gary personally a prohibitionist?" Captain Stayton asks, and answers the question himself by declaring that the Judge is not. He goes on:

"Since, then, Judge Gary is not a personal prohibitionist, we may ask why he preaches the doctrine. The Judge is perfectly frank in saying that he does not want it for himself, but he believes that it is a good thing for the workingman."

Referring to a visit made by Judge Gary to President Coolidge, Captain Stayton declares:

"Then he felt that we were so far from the millennium that help was needed from the President. He didn't go to see Mr. Coolidge concerning laws in general, but concerning the failure prohibition enforcement and the evil consequences that had come to the country.

"Today his reliance on the President has broken down, and he is today struggling with the formation of a National Crime Commission which is to endeavor to make the workingman behave himself and work harder."

After the foregoing dispatch had been read over the telephone to Judge Gary in his home at Jericho, L. I., last night, he said:

"In the first place, I am not at the head of the National Crime Commission, which, as I understand it, is little concerned just now with prohibition. However, I think I had better not notice Captain Stayton's statement until I know more about it."

SUBSTITUTE FOR ACCUSED.

Three Men Get 30 Days Each—Warrants Out for Real Defendants.

Abe Appell of 333 Miller Avenue, Robert Silverman of 501 Blake Avenue and Carl Zoll of 292 Hinsdale Street, all of the East New York section of Brooklyn, were sentenced to serve thirty days each in the workhouse by Magistrate Goldstein in the New Jersey Avenue Police Court yesterday when they admitted that they were substituting as prisoners for three men arrested on July 24 for gambling.

The men who were to have appeared gave their names when arrested as Sidney Rose of 530 New Jersey Avenue, Max Waldner of 408 Van Siclen Avenue and James Maroney of 63 Liberty Avenue. When the alleged defendants appeared at the bar in answer to the names of the men arrested Policeman Harold Moor of the Special Service Division informed the Court that the prisoners present were not the men he arrested.

Magistrate Goldstein had the men sign the names of the real defendants and compared the handwriting with the signatures on the bail bonds on which the men were released. He discovered that the writing bore no similarity to the real signatures. After a little questioning the three men admitted that they were not the real defendants and stated that they appeared in court so that the others would not be compelled to lose a day's work. Warrants have been issued for the real defendants.

MULVANEY IN LUCK AT LAST.

Presents and a Job Roll in on Unemployed Father of Triplets.

The present is happier and the future seems brighter to the James Mulvaneys in their two whitewashed rooms near a stable at the rear of 99 Central Avenue, Newark, where triplets—two boys and a girl—were born to them Monday, increasing the number of their children to seven and make the father, who was out of work, wonder all the more how he was going to manage.

But as soon as the news became known persons unknown to the Mulvaneys came to help. Gifts poured in on them from dozens of persons, and yesterday City Commissioner Murray drove away the last care. He sent the four older children of the Mulvaneys to the city's fresh air camp for two weeks, gave the mother a considerable sum of money he had collected and got the father a job.

Daily Style Hint
For Well-Dressed
New Yorkers

NEW YORK, August 8—Turn a boy loose in a pastry-shop, and he soon sickens of sweets. Similarly, vividly striped swimming suits are all very well in their way, but a smart effect that never comes into fashion, is the "coast-guard" style consisting of the plain white worsted shirt, with low neck and armholes, and the trim blue flannel trunks, wide and short. In this you look like an honest-to-goodness swimmer, not a splasher. Exclusive, but not expensive.

BELL FILES AS BANKRUPT.

Banker Lists Assets at $1,628,535 and Debts at $8,669,097.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7 (AP).—John A. Bell, President of the closed Carnegie Trust Company, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court today, giving his assets as $1,628,535.73, and his liabilities as $8,669,097.81.

A preliminary report of a creditors' committee, filed yesterday, showed that Bell, a leading Pittsburgh financier and coal operator, had suffered financial losses of about $10,900,000 during the last five years. The report recommended that bankruptcy proceedings be instituted.

Charges of embezzlement and willful misapplication of $800,643 of funds of the trust company were preferred against Bell, following an investigation of the bank's affairs by special investigators for Governor Pinchot. The bank was closed by the State Banking Department three months ago.

Bell appeared before Alderman Patrick Cawley later in the day and waived a preliminary hearing on the embezzlement charge. He was held for court under $25,000 bond, which was posted at the time of his arrest. The bond was renewed.

DR. COTTON IS IMPROVED.

Asylum Director Has Nervous as Well as Acute Ailment.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 7.—Some improvement was reported today in the condition of Dr. Henry A. Cotton, Medical Director of the Trenton State Hospital for the Insane. Dr. Cotton was examined yesterday by Dr. John H. Morrisey of New York City and Dr. Henry B. Costill, Director of the New Jersey State Department of Health, who were called into consultation by Dr. William Clark of the hospital staff. It was said today that the patient was suffering from a nervous disorder as well as an acute ailment.

Dr. Cotton took to his bed late Wednesday afternoon on his return to his home on the asylum grounds from the State House, where he had attended a session of the Bright investigating committee, which is examining into conditions at the hospital following charges that patients were ill-treated there. Prosecutor William H. Geraghty of Mercer County also is investigating the death of two women at the asylum. It is said that the strain of these investigations has aggravated Dr. Cotton's condition.

ROCKEFELLER ADDS TO PLOT FOR CHURCH

Acquires Twelve-Story Apartment House on Riverside Drive, Making Frontage of 250 Feet.

The plot for the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick's skyscraper church has been enlarged by the purchase of the twelve-story apartment house, 486-96 Riverside Drive, known as 490 Riverside Drive, it was learned yesterday. The house has been sold by the Imperial Property Company to the Empire Mortgage & Trust Company, a holding company for the Rockefeller family.

The property occupies a plot 100 by 100 feet. It is assessed for 1924 at $525,000. The plot being taxed $150,000. The improvements were assessed for an additional $375,000. It was sold subject to mortgages of $185,000.

With the acquisition of this parcel, the Rockefeller interests now own a plot fronting 250 feet on Riverside Drive, including the southeast corner of West 122d Street by 100 feet on West 122d Street, with a Claremont Avenue frontage of 125.2 feet and a southerly line of 200 feet.

There were reports yesterday that the Empire Mortgage Company had also taken over the six-story apartment house on a plot 100 by 100 feet, forming the southwest corner of Claremont Avenue and West 122d Street, which would give the Rockfeller interests a half block plot with 250 feet frontage on Riverside Drive with a line of 225.2 feet on Claremont Avenue.

William A. White & Sons, brokers for the buyers, refused to discuss the sale.

When Dr. Fosdick accepted the call to the Park Avenue Baptist Church he made his acceptance contingent upon the church agreeing to three provisions. These were that the church build a new edifice in the neighborhood of Columbia University with an auditorium seating no less than 3,000 persons; adoption of the principle of inclusive membership and non-insistence upon the rite of baptism by immersion.

BANK CLERKS' STRIKE HURTS FRENCH LOAN

Government Urges Settlement as the Movement Spreads Through the Provinces.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The steady spread of the strike of bank clerks in Paris and the provinces is having such a detrimental effect on M. Caillaux's gold loan that the Government has decided to do everything in its power to bring the conflict to an end.

M. Duafour, Minister of Labor, began today an examination of the demands of the strikers and issued a statement impressing upon both strikers and employes the necessity of regulating their differences as soon as possible in the interest of the public welfare.

Sympathy of the public largely is with the strikers, many of whom, receiving an average of 500 or 600 francs a month, are compelled with such meagre wages to maintain families. The clerks are striking for an increase of only 100 francs a month, which is not regarded as an extortionate demand, but the French banks contend they are in no position to meet such an increase.

A director of the Credit Lyonnais stated today that satisfaction of the demand of the strikers would do away with 35 to 70 per cent. of the annual dividend, the banks are obliged to maintain, owing to the complicated system of bookkeeping. The number of entries made in ledgers and the amount of checking involved, for instance, in the payment of a check required many more clerks than would be needed for a similar operation in English or American banks. Overhead charges, therefore, were much greater, or else the clerks were poorly paid.

Paris strikers engage in demonstrations every day, parading the streets and occasionally entering a bank, causing as much interruption of business as they can. In several instances the police have had to be called in to drive them off.

The strike is gaining headway, particularly in the provinces. At Aix les Bains the strike is complete, all the banks being involved. At Lyons the strike has extended to the secondary banks.

At Lyons, however, the strikers have gained their first important victory. The Credit Commercial de France acceded to their demands and they returned to work today.

Other centres affected in the last few days by the strike are Versailles, Chambery, Bourges Nimes, Limoges, Tarbes, Lourdes and Bagneres.

COURT CLEARS STEVENSON.

Dismisses Charge Involving Disposal of Trade Acceptances.

Failure to produce written agreements or other evidence of alleged larceny of $169,000 yesterday caused Magistrate George W. Simpson to discharge Harry Stevenson, 43 years old, of 1,737 Stillwell Avenue, the Bronx, an official of an asbestos roofing concern, who has been out in $25,000 bail pending the hearing.

Stevenson was arrested last month on complaint of Walter B. Hilliard, President of the American Cities Company, Inc., of 120 Broadway. The charge concerned the disposal of trade acceptances obtained by the Asbestos Products Corporation from its customers in payment for merchandise. Hilliard claimed that these acceptances were sold by the Asbestos Products Corporation to the American Cities Company, Inc., on false representations made by Stevenson in March last.

Magistrate Simpson in discharging Stevenson pointed out that the money was advanced without a signed statement being made by Stevenson or the Asbestos Products Corporation, and that all of the money advanced, according to the testimony, was received and deposited to the credit of the Asbestos Products Corporation and not to Stevenson's credit. The Magistrate said there was no evidence to show that Stevenson profited from the transactions between the two companies.

BOY CURED OF LOCKJAW.

Unusual Doses of Vaccine Were Used—Burned on July 4.

Dominick Volsenzo, 13-year-old son of Henry Volsenzo of 694 Jefferson Street, West New York, was discharged from North Hudson Hospital at Weehawken, N. J., yesterday cured of lockjaw after physicians had administered 160,000 units of anti-tetanus vaccine.

Dominick was burned while shooting firecrackers on the Fourth of July and two weeks later became severely ill. His jaws could open only a quarter of an inch and he had to be fed liquids. The tetanus vaccine was administered in such large doses that it was necessary to give him an anesthetic. He received 50,000 units the first day in the hospital and smaller amounts on succeeding days. Dr. E. W. Roberts of Jersey City treated the boy.

South Dakota Klan Honors Bryan.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 7 (AP).—Klansmen here held a meeting last night as a memorial to William Jennings Bryan. The ceremony included the burning of a fiery cross and singing by a group of gowned Klansmen. The posters, giving notice of the meeting, stated it was "to commemorate the life of William Jennings Bryan, the greatest Klansman of our time."

ROCKAWAY TUMULT QUIETED BY POLICE

Big Deals Continue on a Cash Basis but Scenes of Boom Are Orderly and Businesslike.

BROKERS SEEK NEW CURBS

Long Beach Excitement Grows Intense—One Property on the Ocean Reported Sold for $3,000,000.

New conditions prevailed yesterday in the real estate boom in the Rockaways. The boom itself abated somewhat, although the amount of money involved in the transactions was nearly as large as in the first days of the upward surge. But the bickering and bargaining on crowded street corners and the large scale deals with small scale payments were replaced by orderly business transactions in offices, with certified checks or cash for one-third or one-half of the total involved, demanded. Cash or its equivalent, and not paper, was the order of the day, with the brokers interested only in big deals.

The new conditions were the result of police action which was taken coincident with the announcement of District Attorney Newcombe of Queens to a group of real estate men who complained of conditions, that if evidence were presented to him, he would prosecute any unlicensed broker found operating in the Rockaways. The police had started on a similar drive by keeping the street crowds moving and making it necessary for the people to transact their business indoors.

Those who attempted to buy and sell on the streets were quickly shooed away. Many brokers were asked to show licenses. Those who had them were told to do their business in an office; those without them were ordered to stop.

"The situation is very satisfactory and is on a much sounder basis that it was a few days ago," said C. J. Farrell of Brunner & Farrell, large operators at Rockaway Park, yesterday. "We are now demanding certified checks or cash with the result that the irresponsible mob of speculators which rushed in at the height of the excitement is no longer influencing the market. We expect to have matters on a stable basis very shortly with continued investments by responsible men."

The Edgemere Realty Board, of which Isaac Zaret is President, held a meeting during the afternoon and condemned "shoestring" sales and brokers. They also went on record as wanting only large transactions and as opposing the handling of deals whereby the broker had to purchase sale contracts that had been handed on from one buyer to another. They favored dealing direct with original owners who had not yet sold and also handling the business only of those who were not speculating but seeking to build on the property.

Zarret, himself, was reported to have done more than $1,000,000 in business during the day.

One large deal completed was the sale of the Colonial Hotel, on a plot 108 by 450 feet, which is on the ocean front and one of the largest hotels in the Rockaways, for $400,000, by J. Margolis, to Goldfine & Dansig. Margolis bought the property for $315,000 from Herman Green. Margolis also sold the Melrose Hotel, on a plot 210 by 105 feet, for $140,000, to J. Goldfine, and a plot 100 by 300 feet, on the ocean front at Beach Sixty-third Street, Arverne, for $100,000, to Schwartz & Lieber.

Reaction Is Noticed.

Trading was somewhat brisker at Edgemere and Far Rockaway than at Rockaway Park, although in both places the influence of the reaction was felt. At Edgemere Maxwell Ochs reported the sale of his block between Beach Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Streets for $365,000 and F. J. Lancaster disposed of a block between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Streets for $355,000. In each case the seller refused to divulge the name of the buyer.

The Long Beach boom was reported to be gathering in intensity. No action was taken there against street bargaining and the corners were crowded with brokers and buyers.

One of the biggest realty deals on record there was completed on Thursday when E. E. Smathers sold to Rosensweig Brothers, Manhattan operators, the plot of unimproved property comprising eighty-seven lots, with beach frontage, bounded by the Boardwalk, Broadway, Jackson and Riverside Boulevards. Rosensweig Brothers immediately took a substantial profit for their contract from Henry Kohnblum, Brooklyn builder, and his associates.

Mr. Kornblum was said to have paid $3,000,000 for the plot, which is situated two blocks east of the Nassau Hotel. The property has a Boardwalk frontage of 705 feet, with a depth of about 250 feet.

The same day he resold the westerly end of the tract bounded by the Boardwalk, Jackson Boulevard and Broadway, to New York builders, who plan to erect a fifteen-story hotel on the site. The operation, including the cost of the land, will involve about $5,000,000. Mr. Kornblum was represented by Schlesinger & Krinsky.

5 KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Car Falls Forty Feet From Bridge in Lowell.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 7 (AP).—Five lives were lost when an automobile carrying nine persons plunged through a fence of the Chelmsford Street Bridge in this city early today and fell forty feet to the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Four of the victims were members of one family. The dead are:

FRED CHRISTOS, driver of the automobile.
WILLIAM CHRISTOS, his brother.
Mrs. PORTIA GEFTEAS, sister of above.
GLADYS CHRISTOS, another sister.
Mrs. ANNA CHRISTOS, wife of William.

Vacilios Gefteas, husband of Mrs. Portia Gefteas; Louis Collivas and his wife, Mrs. Katherine Christos Collivas, were probably fatally injured.

Only one of the party, Alexandria Christos, escaped serious injury. She reported to the police that the party were returning from an automobile drive to Tyngsboro, which had followed a prenuptial celebration in honor of Gladys Christos, whose wedding day was set for next Saturday. Fred Christos, who was driving, lost control of the car at a curve and the crash followed.

FIGHT, ARREST EACH OTHER.

Deputy Sheriffs in Fist Bout Over Baseball—One Gets Black Eye.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTH PELHAM, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Two Deputy Sheriffs, following a fight here today in which one received a black eye, brought about the arrest of each other on charges of assault and disorderly conduct.

Sol Rubin of 100 Lockwood Avenue, New Rochelle, an attorney of that city, was riding through North Pelham in a new auto when a baseball bounced down the street and fell into his car.

Abe Subitzky of 129 Fifth Avenue, North Pelham, appeared and claimed the ball. Hot words passed as to whether or not Subitzky had thrown the ball, and the men fell into a fist fight. Rubin received the black eye.

"I'm a deputy, and you're under arrest," shouted one.

"So am I, and you are under arrest," the other responded.

The charges will be heard next week by a Police Justice.

VANDERBILT HOUSE TO GO FOR $7,100,000

and George Vanderbilt, sons of the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

The papers are also ordered served on the petitioner, and on Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Chauncey M. Depew, as executors and trustees under the will of Cornelius Vanderbilt, and on Reginald C. Vanderbilt, Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Henry B. Anderson and Frederick L. Merriam, as executors and trustees under the will of Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's petition, submitted to the Court by Anderson & Anderson of 15 Broad Street, states that she resides at 1 West Fifty-seventh Street, in the house about to be sold, and that her husband died Sept. 12, 1899, leaving a will and two codicils. Under the first article of his will he gave her the dwelling house for life, and under the second article he provided that upon her death it was to go to his sons, Alfred G. or Reginald C. Vanderbilt, according to the survivor, if she so provided in her will, and in case she failed to dispose of the property it was to go to the elder of the two sons named who survived, and if neither was living, to the eldest of his daughters, and if none of his children survived their mother the property was to be sold and the proceeds divided between the children of his daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney and the Countess Szchenyi, and the sons, Alfred G. and Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Condition of the Estate.

The petition said:

"The condition of the estate in which your petitioner has the life interest with remainders over under the last will and testament of said Cornelius Vanderbilt, deceased, as set out in Article III of the will hereof, is as follows:

"The only property, real or personal, in which your petitioner is vested with a life estate, with such remainders over under said last will and testament, is described in the first article of said will. There are no unpaid taxes or assessments or other lien affecting any of said property. The two lots known by street numbers 42 and 44 East Fifty-eighth Street, referred to in said article, are leased at a net annual rental of $11,000 to Sept. 30, 1927; of $15,000 to Sept. 30, 1934, and $19,000 to Sept. 30, 1941. None of the other property mentioned in the first article of said will is productive of any income."

The two lots in East Fifty-eighth Street were formerly occupied by the Vanderbilt stable.

In setting forth the reason for making the sale, Mrs. Vanderbilt said:

"It is for the best interest of your petitioner and of the remaindermen and of all persons of any interest or to become interested in the proceeds of the real property described in the third article of this petition, that the sale be had at this time for the following reasons:

"The only building or other improvement now upon the said property is the dwelling erected thereon by the said Cornelius Vanderbilt prior to the year 1897, and which is referred to in the first article of his will. At the time of the erection of the said dwelling house and the death of Cornelius Vanderbilt the section of New York in which the lots are located was exclusively a residential centre. Since then it has become almost exclusively a business centre. Both sides of Fifth Avenue south of Fifty-seventh Street are almost wholly improved with stores, offices, hotels and loft buildings. The east side of Fifth Avenue, from Fifty-seventh to Fifty-eighth Street, opposite, is devoted to business exclusively.

A Skyscraper Near By.

"Within the last five years there has been erected on the southwest corner of Fifty-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue a twenty-five-story structure, known as the Heckscher Building, the first and second floors of which are rented for stores and the upper floors of which are rented for showrooms and offices. The property at the southeast corner of Fifty-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue, upon which stands the former dwelling of the late Collis P. Huntington, has recently been sold for immediate improvement with a multi-story business building, and said dwelling house is soon to be demolished, as your petitioner is informed and believes. In the immediate neighborhood of said lots are the Plaza, Savoy and the Netherland Hotel buildings.

"The change in the character of the neighborhood in which said lots are located has thus resulted in a large increase in the assessed value of and the taxes imposed upon them and the improvement thereon. The following table shows such increases during the years of your petitioner's life tenancy of said property:

Year.	Assessed Value.	Tax.
1900	1,550,000	34,491
1902	1,550,000	35,238
1903	2,500,000	35,341
1904	2,850,000	43,132
1905	3,000,000	44,715
1906	3,000,000	44,367
1907	3,000,000	44,459
1908	3,000,000	48,422
1909	3,000,000	50,341
1910	3,000,000	56,252
1911	3,300,000	56,841
1912	3,300,000	60,390
1913	3,350,000	60,635
1915	3,375,000	63,112
1916	3,650,000	74,460
1917	3,725,000	75,245
1918	3,725,000	87,900
1919	3,725,000	86,420
1920	3,725,000	92,380
1922	4,100,000	112,750

"The said property is no longer a suitable place of residence for your petitioner, and the expense of its maintenance, which is very large, and the whole of which falls upon your petitioner, has become a heavy burden to her. In its present condition the said property cannot be rented for an amount equal to a reasonable return upon its value. The architecture and construction of the dwelling house on said premises are such as to preclude alterations and adaptation to use for business purposes except at an expense that would not be justified by the resulting return in rents; and in the present condition of the title it is impossible to arrange for improvement of the premises of a character that will enable your petitioner and others who are interested in the property to realize an adequate return therefrom.

Believes the Offer a Good One.

"Your petitioner, has, therefore, obtained an offer of $7,100,000 in cash for the said property. The demand for such property at any time is limited by the large values involved. The said offer is largely in excess of any sum heretofore obtainable for the property, and is a high price therefor. In view of all the circumstances your petitioner is informed and believes that it would be an exercise of sound business judgment to sell said property at the price and terms offered.

"Every adult who has an estate or interest, vested or contingent, in reversion or remainder, in said property, or in the proceeds of any sale therefor, concurs in that opinion and has assented to a sale of the property for that sum.

"Wherefore your petitioner prays for an order of this court pursuant to sections 67 to 71 of the Real Property law, authorizing the sale and conveyance of said property upon such terms and conditions as the court may prescribe, for a price not less than $7,100,000 in cash, and directing that the proceeds of said sale, in the event that sale be authorized, be paid into the hands of the Guaranty Trust Company as trustee for your petitioner and remaindermen, or such other persons as may be or may become entitled to the proceeds of such sale of said property, no bond or other security to be required of such trustee."

Under the law in such cases, a referee will be appointed in the Supreme Court to take testimony on the application. At the hearing before him the adults interested in the property will be represented by their own attorneys, and guardians ad litem will appear for the infants interested. Upon the filing by the referee of his recommendations, the court wil pass upon them. Permission asked for in such a case is invariably given.

In Style of the Chateau de Blois.

The Vanderbilt home is one of the finest examples of French architecture in the country. It was completed in 1893 from plans by George B. Post & Sons. The exterior followed the general style of the Chateau de Blois on the River Loire in France, but the interior was planned for entertaining on a large scale. Many plans were submitted to Mr. Vanderbilt, but all of them failed of approval until Mr. Post presented one with no corridor, but with a large central ballroom and a series of rooms surrounding it. The ballroom furnishings and decorations were designed in the style of Louis XIV, while the salon is in Louis XV style.

The portion of the house fronting on Fifty-seventh Street is of the Francis I period and includes a self-sustaining staircase of Caen stone. The models for all this work were made in France. All of the Francis I work was modeled at the Chateau de Blois by special permission of the French Government. Another famous room in the house is decorated in the Moorish style and was designed after Mr. Post had spent a month at the Alhambra in Granada, Spain.

Above the main floor is a series of private suites, and in the upper story is a large kitchen. The parquet floors, which are of many designs, were made in France, and after they were brought to this country and installed they caused much trouble because of the change in climate, which opened all the seams. This also happened to the elaborate trim and heavy moldings of oak, hand carved in France.

The decorations, however, covered all these minor defects, and this woodwork is said to be among the finest specimens of modern French carving in existence. Many of the chandelier and lighting fixtures were copied from famous French chateaus, the patterns being destroyed after their completion. One of the most famous features of the old house was the wrought iron fence, which was made in France, and extended across the entire Fifth Avenue front of the building and along the Fifty-eighth Street side. Some years ago when Fifth Avenue was widened a piece of it had to be removed, and in order that it might not fall into the hands of a junkman and possibly be copied it was broken up and dumped at sea on a tug specially chartered for that purpose.

Plans for a thirty-story building to go up on the site of the old William K. Vanderbilt home at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-second Street were filed yesterday by Springsteen & Goldhammer, architects. The property was sold by Mrs. Vanderbilt, before she moved to her present home in Sutton Place, to the Empire Trust Company. The property was bought last May by Benjamin Winter. It was valued at $4,000,000. The plans filed yesterday are tentative, as there is a question as to just how high a building can be erected at this corner.

WHERE WAS THE BOAT?

If Youth Tried Suicide on Jersey Side He Broke Law—No Crime Here

The question whether Elias Schur, 21, of 4,402 Gifford Street, Cleveland, should be arrested for attempted suicide is troubling the Weehawken police.

Schur, who came to New York two weeks ago, was unable to find work and tried to throw himself into the Hudson River from the deck of a ferryboat on Thursday evening. George Kruger, a deckhand, prevented that and the youth was locked in the Weehawken police station. Witnesses said the attempt happened in mid-stream, and as New York has no law for arresting attempted suicides, while New Jersey has, the question remains whether it is legal to hold him.

Schur is in the Jersey City jail for observation, having been ordered there by the Weehawken Township doctor, W. L. Snyder.

Two Families in Two Divorce Suits.

Two divorce actions in which the wife of one plaintiff and the husband of the other are corespondents came before Supreme Court Justice Dike in Brooklyn yesterday. Frederick V. Meinberg sued his wife, Mrs. Adele Meinberg, naming Harold D. Young, a piano salesman. Mrs. Margaret Young began action against her husband, naming Mrs. Meinberg. The acquaintance of Young and Mrs. Meinberg, it is said, dates from the time Young was commissioned by Meinberg to see his wife about a piano he was to give her at Christmas last year.

BRIAND WILL LINK SECURITY AND DEBT

French Hope to Win Political Advantages at London in Return for Financial Concessions.

SOVIET INTRODUCES DISCORD

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—M. Briand is taking with him to London next week Philippe Berthelot, Director of Foreign Affairs at the Quai d' Orsay, and some of the best legal and diplomatic experts of the Foreign Ministry. It is, however, insisted at the Quai d'Orsay that the London meeting will not be a "conference." It will be a conversation on the French draft of the text of the Treaty of Security.

This text is the third which has been drafted and has this merit, that it is believed to be the simplest yet evolved by the French Ministry. To some extent it seeks to isolate the problem of Rhineland security from other problems which have so far complicated the simple proposition of the interchange of signatures on the part of France, Germany, England and Belgium to keep the peace along the Rhine.

Collaterally with this proposal the French will present for British consideration and approval a draft of other proposals for the settlement, according to their view, of the German-Polish and German - Czechoslovak difficulties. These proposals for the form which the arbitration treaties should take have been the result of a careful study by French experts of the whole situation as complicated by existing treaties, and have been drawn up, it is understood, with some degree of collaboration with the countries interested.

There is here some confidence that British assent will be obtained to at least a major part of these proposals and that an agreement will be easily realizable before there is any question of meeting with the Germans. But that there will be serious difficulties seems almost inevitable, for it still is obvious from all French press comment on the proposals that British and French conceptions of the compact are fundamentally different, despite the insistence during all recent conversations by British agents on the bilateral nature of the whole agreement.

Hope for a Debt Compromise Also.

M. Briand said today in a short interview after the Ministerial conference that the debt question would be in no way involved in the discussion. At the same time there is a general tendency to hope that some compromise may be the outcome of the discussion if France proves amenable on political issues. Until the security discussion is more advanced there will certainly be no resumption of the debt discussion, and any possibility of M. Caillaux's going to London may now be regarded as entirely dependent on the result of M. Briand's endeavors to improve the general atmosphere and obtain financial advantages in exchange for political concessions.

The situation as a whole has not been improved by the most recent development of renewed friendliness on the part of France with Soviet Russia. With whatever reason, the Russians have always tended to regard the Rhineland compact as directed more or less against them, and that despite the German attitude. This conception has perhaps not been without weight in inducing them to recognize their pre-war debt and seek at this juncture an arrangement with France which, because it affects so many French working and middle class families, will inevitably tend to make better feeling here toward the Soviet Government.

In an interview which he gave yesterday Krassin summed up the Russian attitude thus:

"It is evident that inasmuch as all discussions of the pact and the entry of Germany into the League of Nations have manifestly had for their aim the isolation of Russia and opposition to her of a bloc of European States, our Government and our people cannot look with entire favor or excessive sympathy upon such an attempt to 'strengthen peace.' "

This flirtation with France and promises to pay which are being made are regarded by those who still maintain suspicion of Russian words in contrast with Russian acts as deliberately intended to trouble the security negotiations. It is a known factor in the situation that Mr. Chamberlain regards Russia as the greatest danger not only for the British Empire but for the whole world, and that his preoccupation with the compact is the desire to secure stability in Western Europe in case Eastern Europe and Asia become the field of conflict. When on his meeting with M. Briand on Tuesday he discovers the extent to which this flirtation with Russia has gone, it may very easily make a difference in the whole negotiation.

To Consider Germany's Reservations.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The conversations next week between Foreign Ministers Chamberlain and Briand are expected to last two or three days. The French Foreign Minister arrives on Monday night and begins the conference on Tuesday.

The Ministers, it is understood, will consider especially some reservations made by Germany in her note to France on the security question. It always has been considered here that the German Government inserted them as much in order to satisfy public opinion at home as in any real hope that the Allies would accept them, but none the less it is necessary, now that the negotiations for a compact are beginning to take concrete form, for England and France to take a firm stand on them.

First are the conditions which Germany wishes to impose for her admission to the League of Nations. England wants to see Germany within the League and would not regard the compact as an instrument of much value unless Germany had accepted membership, but she is not in the least prepared to grant Germany any concessions such as the right to refuse passage to French troops across her territory under Article XVI. as a condition for admission. England, as well as France, considers that Germany must accept the League with all its obligations or remain outside.

The second point is the suggestion Germany made that the compact might bring about a change in the allied occupation of the Rhineland. England has never forgotten that the Treaty of Versailles contains machinery for its revision if necessary and has from time to time found it useful to remind France that Clemenceau himself pointed out this to the German delegates at the moment of signing the instrument. But she is not prepared to make any admission in the compact which the Germans might use later as a lever for getting occupied territory released.

Chamberlain and Briand will have before them, among other documents, drafts of a compact drawn up by Sir Cecil Hurst, legal adviser of the British Foreign Office, and M. Fromageot, adviser of the Quai d'Orsay. It should be understood, however, that these drafts were only made in order to crystallize the views of each country. The compact, in the Government view here, is a German proposal and must therefore be couched in the terms the Germans prefer before it is taken into consideration. There is no intention whatever of forcing either a French or British draft on Germany, and Berlin is expected to put into her own language exactly what she means before the crucial discussions begin.

British Views on Arbitration Treaties.

Another matter likely to give the two Foreign Ministers much food for debate are the arbitration treaties which Germany, according to the security proposal, is to conclude with France, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia. With regard to the first two England is prepared to be a guarantor, but she has and intends to have no direct connection with the other two which France is planning to guarantee. Consequently she can only discuss them in the attitude of a mediator or friendly observer. She has quite definite views concerning them. She wants France to realize they cannot be one-sided, and must confer on Germany just as many rights as on the other party. If they protect Poland from German aggression they must also act as protection for Germany and must be respected just as faithfully by France and Poland as by Germany. Above all, England wants to make it plain to her ally she cannot permit the question of the security compact and the Rhineland frontier to be complicated by the problem of these arbitration treaties. England is out to gain the security of the Rhine borders and to remove finally from European politics the danger of a German war of revenge. She believes the compact can give it to her and she cannot allow that to be jeopardized by any agreement concerning the tangled Polish question.

DISARMAMENT ACCORD AIDS SECURITY PLAN

Progress in Rhine Evacuation Negotiations Also Improves the Outlook for Peace.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The satisfactory progress of the negotiations over German disarmament, conducted by the Interallied Military Control Commission and the German Military Commission appointed for the purpose by the German Government, points to a speedier conclusion of the European security compact than hitherto has been expected. This was the view given to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent this evening by a qualified spokesman of the Luther Cabinet.

It may be assumed that Foreign Minister Stresemann has entertained hopes of meeting the French, British and Belgian Foreign Ministers before the end of September either at Geneva or Brussels, and arriving at on understanding with them relative to international guarantees of European integrity by the middle of October. Negotiations between Dr. Stresemann and General Walsh have progressed to a point where hopes for evacuation of Cologne are brightest, the belief being it will be effected before Sept. 1. The Ruhr evacuation and the promised evacuation of the sanction cities of Düsseldorf, Duisberg and Ruhrort have greatly aided in smoothing discussion between the German and French commissions.

The French answer to the German reply on the security compact is expected shortly, but not before the Reichstag adjourns for the Summer recess. Wilhelmstrasse is pleased that the Reichstag will not be in session when further negotiations take place, allowing the Cabinet freedom of action without annoyances of the Left Radicals.

Political circles believe that with one more exchange of notes negotiations will have progressed enough to warrant calling a preliminary conference as a means of deciding the basis on which an agreement is possible and clearing the way for a general conference to be held later.

WESTCHESTER TOWNS WIN WATER RATE SUIT

Court Orders Company to Refund Moneys Collected Under Increased Tariffs.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The towns of Mamaroneck and Harrison and the villages of Rye and Pelham won a sweeping victory today against the New York Interurban Water Company, when Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor signed a decision here that the increased water rates, which the company attempted to establish on June 1, 1924, are unreasonable to the extent of $108,264.41 a year. Justice Taylor ruled that the water company must refund all moneys collected in excess of the old rates and that the company must pay costs of the communities' action.

Justice Taylor held that the water rates paid from 1920 to 1924 were excessive, but did not order any rebate, because the rates were paid voluntarily. The rates in dispute were approximately 100 per cent. higher than the rates prior to March, 1924.

Trial of the action began at White Plains on April 6, 1924, and testimony was taken from time to time up to March of this year, when decision was reserved.

J. Henry Esser of Mount Vernon represented the communities in the rate fight, and Arthur M. Johnson, also of Mount Vernon, appeared for the company.

BOY ADMITS THEFTS AT SARATOGA TRACK

Washington Irving High School Pupil Stole Handbags of Society Women in Boxes.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP).—A sixteen-year-old boy, George Hochbert of Schenectady, a student at Washington Irving High School, New York, today confessed, the police say, to thefts in the boxes frequented by society women at the race track.

The boy, according to the police, took a handbag from Mrs. Kathryn Elkins Hitt of Washington, D. C., and another from Mrs. R. I. Miller of the same city.

Mrs. Hitt's bag, which contained jewelry, has been recovered at the boy's home, the police said. He was arrested at the race track, they said, while attempting to steal a handbag from Mrs. Margaret Miloney of New York.

LOSES $5,000, STANDS STILL

Bus in Which He Drops It at Last Brings It Back.

Isaac Taub, of 960 South Orange Avenue, Newark, left his home yesterday afternoon with an envelope in his pocket containing a certified check for $500 and promissory notes valued at $4,500, which he intended to deposit in his sister's safety deposit box.

He boarded a bus, and when he got off at the corner of Market and Broad Streets discovered that the envelope was missing. Detectives Fallon and Reibold, who are acquainted with him, happened to be passing. Taub told them his trouble. The detectives started a search of the buses of the South Orange Avenue line, stopping them as they arrived at the corner. The envelope was discovered lying in a rear corner of the seventh bus examined, the one in which Taub had ridden. Its contents were untouched.

AUTO HIT BY TROLLEY CRUSHES A WOMAN

She Dies in Hospital and Three Others Are Hurt in Third Avenue Crash.

MOTHER SEES SON KILLED

Youth Is Struck by Swerving Truck While Waiting in Safety Zone for a Car.

Two persons were killed and fourteen injured in automobile and trolley accidents yesterday.

While crossing the street at Third Avenue and Twenty-third Street yesterday afternoon Miss Ethel Barnes, 40 years old, was fatally injured when a westbound trolley car crashed into an automobile which had stopped to let north and south bound traffic proceed. The auto, owned by Acting Chief Medical Examiner Benjamin Schwartz, and driven by Samuel King, 1,135 Washington Avenue, was stationary at the time of the accident. The impact of the trolley car drove the machine forward and it struck a truck owned and driven by Dennis Gorman, aged 49 years, 59 Charlton Street, which was proceeding downtown. The truck careened, throwing Gorman to the street, knocking Miss Barnes to the street and hitting Patrolman Toner and Thomas Flynn, 13 years old, of 177 Tenth Avenue, before it stopped against an "L" pillar.

Although shaken by the accident, Dr. Schwartz and a friend who was riding with him, Dr. D. Reisner, 4,721 Twelfth Avenue, Brooklyn, helped to take the injured people to a drug store, where first aid was given.

They were all taken to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance. Miss Barnes died of a fractured skull and internal injuries soon after being admitted. Patrolman Toner, who lives at 195 Willoughy Avenue, Brooklyn, is suffering from a fractured pelvis, and Gorman, driver of the truck, has a possible fractured skull. Thomas Flynn was able to go home after having minor injuries dressed.

Burt, the motorman, was arrested and held on a technical charge of homicide.

Mrs. Georgiana Wats, 58 years old, of 322 West Eighty-ninth Street, saw her son, Julio, 24 years, killed by an automobile while waiting for a street car at Broadway and Seventy-fourth Street last night. Mrs. Wats sustained a fractured wrist and was severely shaken when she was knocked to the street by the impact of her son's body.

They were standing in the safety zone waiting for a trolley car to take them to their home when a coal truck belonging to Weber-McLoughlin, 132d Street and North River, and driven by Felix Kuff, 630 West 131st Street, swerved into the safety zone and struck a traffic stanchion. The stanchion knocked Julio to the ground, and as he fell he struck against his mother, carrying her to the street.

Patrolman Joseph Walker of the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station attempted to assist the mother and her son while waiting for an ambulance from Knickerbocker Hospital. Dr. Lawrence Bean said that Julio had died instantly and took Mrs. Wats to the hospital to be treated for a fractured wrist and shock.

Kuff was arrested on a technical charge of homicide. He said he had been forced to swerve to avoid striking a taxicab.

This story was corroborated by witnesses. The taxi, which, according to Kuff, had two passengers in it, did not stop.

Eight were injured yesterday afternoon in a collison between a five-ton truck and a Second Avenue trolley car at Sixty-ninth Street and Second Avenue. All of the injured were able to go to their homes after being treated by Dr. Goldberg of Reception Hospital. All of the injured were passengers on the street car except the driver of the truck, John Bushalski, of 242 Franklin Street.

FLORIDA REALTY MEN UNDER FIRE AT SHORE

Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce Investigates Alleged Misrepresentations.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—The activities of certain Florida real estate concerns, several of which have Boardwalk offices here, are being investigated by the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement today by Samuel P. Leeds, President.

Mr. Leeds said that the companies in question were engaged in "gross misrepresentation, and with an effrontery that surpasses most efforts in that line."

One concern, he said, had been using photographs of the Seaview Country Club, the Atlantic City Yacht Club and other views here to illustrate scenes supposed to exist in Florida. This literature, Mr. Leeds declared, "has been impounded by the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce."

"There are many such unscrupulous Florida land companies here," Mr. Leeds said, "and I am making a thorough investigation of them all."

HE LOOKED ONLY ONE WAY.

So, Thinking His Auto Had Been Stolen, Gave Chase—Finds It Later.

James Bascomb, who keeps a clothes pressing shop in the basement of 115 East Forty-seventh Street, left his 4-year-old son, Jimmy, in his small touring car in front of the shop last night while he and Mrs. Bascomb went inside for a few minutes.

Jimmy got out to talk to the doorman and soon afterward he noticed the car was gone. He told his father, who ran out, looked west toward Park Avenue, and saw a machine exactly like his turn north. Hailing a passing taxicab, he followed to Eightieth Street, but there the machine ahead disappeared. Bascomb notified the police of the East Fifty-first Street station and walked back to his shop.

There he found his machine a few feet from where he had left it.

"It only rolled back a little," the doorman explained. "You didn't have the brakes on right, and if you'd looked the other way you'd have seen it."

CIPPICO HITS FRANCE ON FOREIGN POLICY

POINTS TO HER BIG ARMIES

And Declares Europe's Greatest Force Backs Dream of Mediterranean Supremacy.

"BIG BUSINESS" IS UPHELD

V. M. Cutter, United Fruit Head, Tells Politics Institute of Our Caribbean Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 7.—Pointing out that France is "the most formidably armed nation on the Continent of Europe today," Count Antonio Cippico, Italian Senator and Fascist, charged in his lecture before the Institute of Politics tonight that France is trying to "enforce her moral supremacy upon the world" and was guided in her foreign policy by "a great dream of supremacy in Northern Africa," in order to build up a reservoir of man power for a future war.

Count Cippico urged France to come to an understanding with Italy regarding the Mediterranean area, and especially to give Italians the same rights as Frenchmen in Tunis, so that the French need for protection of her "imperial power" might go hand in hand with Italy's need to expand and find outlets for her surplus population.

In previous lectures Senator Cippico has hinted at a danger of war if the other powers, who divided Germany's colonies at the end of the war without giving any to Italy, do not make an amicable settlement by which Italy may obtain colonies or some other outlet for her overpopulation. He has called attention to Italy's dilemma as "a prisoner in her own sea" because of English control of the gates of the Mediterranean and has sought to prove how this geographical position together with her overpopulation and lack of raw materials makes expansion inevitable.

"The formula of the moral superiority of France over the whole of Europe is—it is useless to hide the fact—resenetd by many," he said, "but it will perhaps be accepted by some so long as France is, as today, the most formidably armed nation on the continent of Europe.

"The notion that the French entertain of their admirable country and would like to impose on the world is, ingenuously, somewhat similar to that which Louisa of Savoy, mother of Francis I, had of her royal son after the victory of Marignano, when she wrote of him as 'My pacific Caesar, conqueror of the Helvetians!' "

Says France's Aims Upset Europe.

Senator Cippico asserted that the principle of nationality, "which was loudly proclaimed by the Revolution and by Bonaparte, has upset Europe in favor of the aims of France."

"Since today France continues to pursue it in her program of Continental and Eastern expansion," he went on, "it may one day, more easily than might be imagined, prove an obstacle to her interests, even in the 'Little Entente,' which was conserved and formel by her."

The Italian spokesman compared present French policy with the idea once held in Germany that the one universal civilization was the German.

"This (German) civilization became about thirty years ago German kultur, which, according to the upholders of Deutschland über alles, ought to have dominated the world," he continued.

"Yesterday Germany was armed so as to carry through her program of cultural hegemony. Today it is the turn of France, who by the strength not of war, but of the armed peace of her presumed historical mission tries to enforce her moral supremacy upon the world.

"A great dream of supremacy in Northern Africa today dominates the policy of the Quai d'Orsay, this new France overseas to become the great reservoir of men for the war which France may and must fight in the future. Nobody can, a priori, condemn this dream of empire. From Algeria, through Tunis and Morocco, France reached out for Tangier, the great West African port.

"This magnificent project, worthy of France's imperial tradition, perhaps corresponds, for her, with a vital necessity. France should, however, recollect in carrying it out the political importance of that African coast. It is necessary for her seriously to consider both the justifiably suspicious attitude of England and Spain and the right to live of many tens of thousands of Italians, who have been the real pioneers of European civilization in those countries. She should also take heed of the nationalistic attitude, which is frankly hostile to her, of many of the native tribes.

Cites Libyan-Tunisian Situation.

"As regards Italy's situation on the Libyan-Tunisian frontier, it is enough to say that while there are more than a hundred thousand Italians in Tunis who have redeemed and cultivated that land, and who are today settled there with their industries and their lands to live their lives, the French are represented by not more than a quarter of that number to govern their protectorate. In Algeria and in Morocco there are another hundred and fifty thousand Italians, all of whom ask no better than to be left in peace and to retain intact their language, habits and nationality.

"France—champion, as we are aware, of the principle of nationality in these lands, which are neither her colonies nor mandates, attempts by a policy of slow absorption to suppress there the free Italian nationality. The conventions of 1896 between France and Italy, regarding Tunis, have all been scrupulously respected by Italy. We cannot say the same as far as France is concerned."

Senator Cippico protested against the French decrees, declaring foreign subjects in Tunis and Morocco to be French, with respect to the jurisdiction of French tribunals. If the Italians, English and Spanish accepted this decree, he said, they would recognize the principle that a protecting nation has the right to impose its nationality in the territory of a protectorate.

Urges a Policy of Cooperation.

"Italy's program as I understand it," he continued, "is to make of Tunis not a permanent bone of contention between two friendly nations, but a basis for intimate collaboration between them.

"The day in which France shall keep faithfully to a régime of protectorate in Tunis, while recognizing it as a sovereign state; when she will recognize for the Italians the same rights that the French and the natives enjoy in that country; the day when, if possible, she will grant to Italy equal customs treatment and remove the prohibition against establishing, when needed further, Italian schools; remove the prohibition against Italians of land purchase and allow them to take part in public life in Tunis—that day, the beginning of a good understanding between the two powers as regards Mediterranean matters will be reached.

"Italy does not wish to supplant France in her rights over Tunis. She only wishes to secure the civil, linguistic and economic life of her compatriots there, in peace and freedom.

"If this understanding in Mediterranean matters should become an accomplished fact between Italy and France, the day will come in which the conservative interests of the latter, rightfully preoccupied, with the decrease of her population, for guaranteeing her imperial power and the safety of her frontiers, shall come to an understanding on a basis of recognized political equality with the vital expansive interests of the Italian people. And that day is, perhaps, not far off.

"Italy, desirous of peace, hopes expectantly, awaiting it: that from that natural and necessary understanding between the two Latin powers, corroborated by a previous understanding with the British Empire and with Spain, the present condition of permanent lack of equilibrium in Europe may be converted into a permanent equilibrium. Against such a Europe it would be vain for the Asiatic Bolshevist disintegrating forces to hurl themselves in the hope of upsetting the ancient Western civilization. In that day, probably, even conquered Germany will neither wish, nor be able, to stand aloof from the defense of European peace and a common civilization."

Cutter Defends Caribbean Trade.

Victor M. Cutter, President of the United Fruit Company, the largest American corporation doing business in the Caribbean area, defended American big business from charges of economic exploitation and imperialism in Latin America in an address at the open conference on United States foreign policy.

Mr. Cutter said that he had no apologies to make for big business. While he was opposed to the slightest imperialistic tendency on the part of this country toward Latin America, he said, he had no patience with "theorists who hold that commercial relations do not bring closer understanding between peoples, and who would confine the relations of the United States with other countries of the world to cultural and intellectual interests."

"This," he went on, "is clearly impracticable and has been from the beginning of time. Cultural and intellectual harmony has invariably followed commercial and industrial relationships, which have enabled various nations to acquire the physical comforts and mechanical devices which give leisure for cultural and intellectual pursuits."

Mr. Cutter said that governmental agencies and non-governmental agencies outside of the business field could do more damage to our Latin-American relations than could commercial companies, because any country could pass laws curbing a company that sought to exploit it, while no country could pass laws "curbing our governmental policies or the Pan American Union."

This was a fling at Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan American Union, who had just made an address to the conference in which he emphasized cultural contacts between the United States and Latin America as the greatest present need.

Mr. Cutter warned that the discouragement of industrial development in Latin America by the refusal of the United States to invest capital might "shut the door forever on public improvements, railways, roads, harbors, improved machinery, and all other forms of industrial and commercial development."

Admitting that past financial operations, loans to Governments, monopolistic concessions and unscrupulous exploitation have aroused friction in Latin America, Mr. Cutter insisted that such evils have passed.

Suggests a Diplomatic Policy.

The following was suggested by Mr. Cutter as a desirable diplomatic policy toward Latin America from the viewpoint of American business:

"1. Continuance of the policy of not assuming responsibility for loans, of non-interference as between competing United States companies and of the supervision and regulation of loans and contracts made between our citizens and foreign countries to secure conformity to our commercial treaties and policy and to provide equitable treatment for foreign people and especially the weaker Governments.

"2. The Monroe Dotrine in so far as it applies to non-interference with any of the American nations and provided it does not carry as a corollary or domination by any one country, and that the Doctrine be completely separated from any trace of economic imperialism.

"3. Proper diplomatic representation.

"4. A policy based on the official statement of the State Department of July 29, 1918, which says, 'The American Government will be willing to aid in every way possible and to make prompt and vigorous representation and to take every possible step to insure the execution of equitable contracts made in good faith by its citizens in foreign lands.'

"5. Publication by the State Department in some suitable way of a definite statement of policy for the guidance of our citizens."

Continuing, Mr. Cutter said that financial operations and loans to Latin-American Governments by United States bankers influenced political control in those Governments and caused more friction between Governments than the investment of money by industrial concerns or the development of commercial enterprises. For that reason, he went on, industrial corporations doing business there should not combine a banking business with their commercial operations.

ADVOCATES A SCHOOL AS BRYAN MEMORIAL

Meeting Adopts Resolution Paying Tribute—Dayton Ready to Form Association.

A meeting in memory of the late William Jennings Bryan was held last night in connection with a dinner at the Arrowhead Inn at Riverdale Avenue and West 246th Street. Local prohibition advocates and clergymen were present. Frederick A. Wallis, Commissioner of Correction and member of the National Committee of One Thousand on Law Enforcement, presided. The principal speaker was Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia.

Resolutions paying tribute to Bryan and advocating the establishment of a national memorial to him were adopted. Congressman Upshaw read a telegram from B. I. Morgan, President of the Dayton Progressive Club, which invited him and others to come to Dayton on Aug. 12 to organize a Bryan National Memorial Association with the view to building a memorial school there. Josephus Daniels and Charles W. Bryan were among the others invited.

Introduced as a leader of the Bryan type by Commissioner Wallis, Congressman Upshaw said he wanted to be Bryan's prophet. He commended Bryan's leadership in prohibition and religion.

BIXBY LETTER TEXT QUICKLY PUBLISHED

Lincoln's Message to Mother of Five Soldiers Printed Twelve Days After Written.

SEARCH OF FILES GOES ON

War Department Records Show Two of Widow's Sons Were Killed and Two Captured.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Effort to trace the earliest publication of Lincoln's classic letter to Mrs. Lydia Bixby of Boston, relative to the reputed sacrifice of all her five sons in battle during the Civil War, uncovered today the fact that its text was printed as early as twelve days after the letter was written.

The Lincoln letter, as printed in most of the standard biographies of the great war President, was reproduced in the issue of The Army and Navy Journal printed at New York City on Dec. 3, 1864. The date of the Lincoln letter was Nov. 21, 1864. Whether the letter had previously been published has not yet been established in the historical search that has been in progress in Washington.

The text of the letter as given in The Army and Navy Journal appears in the lower left hand corner of the fourth page of that publication, in an inconspicuous place, without caption and with this introduction:

"Mrs. Bixby, the recipient of the following letter from President Lincoln, is a poor widow living in the Eleventh Ward of Boston. Her sixth son, who was severely wounded in a recent battle, is now lying in the Readville Hospital."

Tells of a Sixth Son.

An interesting revelation from the examination of the Journal of Dec. 3, 1864 now in the Navy Department Library, is the statement that Mrs. Bixby had a sixth son who had been wounded in battle. None of the official records so far turned up in the investigation contains any reference to a sixth son. The records of the War Department, which have been carefully searched, indicate that only four of Mrs. Bixby's sons served in the Civil War, that two of these were killed in battle only, that a third died a prisoner of war, and that the fourth also was captured. It is possible that the capture of two of these four led to the belief of their company commanders that they, too, had been lost in battle.

The letter of Adjutant General William Schouler of Massachusetts to Major Thomas M. Vincent, Assistant Adjutant General, under date of Oct. 12, 1864, to which President Lincoln referred in his letter to Mrs. Bixby, stated that all five of Mrs. Bixby's sons had been killed, and listed the alleged places of their deaths. The records of the War Department, containing data not then available to General Schouler, convinces present-day officials that he and Governor Andrew were mistaken.

General Schouler stated that Sergeant Charles N. Bixby of Company D, 20th Massachusetts Infantry Regiment, was mustered in July 28, 1862, and was killed at the Battle of Fredericksburg, Va., May 3, 1863. These facts are confirmed by records now in the War Department.

General Schouler reported that Corporal Henry Bixby of Company K, 32d Massachusetts Infantry, mustered in Aug. 5, 1862, was killed at Gettysburg in July, 1863. This is disputed by the War Department's records. Further search of these records today showed that Henry Bixby was captured July 1, 1863, at Gettysburg, was confined in a Confederate prison at Richmond, Va., from July 21 to 25, 1863, and was paroled at City Point, Va., March 7, 1864. He reported at College Green Barracks, Maryland, March 9, 1864, and was furloughed April 16, 1864, for twenty-five days, returning May 6, 1864, and was honorably discharged at Boston Dec. 19, 1864.

Edward Bixby Not Recorded.

General Schouler's report listed Private Edward Bixby as having been a recruit for the 22d Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, saying he "ran away from home and was mustered in on the field," and died of wounds in Folly Island Hospital, South Carolina. War Department records so far examined fail to show that Edward served in the army.

General Schouler's report lists Private Oliver C. Bixby of Company E, Fifty-eighth Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteers, as having been killed before Petersburg July 30, 1864. This tallies with records in the War Department crediting him with having been "killed in action July 30, 1864, near Petersburg."

As to the fifth son, General Schouler's report says that Private George Way Bixby, Company B, Fifty-sixth Massachusetts, also was killed before Petersburg on July 30, 1864, but this is challenged by War Department records now available, but with which the Adjutant General of Massachusetts undoubtedly was not familiar. General Schouler states that George Way Bixby enlisted under the assumed name of George Way, to conceal the fact of enlistment from his wife. War Department records confirm the fact that "George Way" served in Company B of the Fifty-sixth Massachusetts, but instead of being killed at Petersburg on July 30, 1864, was captured at that place on that date. He was confined at the Confederate prison in Richmond, Va., Aug. 31, 1864, and at Salisbury, N. C. A letter in the War Department records shows that he died while a captive at Salisbury.

R. T. Lincoln Knows Nothing of Letter.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Aug. 7.—Robert T. Lincoln has expressed himself as not knowing anything whatever about the whereabouts of the original letter from his father, President Lincoln, to Mrs. Lydia Bixby.

Secretary Says Historical Society Had Copy of Lincoln Letter.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Jessie Palmer Weber, Secretary of the Illinois Historical Society, says that her organization never had the original Lincoln letter to Mrs. Bixby. The one which that society used was a copy of the original, which belonged to a collection owned by the late Judd Stewart of Plainfield, N. J. Mrs. Weber says the copy owned by Mr. Stewart is believed to be in possession of Henry Huntington of San Bernardino, Cal.

United States District Attorney Charles W. Clyne of Chicago is credited with the statement that the original Bixby letter is in possession of T. P. O'Connor, in England.

REPPA FAMILY OUT OF WANT

Flood of Help Comes When Story of Plight Is Told in Newspapers.

The silver lining has turned for Mrs. Mary Reppa and her family of six children, whose destitute condition became known last week when they were forced to move from the home of a relative who had left Bayonne, and had no money and no place to go. Friends came to their rescue and installed the little family at 63 Morris Street, Jersey City.

After stories of their plight had been printed in the newspapers a flood of money and checks came to Mrs. Reppa. Yesterday she had more money than the family realized existed. She had bought food and clothing for the children and herself and still had more than $100 in cash and numerous checks and money orders sent from unknown friends.

Even the fact that John, 13 years old, had to go to the City Hospital in Jersey City, could not dim their happiness. He will be out in two weeks after treatment for rheumatism brought on by exposure and privation.

Miss Frances Day, Superintendent of the New Jersey State Children's Guardian Society, is trying to make some permanent arrangement which will keep the family together and permit Mrs. Reppa to go to work. They have received notice from the landlord of the apartment that he will not accept the rent and does not desire them for tenants.

THE NEW YORK TIMES acknowledges the following contributions for Mrs. Reppa: Anonymous, $5; Hanna Moeller, $5.

Lady Astor Declines Invitation Here

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Lady Astor has definitely declined an invitation to join the British delegation to the meeting of the Inter-Parliamentary Union in Washington in the Fall. Her reasons are purely personal. She is much in need of a vacation and feels she cannot neglect the claims of her children. So far her plans for the Parliamentary recess are not formed but THE NEW YORK TIMES learns that it still is possible that she may visit the United States. If she does her trip will be absolutely private and she will decline all invitations to make public appearances.

EXPECT 50,000 TODAY IN KLAN PARADE

chusetts, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Florida, New Jersey and the Carolinas. Some estimates of the number of bands in line place the number as high as one hundred.

The final event on the Klan program is to be an open-air religious service in the horse show grounds at Arlington, Va. At this time it is planned to burn what is expected to be the highest fiery cross in the history of the Klan. It will stand, it is said, more than eighty feet out of the ground, while the arms will be thirty feet wide.

Amplifiers will be scattered throughout the horse show grounds, so that every feature of the service will be carried to the throngs who are unable to crowd about the speakers' platform.

Tree Filled With Oil.

The giant tree from which the fiery cross has been made came from the mountains of Virginia and now is under a guard in Arlington.

The tree has been hollowed and filled with oil. Oil-soaked burlap covers its bark. The spectacle it will present when lighted, Klan officials say, will be visible in all sections of the District of Columbia and for miles continguous.

Parking of vehicles will be prohibited in all streets where the parade forms.

Following the parade there will be a mass meeting of Klans in the Sylvan Theatre, near the Washington Monument, at which speeches will be made by various officers.

On Sunday the Klan will place a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier and after that there will be services at the grave of William Jennings Bryan. Klansmen refuse to say whether or not Mr. Bryan was a member.

The leading editorial in this week's issue of The Fellowship Forum, the organ of the Eastern Klan, is a eulogy of Mr. Bryan.

Big Contingents Go From Here.

The march on Washington by the Ku Klux Klan of this vicinity was in full swing early last night, as Klansmen from Long Island, Westchester and New Jersey flocked to special trains and motor buses which were to take them to the capital for the big Klan gathering and demonstration.

A special train carrying Klansmen from Long Island and Westchester left the Pennsylvania Terminal at 1:15 A. M. It was ten cars long, and long before it pulled out it was filled with Klansmen and their wives who came in on trains from out of town. A special train also left Newark about midnight, and two special trains from Atlantic City carried 1,800 members.

About 350 Klansmen from Westchester, Putnam and Orange Counties, most of whom come under the jurisdiction of the Konklave of Peekskill Klan 3, went on the special from New York. All of the officials of the Peekskill Klan, which on July 11 held one of the biggest Klan rallies of the State, with an attendance of 25,000 persons, went to Washington early in the week.

Klansmen traveled to railroad stations along the route of the Atlantic City train from all parts of Atlantic County, but the time of their departure was not known as they asked officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad not to give out the schedules of their trains.

Many of the Klansmen and their wives boarded the trains at Absecon. The specials stopped at all the larger towns, and also in Camden County, all changing to another train at Philadelphia. They said they would not don their uniforms until they reached Washington.

At Asbury Park it was said that an airplane, from which will be suspended a fiery cross, will fly from Monmouth County to Washington. Between 7,000 and 8,000 members from that county will take part in the Washington parade. Many of the delegations left Asbury Park in motor buses at 7 o'clock last night, expecting to arrive in Washington at 7 o'clock this morning. The county delegates took a fife and drum corps with them.

Klansmen from stations on the southern side of Long Island crowded a train last night which was to take them to New York so they could board three special trains leaving Jersey City over the Pennsylvania to Washington. More than 1,000 Klansmen and Kamelia were in this delegation, which composed groups from Freeport, Baldwin, Rockville Centre and Valley Stream. They had four bands with them and all their regalia, which they will don in Washington. Four trucks also left Freeport, one of them carrying food and cooking apparatus, the Klansmen planning to sleep along the roads in tents.

A special train which was to leave Exchange Place, carrying Klansmen from Jersey City and Northern New Jersey, was cancelled because the Pennsylvania ran out of steel coaches, so a train was engaged on the Central Railroad of New Jersey to carry the 500 men and women who had planned to travel on the other road. A special train was also run by the Erie from Passaic, to be switched to the Pennsylvania tracks and run on that route to Washington.

DR. STIRES TO TAKE NEW POST NOV. 24

Will Be Consecrated as Coadjutor Bishop in St. Thomas's Episcopal Church.

TEACHERS OFF FOR CHINA

Eight Sail to Assume Duties at Canton Christian College—Cardinal Hayes to Speak.

The date for the consecration of the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires as Coadjutor Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island has been definitely set for Thursday morning, Nov. 24, at St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street, where Dr. Stires is entering upon his twenty-fifth year as rector. It is likely that later a welcoming service will be held in the Cathedral of the Incarnation, Garden City, L. I., which is the See church of the diocese. Dr. Stires was elected on May 26 as the associate of the Right Rev. Frederick Burgess, Bishop of Long Island.

Dr. Stires will be in New Orleans at the triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, which begins Oct. 7 and continues three weeks. He may be elected President of the House of Deputies as successor to the Right Rev. Alexander Mann, Bishop of Pittsburgh.

Eight instructors for Canton Christian College, Canton, China, are sailing from Pacific Coast ports the end of this week. These include Professor and Mrs. H. C. Brownell of Burlington, Vt., with their four children, returning from furlough; Ralph D. McDermott of the University of Nebraska, Leland T. Chapin of Willamette University, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Harwood L. Marshall of the University of Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Refo of the University of South Carolina, who are returning from furlough, and Dr. Faw Yap Chuck of Stanford University. A cablegram received at the office of the college, 18 East Forty-first Street, this week from the Rev. Dr. James McClure Henry, President of the college, reported that conditions in Canton had improved and that the college would reopen on Sept. 8.

The cornerstone of a new edifice for the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Our Saviour, Port Washington, L. I., will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. Arthur Brunn, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Brooklyn, will deliver the main address. Other clergymen who will assist are the Rev. H. C. Wolk of Whitestone, L. I., and the Rev. F. H. Meuschke, pastor of the church. The musical program will include cornet selections by Vernon Moore, a soprano solo by Miss Anna Rurode and singing by the choir of the church. The new building will have a seating capacity of 250. This church was organized Oct. 10, 1915, by Pastor Muhlhause in Odd Fellows' Hall on South Washington Street. Later services were held at 182 Main Street. In November, 1920, the congregation moved to a building adjoining the present church. The architect is F. G. Lippert of Port Washington. T. H. Lamprecht is Chairman of the building committee and the other members are the pastor, W. F. Zurwelle, C. Rurode and Louis Hausen.

Cardinal Hayes will speak at the eleventh annual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Charities in Washington, D. C., which opens Sept. 10. By direction of Archbishop Michael J. Curley of Baltimore, the clergy and lay organizations of that archdiocese are preparing a special reception to Cardinal Hayes. Because he federated virtually all the philanthropies of his own archdiocese and has for five years raised an average of almost a million dollars a year for their support Cardinal Hayes has come to be known as "The Cardinal of Charity." Father Robert F. Keegan, the Cardinal's secretary for charities, will make an address on "An Experiment in Probation Work." One topic to be discussed will be "Birth Control and Social Welfare." Another will be "The Catholic Family and the Divorce Court." The Society of St. Vincent de Paul of the United States will hold its annual meeting at the same time in Washington.

The Rev. George Briggs, who has been a missionary in India of the Methodist Church for many years, has been engaged as a member of the Faculty of Drew Methodist Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., for 1925-1926. He will teach several courses usually taught by Professor Oscar M. Buck, who is on a year's leave of absence in the Orient. Mr. Briggs is the author of "Chamars," published by the Oxford Press in 1920, in a series on "The Religious Life of India." He received the degree of Master of Science from Northwestern University in 1905 and was a fellow in Sanskrit and philosophy at the University of California from 1911 to 1922.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick H. Knubel, President of the United Lutheran Church in America, and his bride are spending their honeymoon at Sam-o-set, Rockland, Me., and will return to New York about Sept. 1. Mrs. Knubel was Sister Jennie Christ, for many years the deaconess of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, where Dr. Knubel was the pastor before his election as head of the Luthran denomination. The wedding took place about a month ago. Dr. Knubel had been a widower for some years.

The report of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, which will be submitted in October at the biennial meeting of the National Council of the Congregational Churches, will show that the board has on its roll 780 missionaries. Associated with these are 5,710 trained native workers. To this board has been assigned by the United Protestant Missionary Agencies the task of Christianizing 65,000,000 people of Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The International Eucharistic Congress will be held next May in Chicago, and it is expected to bring Roman Catholic leaders from all parts of America and from the old world. A feature will be a field mass sung by a children's choir of 50,000 voices, and another field mass sung by 20,000 high school students. The choruses will be trained by Professor John Singenberger, composer and music teacher, of Milwaukee.

The National Bible Institute, with headquarters at 330 West Fifty-fifth Street, is conducting meetings at fifty-six points in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Flushing, L. I. The stereopticon is used in telling the story of the life of Christ.

The Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, who for three months last season was acting pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, this city, will be the preacher next Monday at the annual Bible Conference, Winona Lake, Indiana.

ANTI-EVOLUTION LAW FOUGHT IN NEW SUIT

Dr. John R. Neal of Scopes Counsel Files Action in Knoxville for Tennessee Taxpayer.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7 (AP).—A petition for a temporary restraining order against Tennessee officials and others, enjoining them from enforcement of the Tennessee Anti-Evolution law, was filed in Federal Court here today by attorneys representing J. R. Wilson of Rhea Springs, a taxpayer.

The petitioner avers that he is the father of five children who attend the public schools, and that under the Tennessee statute he cannot properly educate them in the modern sciences because he insists that the evolution theory is an inseparable link in the teaching of modern sciences.

He also contends that being a taxpayer and contributor to the public school fund, he is being deprived of liberty and property without due process of law. It is claimed that the act violates both the State and Federal Constitutions and particularly Section 1 of the Constitution of the United States.

Governor Austin Peay, Frank M. Thompson, Attorney General for Tennessee, and A. T. Stewart, prosecuting attorney of Rhea County, are made defendants. Attorneys signing the petition are Dr. John R. Neal of Rhea Springs, Clarence Darrow of Chicago, Frank B. McElwee of Rockwood, Tenn., and Bainbridge Colby of New York.

Dr. Neal, after filing the petition, left for New York to confer with assistant counsel. He said he regarded this as the most important step taken in the attempt to defeat the operation of the Tennessee statute. He said this case and the one filed on behalf of John T. Scopes in Chattanooga last week will be heard together in Knoxville at a time Federal Judge Hick may arrange. The case must be heard before three United States Judges, one of whom must be either a United States Circuit Judge or a member of the Supreme Bench.

Dr. Neal said counsel would not insist upon the temporary restraining order prayed for in the bill, but would allow the matter to take its regular course.

The position of the petitioner is in bold contrast with that taken by counsel in the Scopes case at Dayton last month. In that case it was insisted that the evolution theory of the creation of man does not conflict with the Bible story of creation, while in today's petition it is claimed that it does conflict.

BOYS REPLACE MAIL FOR BIG MAGAZINES

High Postal Rates Make Other Distribution Necessary, Commission Hears.

800,000 DROP IN CIRCULARS

Mail Order Business Hit by Postage Increase, Agency Representative Asserts.

The large magazines of the United States are rapidly reducing the number of copies circulated through the mails because of high postal rates, according to testimony given yesterday morning at the last session of the United States Postal Rate Commission at the Waldorf. Instead they are using freight and other methods of transportation to place issues in the hands of the local delivery boy, who is being developed as one of the most effective agents for magazine circulation.

The hearing was adjourned until 10:30 o'clock Monday morning at the Post Office in Boston, Mass., by Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Colorado, who occupied the chair in the absence of Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire. B. A. Mackinnon, circulation manager of The Pictorial Review, who testified before the committee on Thursday, appeared again and explained how his magazine had been forced by higher zone rates to double the subscription price. Paper adjustments, perfection of re-entry points of mailing, railroad and steamship transportation at "attractive rates" and other favorable conditions later made it possible to return to the subscription rates in effect before the zone system was instituted.

Mail Mileage Reduced.

"We are using twenty-seven re-entry points in the United States and Canada," said Mr. Mackinnon. "The Post Office carries The Pictorial Review an average distance of less than 200 miles."

"Have you increased your advertising rates?" asked Senator McKellar.

"Yes, as circulation increased," Mr. Mackinnon replied.

In answer to another question by Senator McKellar, Mr. Mackinnon said that Canada had no postal zone system. He explained that the Canadian postal rate for his magazine was 1 cent for four ounces or 4 cents for each copy.

"That's higher than our rates in the United States?" asked Senator McKellar.

"Yes," said Mr. Mackinnon, "and for that reason we do not encourage increased subscriptions in Canada. To avoid the heavy mail rates, we are trying to stimulate the growth of news stand sales."

To show the effect of the zone rates in the United States, Mr. Mackinnon said that The Pictorial Review in 1918, which was the first year of the zone system, paid the United States Post Office $165,000 for handling 17,800,000 copies. In 1923 the magazine paid $519,000 postage on 17,000,000 copies.

"Did you lose money in 1923?" asked Senator McKellar.

"We have never lost money," said the witness, who then explained that if the re-entry plan, approved by the Post Office Department, were found to be a violation of the postal laws of 1917, as Senator McKellar suggested, "one thing we would have to do would be to raise prices."

"Is the postoffice method of handling your mail more satisfactory than other methods?" Senator McKellar inquired.

"Yes, if the rates were lower," said Mr. Mackinnon.

Favors a Flat Rate.

"What is your opinion of the zone system?" asked Senator Phipps.

"Personally, I'm in favor of a flat rate. I think a zone system should be made to work out at a low rate to cover the cost of handling and transportation," Mr. Mackinnon answered. He had previously stated that he did not believe the zone system would be abolished.

He then told how his magazine had practically abandoned the use of the mails in Indiana save in the southern part of the State.

"As subscriptions expire, we turn the names over to newsdealers, jobbers or boys so that we can ship our magazines to Indiana without putting them into the mail at all. Of course we have not done this without first experimenting with the boy.

"The boy sells the magazine for 15 cents a copy. He buys the magazine for 11 cents and gets 4 cents. The boy gets 48 cents out of $1.80 for twelve issues within a year. By mail we have to pay 65 cents out of $1.50 for twelve issues."

Mr. Mackinnon further explained that a group of twenty magazines distributed their Harrisburg (Pa.) and Cleveland (Ohio) subscriptions, aggregating 55,000 copies, independently of the postal service. They tried the experiment for three months, shipping by private means and delivering.

"Although we took that immense volume of business out of the two postoffices, the postmasters informed us they were not able to effect any economies. They had to use the same number of clerks as they used when handling the magazine delivery."

R. H. Frech, of the Guild Company, a circularizing agency, said his company had felt the effects of the increased rates in the falling off of its business.

"Our business is a barometer of the mail order business of the country," said Mr. Frech. "We have done business in New York for more than twenty-five years. We rented 80,000,000 names last year. In 1925 we have had a falling off of 19,957,789 names."

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN IN INDUSTRIAL CITIES

Receipts From Fifty Places in July Show 11.19 Per Cent. Increase Over a Year Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Figures of postal receipts in fifty smaller cities of the country classified as industrial cities show that they had heavy increases in revenues during July as compared with a year ago. Heavy gains in July receipts were announced this week for the fifty largest cities. According to the figures given out today the fifty industrial cities showed a gain of 11.19 per cent. These same cities produced 10.54 per cent. more revenue in July, 1924, than in July, 1923.

Only three of the fifty industrial cities showed decreased receipts. These are Little Rock, Ark.; Harrisburg, Pa., and Topeka, Kan. Little Rock and Harrisburg had heavy gains in 1924 over 1923. Tampa, Fla., the leader in gains of postal receipts in July, had the tremendous increase of 61.26 per cent. over July, 1924. Cheyenne, Wyo., was next, with a gain of 47.87 per cent.; Sioux Falls, third, with 37.71 per cent.; Trenton, N. J., fourth, with 34.52 per cent., and South Bend, Ind., fifth, with 32.37 per cent.

These fifty industrial cities produced $2,888,069 in postal receipts, a gain of $290,743 over July a year ago. In June, the second month that the increased postal rates were in operation, these cities made a gain of 16.43 per cent. over June, 1924.

FORLINI ARRESTED FOR BOND THEFT PLOT

New Yorker, Taken in Canada, Is Held at Buffalo—Two Other Men and Woman Sought.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP).—Secret Service operatives of the New York and Buffalo Bureaus began search today for two men and a woman believed to be confederates of Romeo Forlini of New York, alleged master mind of an international organization dealing in stolen Liberty bonds.

Forlini was arrested in Hamilton, Ont., today while attempting to negotiate the transfer of a large quantity of securities believed to have been stolen.

He was brought to Buffalo by James B. Shelhorse, Secret Service agent of the New York Bureau, and will be arraigned before a Federal Commissioner tomorrow morning, charged with possessing, altering and passing registered Government bonds valued at $1,250,000, a portion of which was stolen from a bank in Centerville, Mo., in the Fall of 1923.

The two men sought by the Government agents are thought to be advance agents for Forlini, who later aided in sale negotiations. One is a Buffalo resident, it was said, and the other a fugitive from justice from New York.

The woman in the case was Forlini's travelling companion in Canada. When he was arrested a traveling bag containing woman's clothes was found in Forlini's possession.

HAMILTON, Ontario, Aug. 7 (AP).—Arrested after rousing the suspicions of Browning, Harris, Denman & Co., when he negotiated to dispose of $125,000 worth of Liberty bonds for $50,000 in cash, Romeo Forlini, alleged to be implicated in the theft of $1,250,000 worth of such bonds from a bank in Missouri, was started back to New York in custody today.

Romeo Forlini is well known to the New York police, Secret Service agents and prohibition enforcement officers. He has figured in numerous investigations of organized bond thefts on a large scale, has been charged with being a "fence" for bank robbers and was on trial as recently as last month for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Police Headquarters records show that he has been arrested five times. No convictions are recorded. The arrests were as follows: Feb. 3, 1917, grand larceny; March 20, 1917, grand larceny; March 25, 1922, kidnapping in a bootleg deal; June 11, 1923, grand larceny in connection with $141,000 bond theft from C. D. Barney & Co.; Feb. 18, 1925, as international "fence" for bond thieves.

The last time he was arrested, Forlini said he was married and had a child and lived at 2,754 Grand Concourse, the Bronx.

DECREASE IS SLIGHT IN INDUSTRIAL HELP

Some Major Activities Are on Part Time, but There Is No Sign of a Depression.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Reports received by the Federal Employment Service for July and the first week in August show part-time employment in a few of the major industries, but no evidence of a serious depression. While industrial employment throughout the country decreased slightly the general volume of employment remained practically unchanged as seasonal activities showed a large increase over June. A large amount of labor was given temporary employment in the canning plants of the country, which are now running at capacity in some sections.

As regards the situation in New York State the reports show that manufacturing plants and factories are operating at about the same level as in June and employment did not decline materially in July.

Skilled mechanics in industrial plants are well employed and demands for this class of labor are made in numerous industries. There was a further slight let-up in operations and employment in the iron and steel industries, but most plants are operating at a much higher rate than during the same period last year.

The chemical industry, glove and tanning factories, electrical plants, radio accessories and shirt and collar factories are showing greater activity and employing more workers. Labor is well employed in the machinery plants, brass, copper and sheet metal industries. Employment in the transportation lines is holding up well, but railroad repair shops and locomotive plants are operating on part time, affecting a large number of workers.

Building and construction operations show no evidence of a let-up. The huge volume of building now under way, combined with municipal improvements, State and county road work, is keeping skilled artisans fully employed and providing employment to large forces of unskilled workers.

SEE $400,000,000 CUT POSSIBLE IN TAXES

Greater Receipts Than Expected Lead Treasury Officials to Raise Reduction Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Some Treasury officials now hope to be able to recommend a tax reduction of $350,000,000, or even $400,000,000, to the next session of Congress.

Heretofore the understanding has been that $300,000,000 would be about the limit of recommended cuts. The suggestion of a greater reduction resulted from greater tax receipts this year than had been expected.

A budget of $3,100,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1927 now is the aim of Director Lord of the Budget Bureau, who began preparing the fiscal program today.

The total is about $290,000,000 less than the expenditures for the present year, and on the basis of present figures will be the lowest of any year since the war.

HELEN TRAUBEL SOLOIST.

Large Audience Warmly Receives All-Wagner Program at Stadium.

Helen Traubel was soloist at the concert given last night by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Rudolph Ganz conducting, in the Lewisohn Stadium. The program consisted entirely of Wagner. Miss Traubel sang "Dich Theure Halle," from "Tannhaeuser," and the "Liebestod," from "Tristan and Isolde." An encore was the "Träume," which Wagner dedicated to Mathilde Wesendonck as one of the sketches for Tristan.

Miss Traubel showed a voice of substance and considerable sensuous color, and she coped intelligently with the difficulties of the music and of Wagner's swirling orchestration. The orchestral compositions were the overture to "Rienzi," the prelude to "Lohengrin," the "Tannhäuser" overture, the prelude to "Tristan and Isolde," "March of the Knights of the Holy Grail," from "Parsifal," the "Ride of the Valkyries," "Wotan's Farewell" and the "Magic Fire" scene from "The Valkyrie." Mr. Ganz conducted generally with breadth and authority, and was warmly applauded by a large audience.

SEEK WAYS TO SAVE STINNES FORTUNE

German Bank Group Will Press Edmund, Wealthiest, to Help Family.

About 60,000,000 Marks Realized So Far—Famous Ruhr Mines May Save Small Part of Fortune.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The "moral receivership," organized by the great German banks for the liquidation of the vast estate left by Hugo Stinnes, who in his lifetime was Germany's richest man, met in the Reichsbank this afternoon and took stock of its activities.

While no official communiqué was issued, it was ascertained that it was decided to ask the help of Dr. Edmund Stinnes, the eldest son, who bids fair to emerge from the wreck of his father's fortune as the wealthiest member of the family.

Edmund Stinnes, whose falling out with his brother, Hugo, precipitated the crash more than two months ago, has hitherto held aloof from the bankers' efforts to pay the estate's debts and to bring order out of the financial chaos. His attitude was due to the fact that he retired from all connection with the main Stinnes enterprises by taking as his share of the heritage two properties, the Nordstern Assurance Company and the Aga Automobile Works, leaving all the rest to his brother.

Theoretically these companies represented only one-fourteenth of the value of the estate which at the time of the elder Stinnes' death was estimated at 350,000,000 gold marks. But since both concerns are solvent and profitable and stand outside the properties pledged in receivership, they are really worth considerably more. Their aggregate values is estimated at 25,000,000 marks, which, even after huge inheritance taxes are subtracted, leaves Edmund Stinnes a very wealthy man.

The receivers, however, argue that they are dealing with the estate as a whole, and consequently Edmund's holdings should be lumped with the rest.

Whether the elder brother will accept this viewpoint remains to be seen. It is thought improbable since his personal relations with Hugo Stinnes are considerably strained.

60,000,000 Marks Realized.

From a representative of the Darmstaedter und National Bank which is the receivers' executive organ THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent obtained a rough balance sheet of the liquidation process thus far, following this afternoon's Reichsbank conference. At this meeting at which Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank was present, the sale of the Stinnes Riebeck coal and oil properties to the Badisch Aniline Dies Company was recorded. Approximately 13,000,000 gold marks was realized by this sale and the total cash obtained thus far through disintegration of the estate thereby reaches 60,000,000 gold marks.

The estate's obligations, however, now total more than 200,000,000 gold marks. To meet the balance of the 140,000,000 remaining due properties must be sold, the theoretical value of which is about 250,000,000, but at forced sale necessitated by receivership may not realize as much as 150,000,000, and certainly will not bring much more. Consequently unless Edmund Stinnes comes to the rescue of his mother and younger brother their joint fortunes are likely to be less than 10,000,000 gold marks and may only reach 1,000,000 at the lowest estimate made by the receivers' spokesman.

Originally, Hugo Stinnes estimated his liabilities at 150,000,000 marks. The bank's accountants, however, soon discovered that this sum was too low by at least 50,000,000. The receivers' first move was to pay off the foreign debts, chiefly to London, New York and Constantinople banks, and aggregating only 6,000,000 marks. The obligations remaining are all of domestic character, the creditors being twenty-odd German banks which now compose the receivership. It was decided to sell everything possible for cash as soon as possible.

The following properties have been disposed of to date: Shares in Deutsch-Luxemburg Steel Company, with a par value of 21,000,000 gold marks, on which was realized only 11,000,000; Rhenish-Westphalian Electricity Works, 10,000,000; Berlin Handelsgesellschaft, Stinnes's principal bank, 10,000,000; Pomeranian timberlands, 8,000,000; stock in the Siemens-Schuckert Electrical Plant, 3,000,000; Riebeck Corporation, 13,000,000, and smaller enterprises, mostly in Hamburg, 5,000,000.

Holdings available for meeting the 140,000,000 gold marks still owing include the Stinnes hotels whose lowest estimated value is 10,000,000 gold marks; the Overseas Trade Corporation and its shipping which might bring 50,000,000; publishing concerns, paper pulp mills, coal importing and distributing enterprises, Bavarian timberlands, motion picture companies and other smaller undertakings, most of which are unprofitable, and last, but certainly not least, coal mines in the Ruhr which were the base of the Stinnes wealth.

There are six of these last-named properties, four owned outright by the estate and two of which the estate holds 50 per cent. of the stock. Their lowest value fixed by comparison with Stock Exchange quotations of other collieries is 60,000,000 gold marks.

These coal deposits, which were the foundation of the vast riches built up by Hugo Stinnes, may in the end save his widow and his younger son from penury.

BROWNING AGREES TO GIVE UP GIRL

said that the episode of Mary Louise had prompted her to make the request.

The examination of the real estate broker by District Attorney Newcombe was undertaken at the request of Commissioner Coler. The investigation got under way in the afternoon at the District Attorney's office in the Queens County court house, Long Island City.

Mr. Browning appeared voluntarily, having announced that he desired to cooperate in the inquiry in whatever way he could. He was accompanied by Mr. Dale. When the interrogation was over he and the lawyer motored down to Kew Gardens, where Mary Louise, aflutter with the glamor of new dresses and every wish fulfilled, spent yesterday. She played a little tennis, read a bit, sang a bit and in general had a lovely time until the news of her foster-father's change of mind was broken to her last evening.

A large crowd congregated outside the Queens County court house during the inquiry, which began at 3 o'clock. In addition to the District Attorney and Commissioner Coler there were present Victor Dodworth, Director of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Public Welfare; Edgar Pitske, Secretary of the department, and Assistant District Attorneys James A. Dayton and Charles W. Froessel of Queens.

Mr. Browning and his attorney arrived about an hour and a half later. The young woman, subject of the inquiry, was not present. A "request subpoena" had been sent to her mother to attend, but she was not at home. Two books were filled with stenographic notes during the hearing.

When it was over Mr. Browning, looking flushed and worried, hurried out to his car with his attorney, while a crowd of factory girls swarmed about his car and pressed so closely for a near view of the godfather of this modern fairy story, that the police had to drive them back. Before stepping into his car Mr. Browning said if there was anything to be said, it would come from the District Attorney.

"What we discussed and what we intend to do I cannot say at this time," said the District Attorney. "The investigation is to be continued tomorrow and may, for all I can tell now, last for several days. The parents of Mary Louise have been asked to come to my office tomorrow for questioning.

"I am sorry that I cannot tell more now, but I feel it would not be proper to disclose the details until the investigation is completed. We must be fair in this matter, and not act hastily. I will disclose nothing until everything has been gone into, for we mean to get to the bottom of it."

It is understood that the District Attorney questioned Mr. Browning in regard to certain charges made by his former wife, Mrs. Nellie Adele Browning, whom he divorced in May, 1924, in reference to his friendship for young girls, and that he replied that his former wife had completely retracted her charges, and he could present evidence of that retraction.

Girl's Age Still in Doubt.

When inquiry was made as to what he thought about Mary's age, the District Attorney replied that he was not satisfied as to her age nor the proof presented. He said he intended to ascertain from the Federal authorities the date of her parents' arrival in this country.

As to probability of suggesting to Surrogate Daniel Noble that the adoption of Mary be annulled, he said he would make no such suggestion, but that he would certainly place at the Surrogate's disposal all the information that came into his office regarding the case.

Commissioner Coler is said to have exhibited, during the conference, the school records that showed that Mary is older than 16 years, the age she gave in taking out the adoption papers before the Queens County Surrogate.

Neither Commissioner Cole nor any of his aids would make any statement. Assistant District Attorney Dayton said after the conference that he had made an exhaustive search of the statute books of New York State, without finding anything in the code pertaining to the privilege of parents to sell their consent to an order of adoption.

The records provided to Commissioner Coler of Mary's school career give her first registration in 1918, when she entered Public School 77, the second in 1921, when she was admitted to Julia Richman High School. In each instance she gave the same birth date, July 31, 1904.

Dorothy's Status at Issue.

The shadow of the law over Dorothy Sunshine's golden fairyland was started by her foster-mother, Mrs. St. John of Rye, after the recent disclosures concerning the adoption of Mary by Mr. Browning.

A dispatch from St. Johnsbury, Vt., yesterday brought the news that the little girl has been ill for four days at the May House, a Summer camp for girls overlooking Crystal Lake, at Barton, N. H., and does not know of the controversy regarding the adoption by her foster-father of Mary. Her ailment is diagnosed by physicians as Summer "grippe."

Copies of newspapers containing references to the adoption have been kept from her, it is said. She told associates at the camp that her father had promied to adopt a little sister for her. She writes to her foster-father every week, she said, but he never replies to her letters. Mr. Browning's last visit to the camp was on June 1.

Mrs. St. John admitted yesterday at her home that she had asked the Department of Public Welfare to take steps to have Dorothy removed from her present surroundings and returned to her. She was to have conferred yesterday with Commissioner Coler, she said, but inasmuch as he was detained at the conference in Queens two women representatives were sent from his office to her home.

To them Mrs. St. John told the story of Dorothy Sunshine, and it reads like fictional romance. It tells how one day in Newark, N. J., when December winds blew cold, an unidentified woman thrust a 2½-months-old infant into Mrs. St. John's arms and hurried away. Mrs. St. John was then the wife of Peter Bressler and lived in Newark. She is now the wife of a painter.

This infant was Dorothy Sunshine, and she was fairly blue with the cold. Later, when circumstances pressed hard upon her and Mr. Browning advertised for a daughter, Mrs. St. John turned the little waif over to him, deeming it better she should live in luxury than poverty.

"There's no place for a little girl like Dorothy in a home with a 'flapper' Cinderella," said Mrs. St. John yesterday with emphasis, "and we don't want any money."

Then her husband, just in from his day's work, spoke up. "Tell Mr. Browning for me," he said, "that we don't want a nickel from him. We don't need any of his money. We are willing to take the child back just as she was when Mrs. St. John got her, without money and without clothes."

Ethel, a child of four years, adopted shortly before the death of a son born to the St. Johns two years ago, stared quietly at her foster parents from over a cup of milk.

"I don't care what happens," Mrs. St. John resumed. "I'm going to see that Dorothy Sunshine gets into a decent home. If they won't give her to me I'll do what I can to have her placed in some other fitting place. She certainly shouldn't be left with Mr. Browning and the flapper Cinderella.

"He dyed the clothes that were on the child's back when he took her from me. That's what he did, and then you get all this talk about the hundreds and hundreds of dresses he's bought for her."

Browning's Roll of Bills.

Mrs. St. John said further that Mr. Browning handed her a large roll of bills as a present when he adopted Dorothy. When she removed the rubber band from the roll after leaving the court, she said, she found the bills were all of the one-dollar denomination except the one on the outside, which was a five-dollar note.

She said she had been in touch with Mr. Browning ever since the adoption, but added nothing concerning their later dealings. She spoke of herself and husband meeting the mother of Mrs. Browning at the home of Mr. Browning and his wife, 35 West Eighty-first Street. This woman, she said, promised them that if anything should ever befall Mr. and Mrs. Browning she would see to it that Dorothy Sunshine was cared for.

Mr. Browning only spent about a quarter of an hour at his office, 153 West Seventy-second Street, yesterday. This was in the morning on arriving from Kew Gardens. When he was asked regarding the report that he was going to adopt Sylvia Mullen, 12 years old, of 2,140 Honeywell Avenue, the Bronx, one of the candidates in the race for adoption by him, in which there were more than 12,000 applications, he said Sylvia was a very charming little girl, but that he certainly had no intention of adopting her or any one else. He had taken her to lunch with others on Thursday, he said, and that was all there was to it.

There was a crowd of curious watchers most of the day in front of his office and many visitors. Among them were women who wished to sell embroidery and other things, and two young girls from Union Hill, N. J., who said they had read that Mr. Browning was looking for another girl; as they were cousins, they would both like to be adopted.

Mr. Browning, in the short time he was at the office, told of Mary's grief and distraction, saying that she had lost some weight in worrying and had felt so indisposed that she had eaten a light breakfast in her room. He said she was being cared for by a maid at the hotel.

A cablegram from Prague yesterday told of an unsuccessful search and inquiry of the Prague police and birth registrar for any one named Spas.

WOMEN STARS DELAY CHANNEL SWIM

RIVAL MAY START TODAY

Miss Harrison of Argentina Hopes to Take the Water This Morning or Tonight.

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 7 (AP).—Neither Gertrude Ederle, the American girl, nor Lillian Harrison, the Argentine champion, entered the water at Cape Gris-Nez tonight, as had been forecast, to attempt to swim the English Channel between France and the southern coast of England.

Miss Ederle was suffering from a slight indisposition today, and it was announced that she had postponed her attempt until Aug. 17. It is possible that Miss Harrison tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock or tomorrow night at 11:30 o'clock will make the plunge for Dover if weather conditions are propitious. She had expected to make her fourth start for the English coast tonight with Miss Ederle.

Cape Gris-Nez, which is as desolate as the North Pole during nine out of the twelve months of the year, has assumed the aspect of a popular seaside resort since July 1. This is due to the fact that both women and men are ambitious to make the trip from France to England under the power of their own strokes, which has been done only by five men.

In addition to the women swimmers, Ishak Helmy, an Egyptian giant, 6 feet 4 inches in height, has been here for the last two weeks awaiting favorable conditions to have a try at the English goal. Last September, in trying to make the voyage, he remained ten hours in the water and was strong when he abandoned the swim. He has an income of £5,000 a year and has requisitioned the only hotel on the neck of land called Gris-Nez. It is his intention to try to cross the Channel Aug. 15.

Setou Nishimira, the Japanese long-distance champion, arrived at Cape Gris-Nez this evening with his trainer and a suite. He says he will try to swim from Gris-Nez to Dover next week.

Notwithstanding the presence of these two men swimmers, Miss Ederle and Miss Harrison continue to hold the fancy of the natives. They say that as five men already have swum the Channel further crossing by men will not be any particularly great achievement, but all of them are "pulling" to have the honor of greeting the first woman to accomplish the feat.

The two girl swimmers are the best of friends. Today they were greatly surprised when informed that their endeavors were being interpreted as a test of strength between North and South America.

"Before I had seen her," said Miss Harrison today to the correspondent of the Associated Press, "they always told me Miss Ederle was powerfully strong and a huge woman. Why, she is only one inch taller than I am."

"She is a very nice girl, and I would like to see her do it," Miss Ederle volunteered when she learned that Miss Harrison would make her fourth bid for Channel honors tomorrow.

OTTO H. KAHN'S SPEECH.

Errors in Printed Version of Stony Point Address Corrected.

Otto H. Kahn's address Aug. 5 at Stony Point, where he broke ground for the Lillian Nordica Memorial Dormitory of the American Institute of Operatic Arts, was, as printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES on Aug. 6, incorrect in some details due to transmission of his remarks by telephone. In calling attention yesterday to the errors, Mr. Kahn said:

"First, I did not say that the Metropolitan public demand the very best of foreign products. I spoke of the finished product, not of foreign products. What I said was that the Metropolitan Opera cannot be primarily an operatic laboratory or training ground and that while it can take, and does take, a number of young American artists, beginners, each year, its capacity to do so is necessarily limited, inasmuch as the Metropolitan public very naturally demand the best, and the leading operatic institutions of America, just like the leading operatic institutions in Europe, must, as a general proposition, employ finished artists for the principal roles.

"Second, I did not say that 'there are only two grand opera companies in this country.' That would have been manifestly incorrect. I said that there were only two definitely and permanently stationed grand opera companies in this country, namely, the Metropolitan in New York, and the Chicago Grand Opera in Chicago.

"Third, I did not speak of the 'artistic distractions of the city streets.' I spoke of the wear and tear and distractions of New York life as contrasted with the atmosphere and artistically congenial environment at Stony Point."

Goldman Plays Verdi and Puccini.

Edwin Franko Goldman and his band gave one of their favorite programs, Verdi and Puccini, at New York University Campus, before an enthusiastic throng. There were excerpts from "Il Trovatore," "Madame Butterfly" and "Aida." Joan Ruth, soprano from the Metropolitan, sang the waltz from "Romeo and Juliette" with great brilliance and to much applause.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7.—One of the greatest ovations ever given an American followed John Charles Thomas, baritone, at the Opéra la Monnaie tonight in his second European appearance in Massenet's "Herodiade."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

William Elliott will return to New York as a producer this season. His productions will include "Still Water," a new play by Augustus Thomas, and a play by Dr. Henry J. Schireson, a Chicago surgeon.

Mildred Southwick has been added to the cast of "Brother Elks," which opens out of town on Aug. 24.

The cast of "Riquette," which the Shuberts are about to produce, will include Vivienne Segal, Stanley Lupino, Marjorie Gateson, Alexander Gray, George Schiller and Walter Armin. The piece is an operetta with music by Oscar Straus.

"The Book of Charm," a play by John Kirkpatrick, will be produced next month by Rachel Crothers.

"Spring and Autumn" is announced as the title of the Czechoslovakian operetta to be produced by Carl Reed. The cast will include Orville Harrold and his daughter, Patti Harrold. The score is by William Ortmann. Derrick Wulff has made the adaptation and Gus Kahn and Ray Eagan have written the lyrics. The production will open out of town Sept. 21, and in New York Oct. 5.

Robert Milton and Augustin Duncan will be guest directors at the Greenwich Village Theatre during the coming season. Mr. Duncan will stage "Outside Looking In," the first production of the season, and Mr. Milton will stage Rostand's "The Last Night of Don Juan," which will be produced in the Spring. Three intervening plays will be staged by Robert Edmond Jones.

A theatre at 2,135 Boston Road, the Bronx, will be opened as a Jewish theatre next month. The directors will be Rudolph Schildkraut, Joseph Schildkraut and Ossip Dymow.

CANTOR WELCOMED HOME.

Band and Chorus Girls Meet Comedian—He Saw a Bullfight.

Eddie Cantor, comedian of the Ziegfeld production of "Kid Boots," returned yesterday on the Rotterdam from an eight weeks' visit to Europe and was met at Quarantine by a tugboat on which were two dozen chorus girls as well as George Olsen and his band from the New Amsterdam Theatre.

Directly the comedian was sighted leaning over the rail of the liner the band played "The Gang's All Here" and later Ethel Shutta, who flits nightly between "Louie the Fourteenth" at the Cosmopolitan and the Follies at the New Amsterdam Theatre, sang a song from her répertoire and would have boarded the ship at the pier, but it was too late.

Cantor said he saw the comedian Leslie Henson at the Winter Garden and coached him in a few little hints for the rôle in "Kid Boots." He also went to Paris and took a trip to Barcelona to gratify the ambition of a lifetime to see a real bull fight. "I would not have missed it for a million dollars," said the comedian, "and I would not give a nickel to see one again. It has got every spectacle on the stage in any part of the world beaten to a frazzle for excitement, blood and fire." He will start rehearsals for "Kid Boots" in a few days to open again here next month.

A reception was tendered to Cantor in the lounge of the Rotterdam and a microphone was brought in to broadcast the speeches. Several flashlights were taken and later the photographers were regaled with plum cake and pineapple juice.

24 NEGRO SOPRANOS HEARD

Margaret Avery and Jessie Zackery Win Ferrari-Fontana Award.

Twenty-four negro sopranos were heard in a public audition before a large audience of friends at Town Hall last evening. The winners will be given a free course of instruction in grand opera by Edorado Ferrari-Fontana, former tenor at the Metropolitan. One of the winners was Margarite Avery, who sang Massanet's aria from "Le Cid." Miss Avery was born in Morgantown, N. C., and has been a resident of New York City for eight years. The other was Jessie A. Zackery, born in St. Louis, resident of Denver and New York, who sang an air from "Aida."

Others who were much applauded were Marjorie T. Harris, Olga Emeas Mason and Ruth Lee McAbee.

The New York Amsterdam News, which sponsored the contest, proposes to do three things for the advancement of music among negroes. It intends to organize a community chorus of 100 voices, to award a scholarship each year for training in grand opera and to take steps toward the organization of a grand opera company.

TYLER BACK WITH PLAYS.

One Is a Dramatization of Arnold Bennett's "Mr. Prohack."

George C. Tyler, well-known American theatrical manager, who, ever since the automobile became a practical vehicle twenty years ago, has never used any other means of transportation during his frequent overland tours of Europe, arrived from the Continent yesterday in the Mauretania with three new plays for the coming season. Mr. Tyler was abroad four months, the last one of which was spent in London looking for new play manuscripts.

Those which he selected were "Any Woman Would," by Macdonald Hastings, a dramatization of "Mr. Prohack," Arnold Bennett's novel, and an unnamed play by a young English writer only 26 years old.

Mr. Tyler said that he had engaged Ian Hunter to play the rôle of Charles Surface in "The School for Scandal" to be produced here soon, under the guidance of Basil Dean, the London producer. The latter will arrive in New York in the Majestic next week.

Last City Opera "Faust" Tonight.

"Faust," which will be given at 8:30 tonight, with a cast of several hundred singers, will conclude the season of free open-air opera presented by the City of New York in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Josiah Zuro will conduct the orchestra of one hundred picked musicians. "Faust" will be sung in English by an all-American cast. Bianca Saroya will sing the rôle of Marguerite, Judson House that of Faust, Henri Scott will be the Mephistopheles, Helena Lanvin, Siebel, Lula Root, Martha, William Tucker, Valentine and August Werner, Wagner.

A ballet of thirty dancers will participate in the kirmesse scene. Sixty riders on horseback will also be employed. In case of rain, the opera will be postponed until Monday, Aug. 10.

Robins Lose to Pirates After Fist Fight—Yankees and Giants Are Also Beaten

FISTS FLY AS ROBINS BOW TO BUCCANEERS

TURMOIL SWEEPS INFIELD

Oeschger Succeeds Burleigh After Peace Is Restored in 7th, and Pirates Tie Score.

THEN THE FLOCK GETS TWO

But Freebooters Tally 3 in Ninth and Emerge Victorious From Turbulent Game, 10-9.

By RICHARDS VIDMER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—Burleigh Grimes lost his head in the seventh and the Robins lost a ball game in the ninth at Forbes Field today. The Pirates profited both times and by winning, 10 to 9, moved further away from the Giants until now only the masts of the Buccaneer brig are visible over the horizon

Two critical blows were struck, the first when Grimes punched Max Carey somewhere between second and third base, and the other when Roy Spencer, the Pirate catcher, poked the ball into centre field with the winning run on third.

Grimes's uprising came in the mad, mutinous seventh and a wild, weird scene followed. Some fifty players, three umpires, two bat boys and a single spectator surged around the infield, in a howling human mass that defies description.

An Inning of Irritations.

The Robins went winging into the inning of irritations with a three-run lead, but the Pirates were far from beaten. Carey opened with a single to left by way of continuing the process of reducing the Robins' advantage, Grantham then drove the ball against Grimes's leg, leaving the Brooklyn pitcher writhing on the ground while the ball bounded all the way to the Robins' dugout and Carey bounded along to second.

Grantham raced to first and both runners had every intention of continuing on another sack, but a quick recovery of the ball made Carey change his mind and retreat. Grantham, however, was within a foot of second when he finally shifted his course and started tacking back to first.

In the meantime Grimes had recovered his footing and somehow had gained possession of the ball. He limped after Grantham, chasing him to second, and then as the Pittsburgh first baseman reached the bag, touching off Carey on the second leg of the relay, turned his crippled pursuit to the fleet Carey.

Grimes blocked Carey's path to third with a toss to Jimmie Johnston and blocked his return to second with his own husky frame. Carey did not consider that obstacle menacing enough to make him change his course and started shoving Grimes out of the way.

Grimes Lashes Out at Carey.

Burleigh shoved back and then the storm broke. Grimes let loose with a right hook to the jaw and Carey went down. Grimes jumped on him with fists flying, but only the first three rows at the ringside knew what happened after that.

The two dugouts had emptied in a flash and the milling mob was clustered about the two gladiators, some trying to restore peace and others, thinking it a free fight with anybody eligible, trying to join.

Absolutely no progress was made until Tiny Osborne arrived on the scene, fortunately Tiny was in a pacifistic and not a fistic mood. His long arms began waving right and left, the militarists were flung aside and finally the two main battlers were dragged to their feet and thrust into the waiting arms of their seconds.

Umpires, bat boys and every player in uniform was on the field. The only person who wasn't held back by the border of the grand stand and who refused to take any part in the riot was Uncle Robbie, who sat peacefully in the seclusion of the deserted dugout, while the war raged.

Little knots formed all over the diamond, discussing the bout in excited tones. No decision was rendered except by the umpires, who ruled that Grantham was safe at second by virtue of his occupation of that bag and Carey was entitled to third for interference.

Carey and Grimes Chased.

But Carey was not allowed to go there. Both he and Grimes being ordered to the showers, where they might cool off better.

When the white flag of tranquillity again was hoisted the Pirates went right on hitting the ball, and with two more singles, a sacrifice fly and an error in right field, tied the score at 7 to 7 before Joe Oeschger, who relieved Grimes, retired the side.

The Robins were still mad when they came to bat in the eighth and went flying into the lead again, singles by Brown, Johnston, Mitchell and Stock giving them a two-run advantage.

Then in the ninth came Spencer's wallop that knocked victory out of the Brooklyn bat bag and hurled it across to the Pirate dugout. Ehrhardt walked Cuyler to start the inning and Kiki went to third on Barnhardt's single to centre.

Pie Traynor drove the ball against the right field stands for a double, which was sufficient transportation to get Cuyler over the plate, Barnhardt to third and Ehrhardt out of the box. Hubbell came in to stop the assault and purposely passed Wright, filling the bases, with none out.

The Winning Run Goes Over.

Moore flied high and wide to Dick Loftus. Barnhardt coming home after the catch with the tying run, and then Spencer smote his mighty single to centre which won the game and made it two straight victories for the Pirates over the Robins.

The Robins got five of their runs in a cluster in the fourth. An error put Loftus on first with one out. Fournier singled, and then Cox drove the ball down the first base foul line for a double, scoring Loftus. Fournier was thrown out at the plate on Brown's tap to Moore. Johnston walked, filling the bases, but Zach Taylor cleared them again with a double to centre. Zach scored on Grimes's triple and five runs were across.

The Pirates crawled up, a run at a time, until the seventh, when a pass to Mitchell and triples by Stock and Fournier widened the gap again. Then in the last half of the session came Grimes's bounty.

Between the attractions of Dazzy Vance yesterday and a double header tomorrow only 6,000 were lured out today.

Zach Wheat tried to get a day of rest in which to recover from stomach trouble but there was no rest for the weary anywhere in the neighborhood.

Lee Ellenberger, the recruit hurler, was informed today that he might pitch against Akron on Sunday and it pleased him very much. "Where do they stand in the league?" he asked excitedly.

Taylor fanned three times but the one time he met the ball he drove in three runs. That makes it even enough.

Twenty-nine players were used by the two teams and Al Mamaux, who happens to be in town, was looking for a uniform before the game was over. He has pitched for both the Pirates and Robins and was perfectly willing to work again for either.

GRIMM'S BAT DOWNS PHILS.

Homer and Double, Scoring Two, Give Cubs Victory, 5 to 1.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP).—Charley Grimm's hitting today gave Chicago a 5 to 1 victory over Philadelphia. Grimm's first hit was a home run in the sixth inning, which put the Cubs in front. His next was a double, which sent two runs across the plate and clinched the game.

Blake held the Phillies to five hits, two of which went into the bleachers in left field, which are being torn out. They went for doubles under the ground rules and gave Philadelphia its lone run.

JOHNSON'S MUFFS COST YANKS A GAME

Ernie, Substituting at Second, Lets Two Tigers In With Fumbles for 3-1 Victory.

PITCHING DUEL REST OF WAY

Dauss Holds Hugmen to Five Hits and Cobbmen Get Only Seven Off Pennock.

By HARRY CROSS.

A slight attack of nerves on the part of Ernie Johnson, together with some neat pitching by George Dauss, caused the Yankees to swallow a 3 to 1 defeat up at the Stadium yesterday. The Detroit Tigers administered the medicine.

Johnson's nervousness centred in or about his two hands. He playfully toyed with a couple of inoffensive grounders and while he was looking them over studying the stitching and the labels on the ball, two of the Bengal runs oozed over the plate. It was by a margin of these two runs that Cobb's thumpers won.

Ernie admits there is no use crying over spilled milk, but those two errors were two errors and no two ways about it. Johnson, it should be explained, is substituting at second for Aaron Ward, who is otherwise engaged these afternoons reducing an enlarged thumb. Naturally some of the territory around second is strange to Johnson. He hasn't played there enough to get to know every blade of grass by its first name.

This was a ball game which didn't pack many thrills because it was so jammed full of pitching. Herb Pennock twisted them over for the Huggins side and except for a fretful first inning, his pitching was something to shout about.

Tiger Line-Up Shifted.

The Detroit line-up was shaken up to face Pennock's left-handed art. Fothergill was at left in place of Wingo and Haney at third in Burke's position. Manager-Centre Fielder Cobb is still on the sidelines, his only effort yesterday being a short visit at the first base coaching line, where he tried to rattle Lou Gehrig.

Mr. Cobb accused Gehrig by pantomime of trying to walk all over the feet of his players as they rode into first. Gehrig paid little or no attention to Tyrus. In fact Gehrig has been rattled by experts. When Gehrig ignored his chatter, Tyrus turned around and tried to tell the spectators back of first about it. He took a good-natured joshing with a smile.

The tossing duel between Dauss and Pennock was so close that the Yanks got only five hits and the Tigers seven. It was an off day for the lively ball. The springy Australian wool in the ball must have been alfalfa and the peppy horsehide cover probably came from a mule.

The first two Bengals, Haney and O'Rourke, were easy victims of Pennock's pitching, but Fothergill, without a word of warning, cracked a double to left. Manush rolled a little bouncer at Johnson, who foozled it and permitted the ball to jump away from him like a grasshopper. Fothergill waddled home on the mishap.

Heilmann Hits a Triple.

Heilmann came along with a boisterous three-bagger to right centre, which enabled Manush to go home with minutes to spare.

The Yanks got nary a hit off Dauss in the first four innings. In the fifth, after Gehrig had flied to Haney, Shanks singled to right. Schang forced Shanks, and Pee Wee Wanninger planted a high fly close to the right field foul line. O'Rourke raced over to get it and trying to grab it, shoved it over into foul territory, Pee Wee getting three bases on the rocket, while Schang scored. Pennock couldn't further the good work and lifted one to Blue.

Manush opened the sixth with a double to right and went to third on Heilmann's out at first. Another attack of restlessness in the mitts seized Ernie Johnson, and when Blue rolled a grounder at him he treated it with the disdain one would show toward a stranger. While the ball was gamboling around the greensward, Manush chased himself home.

Yanks Fumble a Chance.

The Yanks had a good chance to score in the seventh, but couldn't. With one out, Gehrig got an infield hit to second, the ball catching O'Rourke in a bad position to make an accurate throw. Shanks singled to right, sending Gehrig along. It was up to Schang and Wanninger to encourage these two lads home, but they both succumbed by air.

U. of Chicago Nine Starts Tour.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP).—Twelve members of the University of Chicago baseball squad, accompanied by Coach Nelson Norgren, left today for a tour of Japan. After playing several games in the Northwest and on the coast, they will sail from San Francisco Aug. 22.

Pickups and Putouts

Ernie Johnson tried hard to make up for his transgressions afield when in the eighth with one on he almost pumped a home run into the bleachers at the Yankee Stadium. It was foul by inches.

Wallie Pipp got into the game a moment for the first time since he was hit in the head by a pitched ball a month ago. He went up as a pinch-hitter for Wanninger in the ninth and forced Gehrig at second for the final out.

Ruth had an unusually disappointing day. Once he walked, once he flied to right and twice died on infield rollers.

Among the Yanks who did not get a hit off Dauss were Johnson, Ruth, Meusel, Schang and Pennock. Also pinch-hitter Bob Veach.

Fothergill is another one of those players built like a piano mover but who moves around like a lightweight.

Another string of three straight is ended and no one can guess when the next bale of three victories will arrive.

Holloway and Stoner will be the Detroit pitchers in today's double-header. The Yanks have five or six candidates.

Murchison, Home, Denies German Charges; Says Press Magnified Defeat by Houben

Loren Murchison, America's crack sprinter, returned yesterday on the Mauretania after a tour of the world, satisfied with his trip, but breathing vehement denial of the allegations of professionalism instituted in Germany. Upon landing Murchison found that as yet the Amateur Athletic Union has received no official or direct protest from abroad concerning either him or Charley Paddock. Secretary Frederick W. Rubien of the A. A. U. announced that under the circumstances the A. A. U. would ignore published articles involving the two sprinters. Paddock is returning on the liner Adriatic.

Murchison had no complaint to make against the treatment he received anywhere while on tour. He declared he experienced an unpleasant surprise upon arriving in England to learn that the allegations affecting his amateur status had their origin in Germany.

"The charges against Paddock and myself are ridiculous on their very face," said Murchison. "Newspapers in Germany have made exaggerated material out of the fact that we failed to beat Houben, without having taken the trouble to consider the fact that we arrived in Germany direct from Manila after a trip which lasted thirty-two days and prevented our engaging in any training. We were requested to race almost immediately upon arriving there. Under the circumstances we did the best we could.

"The only financial matters in which any discussion arose came in Hamburg, where the officials requested that we accept a reduction of one-half in the amount of expense money we were to receive. This we declined to do, in view of the fact that the countries where we had agreed to appear had adopted a pro rata system of defraying our expenses. The matter was quickly adjusted.

When we arrived in Berlin we had had no training but were ready to race twice as scheduled. Houben raced only in the 100-meter event and then declined to meet us at 200 meters, but there was nothing said about that.

"The whole discussion results, I believe, from a story published by a German paper and written by a woman who was dissatisfied with our racing at Hamburg. As far as I have been able to ascertain, however, there has been nothing definite concerning any charges involving me. The whole thing will be proved to be just newspaper talk, based on what the German papers refer to as 'indifferent' running, and there existed no justification for this view."

The action of the English athletic authorities in withholding prizes he won in the British championships was regarded as natural by Murchison in view of the reports received in England from Germany, but the sprinting star expressed confidence that the British authorities quickly will forward the prizes in question.

ATHLETICS DIVIDE TWO WITH INDIANS

Lose First, 10-4, but Rommel Wins, 2-0, in 65 Minutes, Second Fastest Game on Record.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP).—Fighting to hold the lead in the American League, the Athletics today broke even with Cleveland. The Indians took the first game, 10 to 4, but the Mackmen won the second, 2 to 0.

The second game, in which Rommel shut out the Indians on two hits, was played in sixty-five minutes, said to be the second shortest major league contest on record. Uhle held the Mackmen to three hits in this game.

The Athletics played shoddy ball behind Jack Quinn in losing the first game. Errors of omission and commission in the second innings gave the Indians four runs and a lead that the Mackmen could not overcome.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Giard held the Washington Senators to four hits and the St. Louis Browns took the third game of the series today, 3 to 0. Giard walked six of the Champions, but five double plays swept the Senators from the paths at opportune times. It was Coveleskie's third defeat in a row.

GIANTS TOSS GAME TO THE REDS, 2-1

Misplays by Frisch and Southworth Cause Champions to Lose More Ground in Race.

BARNES IS DAY'S VICTIM

Hurls in Brilliant Form, but Is Forced to Bow to Donohue as Team Drops Fifth in Row.

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 7.—Yes, little children, there is a Santa Claus. He wears whiskers in the Winter time and a Giant uniform in the Summer. He gives good little boys and girls presents at Christmas and hands out ball games in the off-season.

Today the Giants played old Kris Kringle and the Reds were the good little ball team whose stocking was stuffed with a perfectly nice 2-1 victory. Maybe the Reds needed it more than the McGrawmen, but that is highly doubtful, with the Pirates galloping along four games ahead of the remainder of the procession.

Frankie Frisch and Billy Southworth were the philanthropists who believed that it is better to give than to receive. Frisch, sprawling all over Eddie Roush in the sixth inning, failed to touch his man and that was ruinous. A minute later Southworth misjudged Walker's long fly and let it waft over his head for a triple. These two plays let the villain in with the mortgage on the old homestead.

If either play had gone through per schedule, the Giants would have won by 1 to 0, instead of losing their fifth straight. If Frisch had followed the motto of the Northwest mounted police and got his man, or if Southworth had squeezed Walker's fly affectionately, the Giants would still be able to see first place through their binoculars.

Reds Moving Up.

As it is, the McGravians are so far from the top rung that the Pirates are beginning to get snobbish. They don't care to associate with New Yorkers any longer. When the Giants come to Pittsburgh next week many a well-bred nose will be elevated at them. And the bally Reds, who have been keeping second division company in the kitchen these past months, are now crowding the Gothamites severely, being only two and a half games in arrears at this writing.

More than 10,000 citizens went wild as they saw Pete Donohue, the native Cincinnatian from Texas, get a technical verdict over Virgil Barnes, who outpitched Peter by a wide margin and should have had a clean shutout.

If Pete wants to scribble home about this victory he is perfectly welcome to. He wasn't any luckier than the fellow who dubs his drive and makes a hole in one. Without the aid of rabbit feet, witchcraft or any other incantations the Giants scored a run in the fifth on Southworth's single with one out, Frisch's long fly to Roush—which Edward did not misjudge—and Young's double to left. Southworth had taken second on the fly and scored standing up.

In the sixth Pinelli was easy for Frisch and Terry, but Roush broke a single off Barnes's glove. Virgil picked Eddie cleanly off first and the local captain dashed in self-defense for second. Frisch had the ball in plenty of time, but he let Roush get around him. Eddie rode wide and hooked the bag with his hand, Frisch all the while jabbing and poking and finally sitting down.

Southworth Misjudges Fly.

Should be two out now. Walker's fly to centre followed. It was long and high. Southworth went back too slowly, never turning his back and running fast, as he should have done. Near the flagpole he jumped but missed the ball by several feet, and Roush scored while Walker pedaled madly to third.

With the score tied, Holke rolled a slow one to Kelly and was tossed out, but Walker made the pan easily. Holke was only the fourth out of the inning.

The Giants had other chances, but none so bright. Seven hits were all Donohue permitted and in the last four innings he was never in trouble. Terry opened the second with a double but got no further. Kelly two-baggered with one down in the fourth and had the same luck.

Barnes was tapped for ten hits, but was magnificent in the pinches. A few more like this one and the last battle of the 1924 world's series, and Zeke will be able to take on Adolph Luque at catchweights in the hard-luck championship final.

MULLINS AWAITS FITZSIMMONS HERE

Told Promoter Is Coming East With Dempsey Contract—Rickard Doubts Signing.

Negotiations for the ring services of Harry Wills, negro challenger for the world's heavyweight title held by Jack Dempsey have been effectively tied up as a consequence of developments on the Pacific Coast. Paddy Mullins, manager of the Brown Panther, announced yesterday, following a long-distance telephonic communication from Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, who claims to have a signed contract from Dempsey for a bout in Michigan City, Ind., next July, that he, Mullins, had been asked by Fitzsimmons to defer entering into an agreement for any bouts for Wills until the promoter and manager had a chance to discuss a Dempsey-Wills bout. Fitzsimmons, at last accounts, was heading East with "the papers."

Mullins was quietly biding his time and temporarily ignoring efforts of Promoters Tex Rickard, Jimmy De Forest and Humbert Fugazy to sign Wills for a bout against Gene Tunney before the end of the outdoor season. The promoters were unaffected by the news of Fitzsimmons from the Coast and continued making overtures to Mullins despite Paddy's decision not to commit himself until after Tuesday. By that time Fitzsimmons is expected here for a conference.

The fact that the State Athletic Commission yesterday sanctioned Sept. 9 as the date for the Jewish Maternity Hospital benefit fund bouts at the Polo Grounds, gave rise to reports that Tunney and Wills probably would furnish the stellar attraction on the benefit card, but Mullins denied he has entered into a definite understanding with any promoter. Mullins has cabled Wills to return here immediately in order to have the negro available for an important match before the end of the outdoor season.

Rickard Doubts Dempsey Signed.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP).—Doubt that Jack Dempsey has signed with Promoter Fitzsimmons to meet Harry Wills was expressed here today by Tex Rickard, who came to town for the purpose of interviewing Gene Tunney on a probable bout with Harry Wills at the Yankee Stadium next month.

Rickard said he had the assurance of Dempsey, given many times, that when he decided to return to the ring he would first consult Rickard.

Rickard said he was confident Tunney would agree to terms to meet Wills. Tunney is at Luther's training camp at Saratoga Lake, where he prepared for his fight with Gibbons.

Fitzsimmons on Way East.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (AP).—Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City (Ind.), promoter, departed today for Chicago and New York with the signature of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, to an agreement for a title bout with Harry Wills, July 4, 1926, at Michigan City, Ind., it was announced by R. R. Benton of Dempsey's staff. Benton said Chicago financial interests would back the bout and that arrangements were completed last night between Fitzsimmons and Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills.

Kearns Calls It a "Joke."

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP).—Jack Kearns today characterized as a "joke" the report from Los Angeles that Floyd Fitzsimmons has Jack Dempsey's signed contract to fight Harry Wills at Michigan City in September. He seemed unconcerned about the report and declared it meant nothing.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP).—William Cody, widely known in amateur rowing circles, died suddenly tonight at the University of Pennsylvania Boat Club. He was a rigger at the university and formerly was a member of the Metropolitan Rowing Club, New York City.

ALBANY, Aug. 7 (AP).—Quentin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, defeated Leo Gates of North Adams, Mass., in a slow twelve-round bout here tonight. Ivan Hawes, Panama flyweight, won the decision from Al Fugaro of New York in the ten-round semi-final.

QUAKER JUNIOR EIGHT WINS

Leads University of Toronto Home by Three Lengths—Codman Takes Association Single Sculls Title.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Of the seven championships decided on the second day of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen's regatta here today honors were fairly well divided. Philadelphia oarsmen took four titles, each of which went to a different club.

Boston got one national crown when Russell M. Codman of the Union Boat Club won the association singles. Fred M. Haas carried the senior 145-pound singles title to the Wachusett Boat Club of Worcester, Mass., and Duluth's intermediate eight-oared shell defeated a large field. Rowing conditions were ideal and a crowd of 8,000 saw the races on the Schuylkill River.

In the competition for the Julius Barnes trophy the Penn Athletic Club of Philadelphia leads with 39½ points. The Bachelors' Barge Club is second with 36½ and Duluth has 34. The New Rochelle Rowing Club comes next with 24, and the New York A. C. has 6 points.

Quaker Club Is Victor.

To the Quaker City Barge Club went the honor of lifting its first national championship in many years when its junior eight beat a field of three rival crews. Stroked by A. Raffetto, the Quakers finished three lengths ahead of the University of Toronto, runner-up in the Canadian Henley junior event last week. The West Lynn Boat Club of Lynn, Mass., came in third, three-quarters of a length back of the Canadians, with the Penn Barge Club last. The West Lynn boys, who rowed as Classical High School of Lynn earlier in the season, led for a while, but a little more than half a mile from the finish Quaker City spurted and took the lead, never to be headed again. The Quakers' time of 6 minutes 17 2-5 seconds was very good.

The Bachelors' Barge Club senior quadruple sculls, stroked by W. E. Garrett Gilmore, United States and Canadian sculling champion, won the national title when it led the Penn A. C. to the line by one length in 6:20 2-5. Jack Kelly of Olympic fame stroked the Penn A. C., who spurted well at the finish, but failed to nip the Quakers. The New York A. C., containing the Morey twins, was third, two lengths back, with the Crescent Boat Club last. New York's quad looked good even in defeat and was applauded for its fine effort.

Four powerful sweeps, Charles S. Karle, stroke; William G. Miller, No. 3; Harold C. Wilson, No. 2, and Kenneth Myers, bow, pulled the Penn Barge Club to a national championship in the senior four-oared shells, which Coxswain Edwin S. Armstrong 3d steered to a four-length victory over the Bachelors' Barge Club, recent Canadian champion ship winners. The Penn A. C., stroked by Johnny Doyle of the University of Pennsylvania, was three lengths behind in third place, and the other Penn A. C. four, stroked by Tom Maguire, was fourth and the Metropolitan Rowing Club of New York was last.

Codman Takes Title.

The first out-of-town victory went to Russell S. Codman, Union Boat Club, who won the association's singles when he defeated Chester Turner of Toronto by five lengths, with Hanlan Hackett, Duluth, one length behind and Al Vogt, Vesper, last. His time was 7 minutes 23 4-5 seconds. Codman thus qualifies for the national event tomorrow.

The heats in the senior eights, set for today, were eliminated, and the event will be rowed as a final tomorrow.

Expectation Handicap Is Won by Marconi Over Fast Track at Saratoga

MARCONI WINNER OF THE EXPECTATION

Son of Omar Khayyam Easy Victor in Mile Dash at Saratoga Track.

SUNSINI TAKES HUDSON

After Trailing Field Makes Strong Finish to Capture Handicap—Fly By Triumphs.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Marconi, the Belair Stud's chestnut son of Omar Khayyam and La Delivrance, this afternoon won the sixth running of the Expectation Handicap, a dash of a mile for maiden three-year-olds at the time of entry. With Stevens up Marconi ran in front practically the entire distance, coming home in 1:40 over a fast track an easy winner. William Woodward and his family were on hand to enjoy the victory, which brought him $2,175 as his share of the stake. Marconi was the 2-to-5 favorite in a field of four.

The weather again figured in the afternoon's sport, a thunder shower threatening an hour before the racing, and so dark and ominous were the clouds that the street lights were turned on in Saratoga. The rainfall was negligible, however, and the track was comparatively fast, although far from its best. There was an excellent attendance despite the threat of storm. Two favorites won, both at odds-on.

What at first appeared to be a serious accident happened in the running of the first race, in which Prodigal, the Ebenbury Stable's two-year-old and the favorite, crossed his legs rounding into the homestretch. He came down with Jockey Robert Pierce, and as he was running second at the time, it appeared as if he could not escape the hoofs of the rest of the field. Pierce escaped injury almost miraculously, however, and was able to take a mount in the last race of the day.

Bruns Scratched From Race.

J. F. Richardson scratched Bruns out of the Expectation, but William Ziegler Jr. added Zeebrugge, so that four went to the post. Marconi carried top weight of 120 pounds, but it was an easy gallop for him. Stevens had him under wraps all through the journey and he came past the winning post half a length in front of Zeebrugge.

Zeebrugge was outrun until the top of the stretch was reached, having trailed the field. Barnes saved ground with him on the turn and he was a fast finishing second to take the place by ten lengths from Lee Rosenberg's Forward Pass. The latter had speed for five furlongs and then stopped, taking third money by three lengths from James Butler's Jibe. The winner was the only one that was seriously considered in the wagering. The fractional time of the race was as follows: 0:24, 0:48, 1:13 1-5, 1:40.

The Lilane Stable's speedy little gelding Sunsini, which won the Mechanicville Handicap on Monday, came back with another winning effort this afternoon, capturing with ease the Hudson Handicap, which was the secondary feature of the card. Edgar Barnes gave the supporters of the bay son of Sunbriar and Contessina some anxious moments, for Sunsini was decidedly outrun down the back stretch. It won the race for Sunsini, however, as Mrs. M. L. Davis's Washington and J. E. Davis's Reparation made a killing pace for the first six furlongs, which they did in 1:12 and raced each other into the ground.

His Lordship Wins Jump.

The Spring steeplechase brought six to the post for the journey of two miles, the winner being William A. Reads's imported jumper His Lordship, well ridden by the English rider and trainer A. Escott. The four-year-old son of Sunnyland and Naisha went to the fore on the last turn of the field and won eased up by five lengths from T. H. McCreery's Away II, another English-bred steeplechaser. The latter outgamd Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Moseley to take the place by two lengths.

The Log Cabin Stud is beginning to pick up some returns for its large expenditures. Its four-year-old filly Fly By gathered in $700 by beating ten others of various ages in the claiming event at seven furlongs, winning easily. Johnny Maiben had the mount, took her to the fore at the far turn and won eased up by five lengths from Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's imported horse Roman Bachelor.

Players of form were bumped when Prodigal fell in the opening race. The colt was heavily played and backed to 9 to 5 at post time. He was running second to the winner, Sweet Inver, when he came down just as the field was straightening out for home.

U. S. Team Cuts Olympic Mark In Rifle Test in Switzerland

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Co. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 7.—The eyes of all Switzerland are centred on the rifle teams which are training at St. Gall for the international match, beginning next Tuesday. The American team already has obtained the remarkable practice score of 5,370, which is 86 more points than that which won the Olympic title for them at Rheims last year. The Swiss, who perhaps more than any other people, make shooting a national sport, are confident of winning this year's meet despite the excellent team sent over from America. The national Swiss team was picked by competition from the ten best marksmen in the confederation. They have borrowed most of the methods employed by the United States stars and for weeks they have been studying the temperature, wind and light on the St. Gall range.

4 HURT IN ACCIDENTS AT SARATOGA TRACK

Lee Rosenberg Jumps to Avoid Fractious Horse in Paddock and Breaks Elbow.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7.—There was a series of accidents at the Saratoga track this afternoon, none of which resulted in serious injuries. The worst was suffered by Lee Rosenberg, a New York cotton broker and owner of Ingrid, Sun Pal and other horses.

Mr. Rosenberg was in the paddock looking over the horses being saddled for the steeplechase. W. H. McCreery's Away II became fractious. Mr. Rosenberg, jumping away to avoid being kicked, stumbled and fell, fracturing his left elbow. He was taken to the Saratoga Hospital.

L. H. Veitch, who had the mount on Hell's Delight, was thrown when his mount fell at the last jump. He caught his horse, remounted and finished the course. The skin was ripped from his foot and he also went to the hospital.

Robert Pierce was shaken up when his mount came down in the first race. He was bruised and stunned, but was able to accept a mount in the closing number.

While schooling Thorndale after the steeplechase, Jockey I. Burgess received a nasty fall. He was taken to the hospital for an X-ray examination of his wrist.

MARBLEHEAD PLATE WON BY DANDELION

Adams Yacht Scores Most Points in R Class Series for Ladies' Trophy.

ARDETTE TAKES A RACE

Long Island Sloop Triumphs for First Time on Final Day of Eastern Regattas.

Special to The New York Times.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 7.—Under conditions supposed to be unfavorable the yacht Ardette, owned by Donald Cowl of the Manhassett Bay Yacht Club and sailed by E. P. Alker, won her race today in the final series for this interesting class, beating the Tycoona and Yankee decisively in a very light breeze over a windward and leeward course. The Quiver, the other Long Island Sound boat, finished second to the Gypsy.

The Eastern Yacht Club Ladies' Plate, the prize for the five days' racing, went to the Dandelion, owned and sailed by Charles Francis Adams of the local club. The standing of the thirteen boats, which have been sailing five races in groups of three or four boats, was as follows:

Dandelion, 17 points; Gypsy and Ellen, 16 each; Yankee, Ardette and Opechee III, 12 each; Momiji II, Norsman and Tycoona, 10 each; Quiver, 9; Shrew and Spry, 8½ each, and Scapa, 6.

In the race today the Ardette captured first place at the start, and worked away from both the Yankee and Tycoona steadily to the windward mark, going remarkably fast in the light air. Her lead at the turn was one minute and fourteen seconds, which she more than doubled in the slide down to the finish, due in part to a luffing match between her trailers. The Quiver also made a good start, but the Gypsy, which had been going very fast all the week and is considered by many as the best boat in the fleet, slipped out to windward and had a commanding lead at the turn.

The Quiver beat the Norwegian boat Spry by more than two minutes at the turn, and increased it to nearly four minutes on the run to the finish.

At a dinner given tonight by the yachtsmen to Commodore Anker of the Royal Norwegian Yacht Club, the prizes won during the meet were distributed and a replica given to Mr. Adams. The plate is held by the club with the name of winner engraved upon it.

EATONTOWN CUP WON BY SUNEAGLES FOUR

Trophy Captured From Rumson Polo Team by 8-5 Score, With Preece Starring.

Special to The New York Times.

EATONTOWN, N. J., Aug. 7.—The Suneagles polo team captured the Eatontown Cup here today on Suneagles Field by defeating the Rumson team 8 to 5 in the final of the tournament. Fifteen hundred spectators saw Max Phillips's aggregation get away to an early lead which was held until the end although the Rumson four held the eventual victors scoreless in the last three chukkers. Terence Preece, who in an earlier tournament game scored ten goals for his team, starred again today when his mallet accounted for three of the winners' tallies.

Preece's defensive work was also very good, for he frequently came to the aid of Paul Ladin at back when Arthur Borden and M. B. Metcalf Jr. threatened the Suneagles' goal. He suffered two falls, his pony dismounting him in the first and again in the second chukker, but neither slowed him up, for his best work was done as the game grew older, although he made the first goal in the opening chukker.

Preece was given able support, however, Albright working with him very smoothly to score three goals; while Phillips and Ladin made one each.

The lineup:

SUNEAGLES (8)	RUMSON (5).
No. 1—Max Phillips.	No. 1—How'd Borden.
No. 2—B'dell Albright.	No. 2—Arthur Borden.
No. 3—Terence Preece.	No. 3—M.B.M'tcalf Jr.
Back—Paul Ladin.	Back—Ted Bransome.

Goals—Suneagles: Preece (3), Albright (3), Ladin, Phillips. Rumson: A. Broden (3), H. Borden (2).

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7.—More notable visitors arrived in Saratoga Springs today. Among them were Sir Youssouf Pasha of Egypt, Senor Fernandez Bacula of Peru, Walter F. Chrysler, who is the guest of James Cox Brady; Joshua S. Cosden and George and James Clark.

Two Canadian steeplechasers arrived to try conclusions with the American jumpers. They are Flying Frog, owned by George Elliott of Toronto, and Cavendish, owned by P. Colohan. W. Borgan, who will ride the visitors, accompanied them.

Steeplechase followers remarked that the horses to finish first and second in the Steeplechase were English bred.

Moseley, purchased this week by Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, earned $100 of his price by running third in the Steeplechase.

Hell's Delight ran his first race in the Spring Steeplechase. He is owned by Allen Case of Toronto, and has been a hunter. He was bred in Ireland. He bobbed his last fence, however.

President R. T. Wilson Jr., of the Saratoga Association, announced that all races for two-year-olds with more than twenty entered, will be divided. This means that there will be many days when the card will have seven races.

Tomorrow's card, with the Ballston Steeplechase Handicap, the Saratoga Special and the Saranac Handicap, is about the best of the meeting. A record attendance is expected.

Mrs. George Sloan, owner of the Brookmeade Stable, has purchased a farm outside of Warrenton, Virginia, and will winter her stable of steeplechasers there. Mrs. Sloan has purchased a number of yearlings.

ELVIRA IS WINNER OF CLASS P YACHTS

MANITOU LEADS 'R' BOATS

Tipperary First in Cruiser Contest—Aurora Shows Way Among the Cruisettes.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., Aug. 7.—Regardless of poor weather conditions since the cruise of the Great South Bay Yacht Racing Association started last Tuesday, the yachtsmen had a fair light weather race in the third championship regatta off the Bellport Bay Yacht Club today.

The fleet numbered ninety-three yachts, a new record for South shore yachting. In addition to the sail boats, twenty power yachts took part in a port-to-port race this morning. These craft were divided into three classes and as the bay was fairly calm they made excellent time in the eighteen-mile run.

On corrected time, the winner among the cruisers was Tipperary, which is owned by M. Cuthbert. The second division honors were taken by King Fay, which belongs to Sinclair Raynor. The winner of the cruisette class was Aurora, the property of William Barker.

There was an exceptionally large gallery along the shore to witness the afternoon races. At the start the wind was north-northeast and fairly fresh. Unfortunately it dwindled and the finishes in all the classes were late. In Class P the winner was W. O. Chichester's Elvira.

The Q Division went to F. and G. Hard's Eagle. Among the R boats the winner was Manitou, which belongs to F. Wyckoff. The Islip one-design yachts had their usual good race and the winner was G. H. Walbridge's Scout. Among the A. A. catboats the first on corrected time was Fatima, which is owned by A. G. Lynn.

JUNIOR YACHT TITLE WON BY STAMFORD

Sailing in Eight-Knot Breeze, Crew Easily Defeats Huguenot Boys on Sound.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Aug. 7.—The Stamford Yacht Club junior crew, composed of Harry W. Sturges, Byrd W. Wenam Jr., and Davenport Lockwood, today won the junior yacht racing championship of Long Island Sound, defeating the Huguenot Yacht Club crew composed of Louis Kennedy Jr., Frank Heckma and P. Mariner, by one minute and four seconds over a four-mile triangular course off Stamford.

Each of the crews had won a race yesterday. Today's race was sailed in Islip one-design boats. The final race was sailed in an eight-knot breeze from north-northwest. The two boats got over the starting line pretty close together, with Stamford crew in the windward position. On the first leg, a close reach on one and one-fourth miles, the Stamford boat pulled a bit ahead, reaching the first mark about two lengths ahead of the Huguenot boys.

On the second leg, a run with spinnakers, one and one-half miles long, the lead changed a number of times, but when the leeward mark was reached, the Stamford crew was over two lengths ahead. On the beat to the finish the Stamford crew increased its lead, winning by a margin of one minute and four seconds.

Ten crews, representing different yacht clubs, took part in the races, which started on Monday, all the Corinthians being 16 or under.

GENARO EASY VICTOR OVER GEORGIE MARKS

Flyweight Champion Decisively Outpoints Coast Boxer in Ten Rounds in Red Bank.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, N. J., Aug. 7.—Frankie Genaro, New York's Italian flyweight, who is the outstanding contender for the title held by the late Pancho Villa, managed to outpoint George Marks, California bantamweight, rather easily here tonight in their ten-round bout at the Armory. The contest was the stellar attraction on a boxing card held under the combined auspices of the Elks' lodges of Red Bank, Long Branch and Asbury Park for the benefit of the crippled kiddies of Monmouth County, and attracted 2,000 boxing fans.

Genaro's superb defensive skill and his lightning-like, uncanny attack enabled the little flyweight to win the battle by a margin of five rounds to two. Everybody was satisfied at the finish that if decisions were permitted in New Jersey Genaro would have received the verdict. He was cheered to the echo when the fracas was over.

Marks showed to advantage only in the third round, when he literally swept Genaro off his feet with a reckless attack, and in the eighth session, when the Californian launched another desperate offensive and countered heavily. One of Marks's blows in the eighth session opened a cut over Genaro's right eye from which the blood flowed. Genaro carried off the fourth, fifth, seventh, nine and tenth rounds. The first, second and sixth were about even.

Plenty of action was furnished in three other ten-round bouts. Irwin Bige, Omaha welterweight, outpointed Willie Dillon of Flushing in their struggle, flooring Dillon twice in the fourth round, when the bell came to the Long Islander's rescue. Irish Tommy Jordan, Brooklyn middleweight, and Georgie Levine fought a draw in their ten-round clash. In the other ten-round bout Rene DeVos, Belgian middleweight, outpointed Lou Ferry of Newark.

LOMBARDO OUTPOINTS LEOPOLD AT ROCKAWAY

Panama Featherweight Wins Every Round From Denver Boxer—Gordon Beats Zirilli.

José Lombardo, Panama featherweight, returned to the ring last night at the Rockaway Beach Arena and annexed another victory. The Panama lad's latest victim is Joe (King) Leopold, Denver battler. They clashed in the stellar ten-round bout at the Rockaway club before a comparatively slim crowd, and when hostilities ended Lombardo received the decision. José established his right to the verdict throughout the bout, for he won every round.

In the eight-round semi-final Jackie Gordon won the decision from Frankie Zirilli. Irving Shapiro carried off the decision over Al Irving in the six-round bout, and in the four-round preliminary Louie Bruckner knocked out Frankie Katz in twenty-five seconds of the third round.

WALKER-KELLER VELODROME VICTORS

Lead Goullet and Horder in Field of 25 Teams in Race at 100 Kilometers.

GRENDA AND PIANI THIRD

Are Followed by McNamara-Hanley, Who Finish in Front of McBeath and Beckman.

Cecil Walker, American all-around bike champion, and Willie Keller, Newark rider, won the 100-kilometer (62½ miles) team race at the New York Velodrome last night from a field of twenty-five teams. The race was decided on a point basis, with a sprint every two miles for points which scored 7 for first, 3 for second, 2 for third and 1 for fourth, until the last sprint, which counted 25 for first, 15 for second, 10 for third and 5 for fourth.

It was the brilliant riding of Walker that won the race for his team, for he not only won six sprints during the race, but won the final sprint from Alfred Goullet, Alex McBeath and Reggie McNamara. Walker and Keller won the race with 77 points.

Goullet and Harris Horder finished second with 64 points. Alf Grenda and Orlando Piani finished third with 53 points, McNamara and Bill Hanley were fourth with 51 points, McBeath and Anthony Beckman were fifth with 38 points, Ray Eaton and Willie Grimm finished sixth with 30 points and Harry Horan and Eddie Madden were seventh with 27 points. The time of the race was 2 hours 24 minutes 12 1-5 seconds. onds.

McBeath and Beckman were showing the way at twenty miles with 21 points, but Walker and Keller tied the leaders at forty miles with 30 points each. Walker and Keller went into the lead at fifty miles with 44 points.

The race was marked by much jamming. Tommy Fitzsimmons and Norman Hill had an excellent chance to lap the field early in the race but Fitzsimmons fell and spoiled the chances of his team. Coburn and Bello also had a good chance to gain a lap, but poor pick-ups by the rest of the field stopped them.

Public Links Title Lies Between Serrick and McAuliffe

M'AULIFFE TO MEET SERRICK IN FINAL

This State Sure of Public Links Title Through Met. and Buffalo Players' Success.

MATCHES HOTLY CONTESTED

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 7.—Whichever way the tide of battle for the national public links championship of 1925 flows tomorrow, the title has been made safe for the Empire State. William F. Serrick, one of the metropolitan district standard bearers, and Raymond J. McAuliffe of Buffalo attended to that today when they brought about the elimination of invaders from Washington, Pennsylvania, Illinois and the District of Columbia.

The two New Yorkers settle their own differences tomorrow in a thirty-six-hole final which will determine the 1925 address for the Standish trophy, presented by the youthful "father" of the public links tourney, James D. Standish Jr. of Detroit.

In the third round of the tournament today Serrick, who is something of a diamond as well as links star, a jack of two sports and a master of both, defeated Johnny Wall of Spokane, Wash., by the uncomfortably narrow margin of 1 up, while McAuliffe was forced to travel 370 yards beyond the ordinary stretch of the course to shake off the persistent Carl Kaufman of Pittsburgh.

In the semi-final round the two finalists had a comparatively easy time disposing of their rivals, Al Houghton of Washington, D. C., and 17-year-old William Courtney of Detroit. Both matches were over before the fifteenth hole, Serrick beating the Capital City golfer by 6 and 5 and McAuliffe disposing of Courtney by 5 and 4.

Houghton Conquers Walsh.

The two unfortunate semi-finalists, however, did not leave the field of battle until they had accomplished something distinctly worth while. It was Houghton who eliminated Richard J. Walsh, the recent medal winner in the Apawamis tournament and victor in the national tournament when it was held at Washington two years ago, by 1 up. Courtney, who only recently graduated from the Highland Park High School, Detroit, a former caddie at the Oakland Hills and Detroit Country Clubs, earned his way into the semi-final round at the expense of Ted Lloyd of Chicago, the margin being 3 and 2.

Seldom has any third round of a championship event been productive of such close matches as this one today. It is not often that three matches in the round before the semi-finals come up to the last hole and even go beyond before it is possible to distinguish winner from loser.

The tenseness of the struggles furnished conclusive evidence of the calibre of golfers that the public links movement is developing throughout America. Those who watched the duels over the No. 1 Salisbury links ventured the prediction that the time is not far distant when one of these municipal players will be winning the national amateur crown.

Although the semi-final matches were more one-sided, it was due, in no small measure, to the superlative brand of golf that Serrick and McAuliffe, the two winners, played. When a golfer plays fourteen holes in two under par, as did McAuliffe, or the same amount under par for twelve holes, as did Serrick, there are few openings left for an opponent, unless he happens to be in the same mood. Neither Courtney nor Houghton was in such a savage mood today, and the result was a one-sided defeat for each.

Semi-Final Promised to Be Battle.

One of today's semi-final matches at least started out to be a battle. It was the engagement between Serrick and Houghton. For five holes these two linksmen traded shot for shot, playing each one of these in par figures. Serrick was the first to break through, taking the sixth hole with birdie 4.

It proved to be the end for the Washingtonian, for after a series of misfortunes at the seventh hole, starting with a ball out of bounds, he lost every hole from there until the twelfth, where the match came to an end. His game went bad, and his own errors, plus the brilliance of Serrick's play, made the match a walk-over for the New York player.

Houghton had a good chance to take the lead at the fourth hole, where he was on the green with his second shot, while Serrick had a tee shot that defied finding for a considerable time. When the ball was discovered lurking in the rough Serrick still had a long shot left for the green, which he failed to reach, but he hit the pin with his third, a half which he scarcely deserved.

Nevertheless he got it, and after another half at the fifth he steamed up to play the next seven holes in one under par figures, winning them all. Houghton was short with his iron shot to the eighth, taking three to reach the green, and he was stymied out of a half on the ninth.

Four down at the turn, with Serrick out in 35, one under par, Houghton had 5s on three consecutive holes on which par is 5, 4, 3. Serrick got a birdie 4 on the tenth after hooking to the rough, wasting one getting back on the fairway and then holing out in the putt after reaching the green.

Serrick Jumps a Stymie.

Houghton took a 5 as a result of his flubbing a brassie shot. On the eleventh the Washingtonian was bunkered and took two to get out, apparently saving himself by laying Serrick a stymie. The Gothamite, however, was traveling at too fast a pace to permit himself to be annoyed by such minor matters as stymies, jumping it neatly for a par 4. Houghton had a chance to prolong matters at the twelfth, but missed a putt.

The cards:

Out—
Serrick	4 4 3 4 4 4 5 4 3—35
Houghton	4 4 3 4 4 5 8 5 4—41
In—
Serrick	4 4 4
Houghton	5 5 5

The other semi-final was as good as ended by the time that the two combatants, McAuliffe and the bespectacled Courtney, had played four holes. Playing them in one stroke beneath par, the Buffalo sharpshooter won all four. After taking a 5 at the first hole, which was one too many, Courtney lost the second by slicing his drive in among some mounds and taking three to reach the green. He was short with his mashie shot to the third and then lost the fourth to McAuliffe's birdie 3.

The Detroiter might have got one of the holes back had he not taken three putts on the fifth, for McAuliffe's second hit a bank and he was one stroke worse than his opponent on the green. Courtney then won two out of the next three holes, leaving him 3 down at the turn. Two holes later he was doomed, for McAuliffe was 5 up, winning the tenth with a birdie 3 and the eleventh with a par 3. They halved the twelfth in birdie 4s and the next two in pars.

The cards:

Out—
McAuliffe	4 4 3 3 5 5 4 6 3—37
Courtney	5 5 4 4 5 4 5 4 3—39
In—
McAuliffe	3 3 4 4 5
Courtney	5 4 4 4 5

Walsh's elimination was something of a jolt, although the former champion has been unable to strike his stride during the present tourney. Houghton gave him plenty of opportunities to find himself, but Walsh was seldom able to take advantage of his openings, his driving and putting being off.

The cards:

Out—
Houghton	4 4 3 4 5 5 5 5 3—38
Walsh	4 4 3 4 4 7 5 5 4—40

Kaufman fought a great uphill battle against McAuliffe in the morning, for after winning the first hole from the Buffalo golfer he lost five in a row.

Those five holes McAuliffe played in exactly seventeen strokes, three under par. By uncorking an exceptional streak Kaufman caught McAuliffe at the thirteenth hole, where he ran down a thirty-foot putt for a birdie 3. From there on it was give and take, and they squared off for the last hole with the match still hanging in the balance. Here McAuliffe was in the rough off the tee and had to hole a long putt for his half, for Kaufman was within a yard of the cup on his approach putt. The Keystone State golfer played the extra hole in par, but McAuliffe holed a four-yard putt for a birdie 3. McAuliffe had a 74 for his medal, while Kaufman was 75.

Wall, the little Spokane star, ran Serrick a close race for eight holes and was leading his metropolitan opponent by two holes with five to play. Chalk up another victim to the list of those ruined by the old "two-up-and-five-to-play" adage. Two birdies and three pars by Serrick sank the little man from the Coast, although Wall had a putt for a 2 on the home green, the making of which would have squared the match.

Playing against Sam Graham, the Pittsburgh traffic policeman, in the consolation, Sahre, a member of the victorious New York team in the Harding Cup match, had a 69 this morning, the best mark made in the tournament.

The summaries:

Anderson Says France and Not United States Is Australia's Only Fear in the Davis Cup

MONTREAL, Aug. 7 (AP).—France, not the United States, is the stumbling block in the bid Australia is making for the Davis Cup this year, according to James O. Anderson, captain of the Australian Davis Cup tennis team, who arrived in Montreal this morning for the matches against Canada's representatives here next week.

In Anderson's opinion René Lacoste is the most brilliant of the French stars. Australia, he said, does not fear the United States and believes that if France can be conquered all will be well.

Anderson's statement will hardly be taken seriously by American tennis followers. The Antipodeans have cause to take their match with the French seriously, providing they reach the inter-zone round, but for them to rate the French team more dangerous than the American will not bear the test of comparison of the players.

First of all, Vincent Richards defeated both Gerald Patterson and Anderson, Australia's two singles players, at Seabright last week. Even admitting, as it has been suggested by critics, that the Australians were not showing all their wares at Seabright, they hardly can entertain serious hopes of either of them defeating Tilden. Neither Patterson nor Anderson has beaten Richards at any time and in the challenge round last year Richards had no difficulty in disposing of Patterson or O'Hara Wood. Johnston crushed Patterson at 6–2, 6–0, 6–0 in the national championship last year.

Tilden and Johnstone are looked upon as good enough to defeat the Australians in doubles. The Kinsey brothers defeated them at Seabright in two sets. Lacoste, France's ace, has improved over last year and defeated Anderson at Wimbledon this year, but critics do not rate him in the same class with Tilden.

MAY SMOOTH HEEL PRINTS.

Golfers Allowed Greater Freedom When in Bunker by New Rule.

Hereafter it will be permissible for a golfer to smooth over his heelprints in a bunker without penalty even if his ball is still in the hazard. The U. S. G. A. yesterday announced such a ruling in conformity with an interpretation handed down recently by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrews, the British lawmaking body. The rule which is now effective is: "When a ball lodges in a hazard and the player does not play it out on the first stroke he may smooth with his club the heelmarks made by his stance without penalty provided he does nothing to improve the lie of the ball or assist him in his subsequent play at the hole."

Heretofore a penalty was attached to smoothing the sand before the ball had been played out of the hazard.

MISS GOSS VICTOR OVER MISS BROWNE

Scores Rye Upset, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, and Will Meet Miss Wills in Semi-Final Today.

MISS RYAN ALSO ADVANCES

Triumphs Over Mrs. Bundy, 7-5, 6-3 —Mrs. Mallory Eliminates Mrs. Jessup by 6-3, 6-4.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Miss Eleanor Goss of New York, fourth ranking player of the country, eliminated Miss Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., second in the ranking, from the women's New York State tennis championship today at the Westchester Biltmore Country Club. The score was 6–3, 5–7, 6–4. Miss Browne, favorite to reach the semi-finals, found it impossible to overcome the powerful stroking of her opponent and yielded after making a stirring uphill fight.

This victory placed Miss Goss in the semi-final round, where tomorrow at 3 o'clock she will meet Miss Helen Wills, national champion, who advanced on Thursday. Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York gained the other semi-final brackets. Miss Ryan encountered stubborn opposition from Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles and was carried to a deuce set before she was able to dispose of the hard-hitting California woman, who was national champion twenty-one years ago. The score was 7–5, 6–3. Mrs. Mallory gained her semi-final bracket by defeating Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., at 6–3, 6–4. She will meet Miss Ryan tomorrow at 2 o'clock, and the final will be played on Sunday.

The semi-final round was also reached in the doubles. The surviving teams are Miss Wills and Miss Browne, and Miss Helen Jacobs and Miss Charlotte Hosmer of California, in the upper half, and Miss Ryan and Miss Bundy, and Mrs. Jessup and Miss Goss in the lower section. The semi-final will be played tomorrow and the final on Sunday.

Miss Goss's victory over Miss Browne was unexpected in spite of the fact that she triumphed over the California woman at Providence early in July. Miss Browne made her first Eastern appearance of the season at Providence and did not have the opportunity to prepare herself sufficiently for the change to grass courts. At Seabright Miss Goss was crushed by Miss Ryan, while Miss Browne took a set from the conqueror of Miss Wills and threatened to defeat her.

The summaries:

Singles—Fourth Round—Miss Eleanor Goss defeated Miss Mary B. Browne, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4; Miss Elizabeth Ryan defeated Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, 7—5, 6—3; Miss Molla Mallory defeated Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, 6—3, 6—4.

Doubles—Second Round—Miss Charlotte Hosmer and Miss Helen Jacobs defeated Miss Penelope Anderson and Miss Isabella Mumford, 5—7, 6—4, 9—7.

Third Round—Miss Wills and Miss Browne won from Mrs. Frederick Detson and Mrs. Philip Hawk by default; Miss Jacobs and Miss Hosmer defeated Mrs. William H. Pritchard and Miss Garoma Winn, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. Bundy and Miss Ryan defeated Mrs. Edward Raymond and Mrs. George Chapman, 6—1, 6—0; Mrs. Jessup and Miss Goss defeated Miss Marie Wagner and Mrs. George B. Stanwix, 6—2, 6—3.

Onda, Japanese player, and Ewing eliminated J. G. Hall.

Both matches went to three sets. Van Ryn dropped a love set to Onda before triumphing at 7—5, 0—6, 6—2, while Ewing won from Hall at 6—4, 3—6, 6—3.

EAST LEADS WEST AT TENNIS, 3 TO 1

WILLIAMS-RICHARDS SCORE

Beat Griffin and Johnston, While Kinseys Win From Tilden and Lott—Holman Loses to Alonso.

TODAY'S EAST-WEST MATCHES.

At 2 P. M., Court 3—Manuel Alonso and Dr. George King vs. Raymond Casey and John Hennessey.

At 3 P. M., Court 2—William Johnston vs. Vincent Richards.

At 4 P. M., Court 1—George Lott vs. Raymond Casey.

At 5 P. M., Court 1—R. Norris Williams 2d vs. Howard Kinsey.

At 6 P. M., Court 3—Francis T. Hunter vs. Robert Kinsey.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

The tennis match awaited for a year is on today. William Johnston and Vincent Richards will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the East-West series at Forest Hills. Yesterday the representatives of the East took three out of four matches, and need only to take two out of the five scheduled for today to gain the victory.

Of far more interest than the outcome of the series is the meeting between Johnston and Richards, which will be decided by the best three out of five sets instead of two out of three, as are the others. The match has been designated as a Davis Cup trial, and will be watched by the members of the Davis Cup Selection Committee. Johnston and Richards are rivals for the honor of playing in the challenge round singles with Tilden, and the result of today's match will have an important bearing on the situation. Last year, following the national championship, Richards defeated Johnston in the East-West matches at 6—0, 6—4. That victory was partly responsible for Richards's substitution for Johnston in the Davis Cup singles and for his elevation over the Californian in the national ranking.

Two matches in singles and two in doubles were played yesterday. The East won both of the singles and one of the doubles contests. The doubles matches were of a more interesting character than the singles, both in the nature of the play and because of the fact that Richards and R. Norris Williams 2d, who engaged in the Davis Cup doubles trials, were opposed to Johnston and Clarence Griffin. The Eastern team won at 6—3, 6—4. Their fast, powerful attack from the net could not be withstood by the Californians, although Johnston was never outclassed and was conspicuous with his tremendous forehand drives and unfaltering volleying.

One break was made through Griffin in the first set and one through Johnston in the second set. Johnston won his three other service games with the loss of only one point. Richards's playing in this match was of the same splendid character as his performances in the cup trials, while Williams was little short of magnificent. The Philadelphian's racquet was a rapier with which he thrust home in relentless fashion with slanting volleys and backhand placements. It has been many a year since Williams has played better tennis than he has shown this week.

Robert and Howard Kinsey, national doubles champions, scored the only victory for the West. After dropping the first set to Tilden and George Lott of Chicago at 6—2, they took the next two sets at 6—2, 7—5. Lott's overhead smashing and volleying in the first set was a revelation and in the seventh game, when he scored three kills in succession, one from deep court, he received an ovation. The Kinseys were helpless against this sort of play and did not get started until the second set. They outsteadied their opponents in the second set and fought their way to victory in a closely contested final chapter.

In the singles matches, Dr. George King, who defeated Johnston at Seabright, turned in another noteworthy performance, defeating John Hennessey of Indianapolis, seventh in the ranking, at 6—1, 6—3. Cranston Holman, who came close to triumphing over James Anderson of Australia at Seabright and defeated Lott and Hennessey in the Davis Cup singles trials, threatened to add Manuel Alonso to his list of victims, when he took the first set from him at 6—3. Forcing his openings with deep drives to the corners, the young Stanford star won his points at the net with forceful playing, cutting off Alonso's returns with dispatch. This sort of opposition only served to arouse the Spanish Davis Cup player, and thereafter Holman was in constant pursuit of the ball until he became worn almost to the point of exhaustion. Alonso rushed through the second set, 6—2, and won the third, 6—4, after a hard battle.

Hennessey, since his return from Wimbledon, has not played the sort of tennis that enabled him to triumph over Borotra in the national championship last year and against the hard-hitting King never made any headway. His soft, deceptive stroking failed to bother the New York man, and in the first set he defeated himself on errors. He improved in the second set and brought off a number of clever placements off the ground, outguessing his opponent and passing him at the net.

Rain Halts Walker-Wells Bout.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP).—The Mickey Walker-Billy Wells boxing match at East Chicago, scheduled for tonight, was called off at 7 o'clock tonight because of rain. The same program will be staged next Monday night.

MISS BAUER SETS BACKSTROKE MARK

Clips 5 Seconds From Miss Riggin's Record in 220-Yard Title Race in Detroit.

MISS WHITENACK WINS '440'

W. S. A. Sweeps Event as Miss McGary Finishes Second and Miss Lambert Is Third.

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP).—Another American swimming record for women went careening into oblivion today at the National A. A. U. outdoor swimming championships for women when Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic Club paddled her way to victory in the 220-yard backstroke. Her time, 3 minutes 11 seconds, was five seconds better than the record made by Miss Aileen Riggin this year at Asheville, N. C. Miss Riggin finished six yards behind the Chicago girl today. Miss Doris O'Mara, New York, was third.

The New York Women's Swimming Association made a clean sweep in the 440-yard free style, Miss Virginia Whitenack, Miss Ethel McGary and Miss Adelaide Lambert finishing one, two, three, respectively. The winner's time was 6:07.

Miss Anna Baum, Bridgeport, Conn., won the 110-yard dash open, free style, in 1:43 2-5, finishing ahead of Miss Ruth Thomas, Atlantic City, N. J., and Miss Doris Dunham, Detroit.

A special mile race for the Men's Michigan A. A. U. championship went to Cornell Braisted, Detroit Y. M. C. A.

KYNASTON TENNIS VICTOR.

Behr and Von Bernuth Also Advance in Connecticut Title Play.

NORFOLK, Conn., Aug. 7 (AP).—Three New York tennis players, Percy Kynaston, Anton Von Bernuth and Allen Behr, gained the semi-final in the State title tourney here today. Kynaston defeated Ralph Baggs, also of New York, 6—4, 6—4. Von Bernuth was the victor over A. W. Merriam of Farmington, who defaulted, and Behr put out J. Hooker of New Jersey, 6—0, 6—2. F. C. Baker of Williams College, who will oppose Behr in the semi-finals tomorrow, eliminated S. Fitch of Rice Institute, Texas, 6—2, 8—6.

GOLD AND THE BANK RATE.

Thursday's unexpected reduction in the Bank of England's official discount rate has elicited various explanations, but they all reduce to the inference that the Bank believes the success of gold resumption to be assured. No one has suggested that the Bank, taking Mr. Keynes's ingenuous advice, has changed its purpose and is preparing to give up to New York the gold accumulated in its reserve to guarantee maintenance of gold payments. On the contrary, financial judgment both at London and at New York has interpreted the action as reflecting confidence in the existing position, in the maintenance of an adequate gold reserve, and in continuance of the pound sterling at the pre-war value.

When gold payments were resumed on April 23 the procedure was unavoidably more or less experimental. The success of the undertaking depended on certain immediate results which the Bank authorities believed could be counted upon, but which were nevertheless not certainties. One of them was continuance of an easy money market at New York, which would avert an outflow of capital from London and resultant heavy pressure on sterling exchange. Another was absence of obstructive measures on the part of foreign countries against a legitimate movement of gold from their markets to London. A third, and perhaps the most important, was return to London of the important foreign balances which had been kept in that market before the war, but which had been withdrawn when the gold standard was abandoned and the pound sterling began to depreciate.

So long as the fulfillment of these expectations remained in any doubt it was necessary to adopt every reasonable safeguard. That was the reason both for the creation of a $300,000,000 "gold credit" in the United States, which might be drawn upon in a possible emergency, and for the raising of the bank rate from 4 per cent. to 5, which amounted to a bid for transfer of capital from foreign money markets to London, whereby the rise of sterling to par of exchange would be facilitated. But in the fifteen weeks since resumption of gold payments all of the Bank's expectations have been realized. There has been no tightening of New York money rates. Gold has moved freely from Continental European markets to London; the Bank of England has taken in £8,500,000 more gold from such sources than it has given out for export in exchange for its own notes. The amount of foreign capital that has again sought London as its depository cannot be accurately stated, but there is reason to believe that it has reached high figures.

With these results assured and with sterling maintained uninterruptedly at pre-war rates, the Bank has evidently decided to relinquish some of its emergency precautions. It has not touched, and it is not expected to touch, the American gold credit, and now it expresses its faith in the situation by reducing its discount rate, doubtless with a view to assisting British trade. This seeming reversal of its previous policy is a reminder of an incident in our own "resumption year," when the Secretary of the Treasury, eight months after his careful husbanding of gold in the Government's hands to provide against unexpected demands on the redemption bureau, announced to the disbursing officers that "gold "coin beyond the needs of the Gov"ernment having now accumulated in "the Treasury," the rule for the use of paper currency in ordinary payments was revoked and the Government would thereafter pay out gold.

THE HUMBUG ISSUE.

One advantage of pitting Senator Walker against Mayor Hylan in the Democratic primary is that no one is better able than the Senator to riddle and make ridiculous the Mayor's charge that there is a conspiracy to increase the fare on the subways to ten cents. No sooner had Mr. Hylan begun again his patter about this yesterday than Senator Walker came swiftly back with the facts. On the existing subways the five-cent fare is a matter both of contract and of law. It could not be changed by the Mayor if he wished to change it. And Senator Walker states in the most emphatic way that he will never consent even to attempt anything of the kind. He knows all this five-cent business from end to end. And he is ready from the beginning to take the aggressive against the Mayor on his trumped-up issue, and to do so with a fuller knowledge of the facts and of the law than the Mayor has ever had and with a much greater power to state his case effectively.

The only possibility of a subway fare running to eight or ten cents is on the new lines which Mayor Hylan is so jubilantly starting to build. His own Board of Transportation, his own Commissioner Delaney, showed conclusively in their report that the Hylan subways cannot be made self-supporting, as they are required by statute to be, unless they charge a fare twice that paid on the Interborough or the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit. The alternative was suggested of special assessments on property in Queens and Brooklyn, but this raised such a row that the Mayor took fright and postponed the whole question of financing the new subways until after the municipal election. If this was avoidance it was also confession. The only ten-cent subways are the new Hylan subways. On the old ones the fare is bound to remain what it has been. For the promptness and vigor with which Senator Walker has already shown this to be true, the public is indebted to him. More and more as the primary campaign proceeds, he may be expected with his knowledge and his quick wit to tear away the humbug in which the Mayor has chosen to clothe himself, politically, as with a garment.

THE REAL CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

Behind the English coal crisis it has long been evident that there is a more far-reaching menace. In his speech of Thursday the Prime Minister said that a "great alliance of trade unions"—those of mines, railways and shipping—"had the power and the will," and apparently had adopted "the deliberate and avowed policy" of bringing on a stoppage of all industry as the means of enforcing their own will. "If that be so," said Mr. Baldwin, "I don't see how constitutional gov"ernment can live."

It is not merely that the ancient bicameral system has broken down. The House of Commons itself has ebbed in prestige and in power. Half a century ago Walter Bagehot declared that Cabinet Government had proved possible only because England was "a deferential country." The electors "liked to have one of their "'betters' represent them; if he was "rich they respected him much, and "if he was a lord they liked him bet"ter." He foresaw the passing of that mood, and with it the whole spirit of the Constitution—unless the newly enfranchised masses learned to defer to "the higher qualities" of mind and character of which wealth and rank had been "the rough symbols and the common accompaniments." What Mr. Baldwin meant was that this has not come to pass. England has emerged from the war with her prestige unsullied and her dominion widely extended—but with her economic system racked to the breaking point.

If she is to abate unemployment and re-establish her foreign trade, it is indispensable to bring order and efficiency into her basic coal industry. The majority of the nation has elected leaders easily capable of this—if only the minority would "defer" to them. But the Government has pleaded in vain. A disastrous strike has been avoided at the expense of an expedient scarcely less ominous—more ominous if persisted in and extended to the other basic industries. And eventually the very workers who have held up the Government like highwaymen will themselves be chief sufferers.

At the root of the trouble lie conditions which not even Bagehot foresaw, conditions which now pervade all highly industrialized countries. In order to safeguard labor against oppression we have vested it with rights which, in their modern development, give it a power transcending that of the Government. No enlightened statesman wishes to destroy labor unionism—and none seems able to devise a means of controlling it. Our own attempts toward an industrial court have been wrecked. Canada has been more fortunate in attempting less. It is there a penal offense for labor leaders to call a strike without first submitting to arbitration. But arbitration has generally proved a makeshift, resulting in meaningless compromises—and Canada is not a highly industrialized country. The need is for steady self-government under established law.

For England, meantime, there is a ray of hope in Mr. Baldwin's allusion to a quickening of trade. Once more, no doubt, the nation will muddle through. But not England nor any thoroughly industrialized country will be on the highway of progress until it has brought organized labor within the scope of its Constitution.

LENIENCY NOT CANCELLATION.

M. Caillaux is reported as saying that he will not go to the United States to "sign on the dotted line," yet he will be glad to discuss proposals for the settlement of the French war debt. No one expected France to send a mission here to receive a financial ultimatum. Many times, both directly and indirectly, the American Government has made it clear that it will readily discuss any bona fide plan which begins by admitting the validity of the debts. It would seem that the French Government has not yet completely understood this point and still clings to the fond illusion that it can induce the American Government and people to accept the theory that the debts are "political" and so not binding.

America under no circumstances will consent to repudiation or cancellation, but will sympathetically consider terms of payment that take full account of France's financial burdens. To bring up the arguments of services rendered and of sacrifices made in the war would merely bring on a debate interminable and unprofitable. For what France did and suffered in the war every American has only the profoundest admiration. All this can never be measured in dollars. The mere suggestion is as offensive to the American mind as would be the proposal that a money valuation be placed on the life of every man who died in the war. That the United States owes much to France's army is indisputable. But France also profited from the war efforts of the United States. Who can accurately estimate these respective contributions and strike a balance?

M. Caillaux has not indicated the nature of the proposals which he would like to make. It may be that he is suffering from what the French call a "bad press." The dispatches report that he will come to this country only if France is to be treated as an "equal" and not as a debtor in default. But what reason is there to suppose that France will not be received at Washington as an equal? To be sure, France has made no payment of interest or principal on a debt contracted eight years ago. But there has been no indication of any desire on the part of the American Government to arraign her as a debtor in default or to treat her with less consideration than other nations. As a matter of fact, the patience which our Government has shown in all this business has deserved more credit than it has received. When in January of this year it became evident that there was a concerted movement in France to persuade America to remit the French debt Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, one of France's most ardent supporters, urged the friends of France to warn her that "each day of delay in achieving a re"funding of that debt makes it more "difficult for those who would grant "leniency in terms to give that leni"ency which she needs." That remains true today.

SIFTING AND WINNOWING.

It is an ancient agricultural image that the students of one of the classes in the University of Wisconsin used in inscribing on its walls their faith in that institution. Fearless in "sifting and winnowing" they expected their Alma Mater ever to be. Whatever the trammels of inquiry might be elsewhere, at Wisconsin the truth would be sifted to the last grain, every scintilla of falsehood would be as the chaff which the wind driveth away in the winnowing. That has been a Wisconsin University tradition, established in its formative pioneer days, strengthened during the administration of that granitic geologist, Dr. Van Hise, and of that humanistic scientist, Dr. E. A. Birge. Nothing in Heaven or earth could swerve these men and the scholarship and teaching which they represented from trying to find the truth or from telling it if they found it.

Some thirty years ago, when Wisconsin was politically "stalwart," one of the professors was accused by the Superintendent of Public Instruction of being both a Socialist and an anarchist. This charge was made in a single sentence quite in ignorance of the fact that an anarchist and a Socialist are as remote from each other in their political theory as the two poles of a sphere. But though this professor was thought to be rather liberal in that then ultra-conservative environment, he remained to build up a great department and to make for himself a prominent place among the economists of the world. It was in his defense and exoneration that a resolution was adopted by the Board of Regents from which the students caught the words above quoted for their faith, wrote them in bronze and put them where they could be seen of all. Yet it is just such winnowing research as this eminent economist and teacher has been carrying on in the field of land economics that the policy of the Wisconsin Regents seems now to be discouraging, or even making impossible within the university. A few days ago they voted to refuse gifts from "incorporated endowments or organizations of like character," making exception only in the case of a gift which had already been accepted from the Rockefeller Foundation and in part spent for public-health work.

No one would urge the acceptance of such gifts if they had strings tied to them; but when they are given without other conditions than that they should be spent in research in some field or in all fields, or in sifting and winnowing what is gathered, they should be welcomed. Is "fundamental democracy," so precious to the widely known Regent of "Friendship Village," Zona Gale, really imperiled when individuals are ready to give in order to help the community to add to its comfort and improve its health, or in other ways to make themselves serve the good of a whole commonwealth?

The cooperation of Foundations which have made it possible for hundreds of teachers to live comfortably after the years of their work, or have given for the prevention of disease, the stamping out of a plague or the extermination of a pest, or have endowed laboratories for inquiry into the heavens, the earth or the waters under the earth, and established libraries for study, ought to be sought instead of scorned by a democracy. Through their aid much can be done in the way of investigation and experiment that a democracy is hesitant about doing out of its own treasury, or hasn't the means to do. What the Foundations can give is often the very machinery for sifting and winnowing the truth. To refuse their aid is not so much to discredit the Foundations as to show a want of faith in the university's own teachers.

NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS.

The last session of the New Jersey Legislature passed an amendment to the State Constitution making the term of office of Governor and Senators four years and that of Assemblymen two years. The effect of the proposal—if again approved by the Legislature and voted by the people—will be to intensify the effort of the Democratic Party to elect its State ticket in November. In Presidential years the Democrats run far behind at the polls, but in off years they often elect a Governor. A Republican victory this Fall would dash for many years the Democratic hope of having another Governor at Trenton. The Democratic Committee of Essex County has already expressed its view of the amendment:

> If it shall become a part of our Constitution, our Governors will be hereafter elected at the same time that we vote for a President of the United States. This mixing of State and national affairs is not proposed in the interests of the people.

It may be assumed that the Democrats will make a brisk campaign for their candidate for Governor, Commissioner A. Harry Moore of Jersey City. It is significant that the Essex County Democrats condemned Senator Arthur Whitney, the Republican candidate, for spending $42,000 to obtain the primary nomination. This declaration was made:

> The Republican nominee for Governor admits spending out of his own private fortune $42,000 to obtain the nomination. If such conduct should become the rule in the State, only our wealthiest citizens could hope for public office. Our Corrupt Practices act should prevent a candidate from contributing more than one-tenth of the expenses of his campaign.

Senator Whitney contributed nine-tenths. Fortunately for the Democrats, their candidate, A. Harry Moore, had no opposition in his own party and had to spend little to get the nomination. During the campaign New Jersey will resound with the charge that Senator Whitney owed his nomination to the free opening of his purse, while Mayor Hague's candidate will be pointed to as an example of severe Democratic virtue.

THE NEW POETRY.

Far beyond the flaming walls of the world the New Poetry makes its triumphant way. Something splendid, best to be appreciated, perhaps, by a later generation more capable of taking a critical view, less abjectly paralyzed by this procession of planets, this herd of meteors, is evident. At least we shall not look at these sudden glories of the firmament with the dull eyes of The Edinburgh Review, The Quarterly Review, The British Review of 125 years ago. Our proleptic friend, The Dial, is perhaps the best representative of this contemporary strong creative and original spirit. Its August number contains a poem by its editor, Mr. Scofield Thayer. "Dawn From a Railway Day Coach," written "en route Frankfort-Hamburg," might have been written just as well anywhere else at the same time of day. It shows us the New View of morning, seen from a stateroom. The squeak and chatter of the wheels, translated into flat but resonant feet, will only be heard more distinctly by those of us who have had the happiness to travel on that line. What is our golden friend doing? Gone is his gold:

> The nickeled orb Apollo
> Brays.
> The disarticulated limbs of life
> Assemble.
> And Time walks.

This novel "ambulatory specialty" of the least indulgent of fathers is grateful. If the musical effect attributed to our flowing-haired friend may be thought to suggest Midas and certain ears, not rightly to be judged by their length, the intent is clear. The omniscient god, from the no longer golden, from the nickeled "bar of heaven," sends forth the sound of instruments of brass and the concomitant thunders of his lightning. More is meant than meets the ear in these profundities of song. After the braying and the walking:

> Across lymphatic fields
> Tubercular.
> The heavens adulterate
> Crows blond.

Under those skeleton shadows the white blackbird struts up and down, with the gait so much admired by himself. The music of tramp spheres, beyond the ken of Plato, makes itself heard and finds the happiest of similes:

> And the immediate noise
> Of myriad such planets
> Wandering derelict,
> Like leagues on leagues of tolerantly > winding whales
> Not easily to be not,
> Against insensible light
> Sickens.

Beyond Herman Melville, who is beyond Homer, according to the just-judging moderns, the inspired passenger in the German day-coach reaches. Those successive three miles of "tolerantly winding whales" are food for many leagues of roaming thought; and in "not easily to be not" hasn't the New School spoken its as yet sublimest word? Yet the reader is not to be blamed for hesitation. Who can forget those loveliest lines of Miss Marianne Moore, Mr. Thayer's locum tenens in The Dial:

> It is a far cry from the "queen full > of jewels"
> and the bow with the muff, > from the gilt coach shaped like a > perfume bottle,
> to the conjunction of the Monongahela and the Allegheny, > and the scholastic philosophy of the > wilderness
> to combat which one must stand outside and laugh, > since to go in is to be lost.

Is "not easily to be not" more subtle and more braying than "to the "conjunction of the Monongahela and "the Allegheny"? It is for the elect to ponder a question so momentous. What we must all feel, in the awful presence of this pure poetry, is that it is a rare happiness to see these choice and master spirits,

> From vulgar bounds with brave disorder part,
> And snatch a grace beyond the reach > of art.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Airplanes Will Never Be "Fool-Proof."

Henry Ford, who almost always interests by what he has to say, made some remarks on the subject of airplanes while discussing the new enterprise which he has started. He declared that we need machines in which travel would be reasonably safe. He wants flying to be 90 per cent. plane and only 10 per cent. man, instead of the other way around, as it is now, in his opinion.

His implication that flying in machines heavier than air is dangerous at the present time will be denied with emphasis, both by airplane manufacturers and by experienced aviators, and they can present statistics in relation to passenger-miles traveled that show up fairly well in comparison with the automobile's record. These figures, however, are taken from carefully selected routes, such as the air mail service, and the fact remains that nearly every day is recorded the death or injury of an aviator.

Mr. Ford aspires to make a "fool-proof airplane," but that, in all probability, is beyond even the mechanical genius of the many engineers whom he keeps tethered in and around his many factories. And it is not necessary that airplanes should be fool-proof. Men of skill and with mental and muscular reactions adapted to meeting the exigencies of motion in three dimensions always will be available, and they will be content if there are provided for them engines thoroughly trustworthy, wings that never crumple, and gasoline tanks that do not explode in any circumstances.

That is asking much, but it would be far from making an airplane fool-proof. What is? It would be hard to mention a single thing in this world deserving of that decidedly dubious compliment.

A "Trouble" of a New Sort.

Talk of a strike by radio listeners-in is decidedly amusing, for there is nothing that they can do to enforce their wishes or express their resentments except to refuse to tune for reception from one or more stations, and they would have to be at some trouble even to let the station managers know of their stern action. There is such talk in Chicago, however, and it seems to be serious.

The grievance of the enthusiasts there is that while the stations in what the Chicagoans call the "metropolitan district" observe one "silent night" each week, so that there may be no interference with the efforts of their patrons to get "distance," the stations not far out seize the opportunity to make themselves heard by the city folk. The latter now say that they will refuse to listen to the recalcitrants, and as the near-by stations will not be working on those nights, and they cannot hear the remote ones, they will inflict on themselves the dreadful tedium of an evening without radio.

It is a fact, however, that the existence of a sending station depends on having listeners. But such a boycott as that proposed in Chicago would be one extremely hard to enforce, and there would be equal difficulty in determining whether or not the strikers were faithful to their vows. The members of radio audiences are so widely scattered that they cannot be disciplined and treason cannot be punished or even discovered.

And the fact is that among radio listeners the distance hunters are comparatively few among those who have been hearing from "the air" for more than a short time and have learned where they can get what they like and want. The veterans, as a rule, patronize a very small number of stations—those that for their machines "come in" best; and many have a single favorite and rarely seek elsewhere for amusement or edification.

They Could Teach Us a Lot.

Strange, indeed, for New Yorkers, are the statements made in a letter from one of them who has been traveling out on the Pacific Coast. He has a particular interest in city parks, and always, when away from home, notices with care those he comes across—what the municipal authorities do for their maintenance and how the people treat them. It was while he was in Spokane, Wash., that he found himself particularly impressed by the difference between what he saw there and what he remembers having seen here. He had his first shock in a park of ninety acres which is part botanical and part zoological in its specialization and contains a large picnic grove. This is what the visitor says about it:

> It was well patronized yesterday [Sunday], but I did not see a single piece of paper on the lawns. They are all in beautiful condition, though they are not fenced off and nobody is warned to keep off the grass by those ugly signs which are repulsive to the American spirit of liberty. And the grass had been dependent on irrigation since May!
> Spokane, by the way, boasts of a park or playground within five minutes' walking distance of any house in the city. Nearly every playground is provided with wading or swimming pools, and there is plenty of equipment for the children's games and sports. They are the most orderly children I have seen anywhere, too, and one of the judges who handles juvenile cases tells me that there is less delinquency among the young in Spokane than in any other city in the country. New York could learn a great deal from some of these younger, progressive Western cities, but New York never likes to be told.

There is praise of which Spokane well may be proud, for the writer of the letter knows New York thoroughly and has lived here long.

He Did Not Look Long Enough.

Parisian journalists are having their fun with the "New Gascony" which is reported to be rising in the Bay of Biscay, and with the Sargasso Sea, which Mr. Beebe recently was so unfeeling as to declare a myth. It is not for people on this side of the water to decide about a change in sea level far away, but soundings are soundings, and when made by seamen they usually are correct. The Sargasso Sea, however, has been a world-possession for some hundreds of years, and it is not to be given up without a protest, merely because Mr. Beebe didn't find any aggregation of old deserted ships where legend puts them.

Let that pass and the old ships be given up, but he should remember that an aggregation of weeds of little account to the Arcturus might have been a serious obstruction to the little sailing ships of other days, and so great are the expanses of gulf weed, sometimes, in that part of the ocean, that the ancient mariners were quite excusable for saying that it was a bad place for navigators. If they exaggerated a little, that was their professional privilege, well recognized always.

With luck, a good enough Sargasso Sea can be found in that region any year while voyaging there.

Billboard Advertising.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to comment on your article, "A Ban Put on the Billboards," on the State of Maine passing a law which will put an end to all highway advertising in that State.

I agree with you, it is a piece of foolish legislation. Advertisement on billboards is the silent eloquence, through the optical illumination, of the virtue of all things salable. It may mar the verdure green of the valleys and hilltops of the country.

The question of the landowner is not one of scenic beauty, but revenue only, and for that reason the Legislature of the State of New York has given the question of billboard advertisement serious study.

So to curb this sort of advertisement it is proposed to levy a State tax for the support of Government. The power to tax is the power to destroy. In accordance with this view, I introduced in the Assembly this year a bill (No. 569, Int. 566) to accomplish this result. It was estimated by the Davenport Committee on Taxation that a revenue of $10,000,000 could be raised on taxing outdoor advertising, which now escapes taxation.

Freaks Not Natives of Dayton.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I observe with regret that in today's Times my little talk of yesterday at the Delta Upsilon Club was misinterpreted in several particulars with rather unfortunate results.

In speaking of the colorful concourse of people at Dayton, I said that "Dayton was full of freaks," meaning that all sorts of queer people had been attracted there by the trial. Your reporter understood it that I "referred to the natives of Dayton as freaks," which I did not do. The residents of Dayton are very fine people and I liked them personally as much as I disagreed with most of them theologically.

Again I am quoted as saying that "Judge Raulston is a Fundamentalist minister." What I did say was that the Judge had preached at a revival meeting in Dayton. If I had known that a reporter was taking down my words, I would have explained the fact that not only ministers but also laymen preach in some denominations.

CHRYSALIS.

The golden ramparts of the day
Are falling in the west—
Are crumbling into sunset fire,
With singing flame possessed.
The fragrant cedar and the mint
Embroidering the wind
Entice the dulcet-throated dove
To where the night is lined.

I've lived in cramped-up quarters now
Till I'm afraid of air—
Until the tendency of space
Is but to numb and scare;
When beauty overpowers me
And shakes me like a leaf,
Then harvested emotions break
And scatter from their sheaf!

For whither is our destiny,
And what does Fate withhold
To quench enthusiasm's glow
Before the story's told?
Why worry if we live or die?
It's something new to learn!
Why puzzle where the road may lead?—
We go around the turn!

The sky, whose star-sung melody
Blends ages in its being,
Remains aloof, immaculate,
All kindly, but unseeing!
We cannot quit the trammeled earth.
We cannot cleave the sky.
We have to walk and be content—
We've yet to learn to fly!

WORLD COURT AND ADVISORY OPINION.

The Court's Statute Cited Against Senator Pepper's Contention That Decisions Can Ever Be Secret.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Senator Pepper's recent public statement that the new plan to be presented to the next Senate will provide for our joining the World Court on condition that the forty-eight nations now supporting the Court will agree to a new "provision that there shall be no secret and advisory opinions, except under well-defined conditions," makes timely a consideration of the law and of the official Court rules which bind the World Court.

The World Court is established by a statute or law which is an international treaty. Article 58 of that international statute or law establishing the existing World Court states:

> The judgment shall be signed by the President and by the Registrar. It shall be read in open court, due notice having been given to the agents.

Are decisions or opinions read in open court secret opinions? Article 30 of the statue establishing the existing World Court provides:

> The Court shall frame rules for regulating its procedure. In particular it shall lay down rules for summary procedure.

Senator Pepper's mention of "secret and advisory" opinions makes it of interest to read what rules of procedure the Court has framed for its procedure when it is asked for "advisory" opinions. The Court has adopted four rules covering these opinions. These rules follow:

> Article 71—Advisory opinions shall be given after deliberation by the full Court. The opinions of dissenting judges may, at their request, be attached to the opinions of the Court.
> Article 72—Questions upon which the advisory opinion of the Court is asked shall be laid before the Court by means of a written request, signed either by the President of the Assembly or the President of the Council of the League of Nations, or by the Secretary General of the League under instructions from the Assembly or the Council. The request shall contain an exact statement of the question upon which an opinion is required, and shall be accompanied by all documents likely to throw light upon the question.
> Article 73—The Registrar shall forthwith give notice of the request for an advisory opinion to the members of the Court, and to the members of the League of Nations, through the Secretary General of the League, and to the States mentioned in the annex to the covenant. Notice of such request shall also be given to any international organizations which are likely to be able to furnish information on the question.
> Article 74—Any advisory opinion which may be given by the Court and the request in response to which it was given shall be printed and published in a special collection for which the Registrar shall be responsible.

Will any fair-minded reader, will any lawyer be able to find in those official rules of the World Court as to advisory opinions anything to justify the suggestion that they may be given in "secret"?

Will Senator Pepper or any other member of the Senate rise in the next Senate and declare that even though the United States has not joined the League, this Government was not advised by the World Court upon each and every occasion when it was asked for an advisory opinion? In other words, will any Senator now objecting to so-called "secret opinions" feel justified in saying that the existing World Court does not notify practically the entire world as soon as it is even asked for an advisory opinion? Is there any measure of "secrecy" in such a procedure?

Article 62 of the statute establishing the existing World Court reads:

> Should a State consider that it has an interest of a legal nature which may be affected by the decision in the case, it may submit a request to the Court to be permitted to intervene as a third party. It will be for the Court to decide upon this request.

Article 63 of this same statute establishing the existing World Court reads even more definitely, as follows:

> Whenever the construction of a convention to which States other than those concerned in the case are parties is in question, the Registrar shall notify all such States forthwith. Every State so notified has the right to intervene in the proceedings; but if it uses this right, the construction given by the judgment will be equally binding upon it.

By those articles even the layman can see and understand that the Court is bound not only to permit any nation to come before it and be heard when there is before the Court any possibility of its decision affecting any of its rights or interests, but through its Registrar to notify any State when such a case has been brought before the Court.

Mr. Pepper is senior United States Senator from Pennsylvania. The people of this State were the first to avail themselves of the opportunities of an international court to settle a dispute that had actually called forth armed men. In 1782, when there was no United States Supreme Court, when there was nothing but the Articles of Confederation to bind the thirteen Colonies, the people of Connecticut and of Pennsylvania had taken up arms over the matter of lands in what is now Northwestern Pennsylvania. Suddenly, however, the people of Pennsylvania surprised all the thirteen Colonies by asking that the dispute be referred to the court provided for by the Articles of Confederation. The court settled the dispute and made it possible for the Secretary of Foreign Affairs of the Confederation to write to Lafayette, then in France:

> It is a singular event. There are few instances of independent States submitting their cause to a court of justice. The day will come when all disputes in the great republic of Europe will be tried in the same way, and America will be quoted to exemplify the wisdom of the measure.

It will be noted that Rule 73 of the existing World Court, quoted before, provides that when the court is asked for an advisory opinion, "notice of such request shall also be given to any international organizations which are likely to be able to furnish information on the question."

Will it not be a fair assumption that the societies of international law in each of the countries of the world, but more especially the most world famous of these assemblages of nationally known and trusted jurists, would be considered when it is a question as to what national or international organizations might be able to assist the Judges of the World Court? However this question may be answered, Senator Pepper has the distinction of being ever able to keep in mind the fact that the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, an organization made possible by the far-sighted generosity of a distinguished citizen of Senator Pepper's own State, for the past fifteen years has financed and very materially supported the Society of International Law in practically every nation of the world.

It may be, of course, that some of Senator Pepper's colleagues do not believe that "we are ready to yield" anything in order to have a real World Court! It is interesting to know that on the day the press dispatches were carrying this latest public statement by Senator Pepper I received a long letter from Professor Manley O. Hudson, Bemis Professor of International Law at Harvard, now at Geneva, and that Professor Hudson felt justified in writing:

> I have consulted many people about the proposal of Senators and others in the United States that the advisory opinions of the Court be abolished. The unanimous opinion which I have found is to the effect that this would constitute a very unfortunate and backward step. It is only in small circles in America that the Court is viewed as the legal adviser to the Council of the League. In Europe, among all the people I have met, the advisory opinions are looked upon as a necessary exercise of the judicial function, and most people find it difficult to envisage the successful working of the League's machinery for the pacific settlement of disputes without this aid. I am satisfied from what I have learned that the various Governments would be unwilling to give up this function of the Court, and most of the people with whom I have talked find it wholly impossible to understand why there should be any such tendency in that direction in America.

HOMES FOR AGED POOR.

St. Johnland Carries on Work Urged by a Recent Writer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent number of The New York Times one of your correspondents, M. T. B., described the need for refined homes for aged men and women and old couples, such homes to be free from the evils which characterize institutions for such people.

I happen to be President of an institution on Long Island called the Society of St. Johnland, located at Kings Park. Your correspondent depicts exactly the conditions which prevail at this institution. The society owns a large tract of land, 500 acres in extent, situated on the Sound and having a shore front of about one mile. Each class mentioned by your correspondent—old men, old women and aged couples—have cottages independent of others. The institution rejoices in a superintendent who is a woman of splendid ability and inspires all the inmates with love and admiration.

In addition to the old people, there are 100 boys and girls who are educated in a school maintained by the society. The graduates from this school are admitted on certificate to all the high schools in the City of New York. The association of the young and the old is most helpful. The old people take the greatest interest in the sports and pleasures of the young people, and the young people, under the influence exercised by the superintendent and her assistants, show respect due to old age.

The forty-five miles separating the institution from New York and Brooklyn prevents in large measure a knowledge of what is done at this place. If some wealthy people knew what this society was doing, I am sure that we should no longer suffer, as we have done, from lack of means. The society charges a moderate amount to those who enjoy its privileges, but this amount is not sufficient to cover the actual cost of maintenance of the inmates. Everybody who goes to St. Johnland is struck with the happy faces of the children and the contented looks of the old men and women. I can only say that every point discussed by your correspondent is illustrated at St. Johnland.

In Defense of Central Park.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is something more than a local interest in the preservation of Central Park, as indicated in the story in The New York Times of this date, "Fight Use of Park for Subway Work."

I was shocked when I read this account of the proposed destruction of this park and the fight that was being made to preserve its natural beauties.

My home is in St. Louis, and I am here attending to business, but I speak as a former resident of New York, where for many years I enjoyed going to this great breathing space and where I drive whenever I have time on my visits to this city.

I speak also from a national standpoint and as a citizen of the United States, feeling that this great historical park belongs in a great degree to the country as a whole, and I further believe that former residents of New York who have gone to different parts of the country to live, if they knew that there was a possibility of cutting down the elms and other trees and that there was a possibility in any other way of destroying any of its natural beauties, would protest as I am doing.

New York has fewer parks, as it is, for the people than almost any other city in this country in proportion to its size and its needs. It has been the parks and the many playgrounds that have created a spirit of love for the outdoors among St. Louis citizens, developing an atmosphere which has made it possible to erect in our wonderful natural Forest Park a "Municipal Theatre" which is the talk of the world.

Canadian Paper Money.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is an error in your Washington dispatch appearing in the Sunday issue, Section 2, of Aug 2, which refers to the efforts of the Federal Efficiency Bureau to economize in paper money.

The statement is made that "In Canada the smallest piece of paper money in use is a ten-shilling bill, which is worth a little more than the two-dollar bill."

There is no such thing as a ten-shilling bill in use in Canada. The smallest denomination of paper money is 25 cents, still known as the "shinplaster." The upper range of paper money in use in the Dominion is $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000. The latter denomination is not negotiable by the public, its use being confined to the banks.

BARONET'S TROTH TO MISS GRACE BROKEN

Sir Michael Bruce, Fiance of Bethlehem Steel Head's Daughter, to Wed English Girl.

SURPRISES LONDON SOCIETY

No Announcement Made of Severed Engagement—War Veteran's Third Decision to Marry.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Sir Michael Bruce, eleventh Baronet and descendant of Robert Bruce, King of Scotland, whose engagement was announced last December to Miss Emmeline Grace of New York, daughter of Eugene Gifford Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, caused a mild sensation in London society today when it was learned he would quietly be married tomorrow to Miss Doreen Balziel Greenwell of Cheltenham, England.

So far as London society knew, no announcement was ever made that Miss Grace's engagement to the Baronet was broken, but close friends of Bruce said today that it had been broken off some time ago, but nothing was said about it publicly.

This is the Baronet's third decision to get married, his first engagement being published in 1918. He then said he would marry Miss Audrey Bentham, a Gaiety Theatre actress, but the marriage never took place. She is now the wife of Fred Thompson, dramatist and author.

A brother of the Baronet, Nigel Bruce, an actor who is playing in a London revue, described Miss Greenwell as "21, very pretty, a keen sportswoman and the daughter of a Colonel, with whom she lives." The Baronet is a big game hunter and has had an adventurous life. He fought in German East Africa, Turkey and France during the war, and is the author of two books.

The engagement of Miss Grace to Captain Sir Michael Bruce was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gifford Grace, at a small gathering at their home in Bethlehem, Pa., on Dec. 20, 1924. Mr. Grace is President of the Bethlehem Steel Company and maintains an apartment for his family in this city at the Plaza.

Miss Grace, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grace, was graduated from the Westover School, Middlebury, Conn., in 1922. She was introduced at a dance in Philadelphia on Dec. 8 the same year. She spent last Summer traveling in Europe.

Captain Sir Michael Bruce was educated at The Grange, Abington, England. After leaving school he was commissioned in the British South African force, and later commanded an outpost on the Portuguese East African border. At the outbreak of the World War he was ordered to the Western front. He served in the Royal Regiment of Artillery in Palestine and Gallipoli. He was invalided to England after the Gallipoli campaign, and later was severely wounded in France.

After the war he joined the firm of Sir John Norton Griffiths, M. P., as assistant engineer on their construction work in Ceara Province, Brazil.

The family of Bruce is traced directly back to the year 721. The present title was created in 1629, when Sir William Bruce became Baronet of Nova Scotia. Sir Michael is a direct descendant of Robert Bruce, King of Scotland. He succeeded to his title in 1912, on the death of his father, Sir William Walter Bruce, who was Lord Lieutenant of Middlesex.

No public announcement has been made that the engagement of the couple had been broken.

Mr. Butler belongs to a well-known English family and was Captain in the Royal Field Artillery.

Sir George Lloyd, the High Commissioner of Egypt, and the Sudan, is Mr. Butler's cousin. Dr. Lee was formerly the President of St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y. The actor will start work tomorrow on the picture "Irish Luck."

STRAUS, HOME AGAIN, IS HONORED AT PIER

State Senator Receives a Loving Cup as He Arrives on Mauretania.

ENTHUSIASTIC ON WALKER

Declares Tammany Candidate Is of the Smith Type and Will Make a Great Mayor.

When the Cunarder Mauretania was made fast yesterday morning to her pier at the foot of West Thirteenth Street one of the first passengers to come down the gangway was State Senator Nathan Straus Jr. of the Fifteenth District, who had made a trip to Europe with Mrs. Straus. He was met at the pier by a delegation of prominent citizens headed by George Gordon Battle and Senator James J. Walker, candidate for Mayor on the Tammany ticket. Music was furnished by the band from the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society as Mr. Straus walked up the pier between Senator Walker and Mr. Battle to the waiting room on Pier 56, where a silver loving cup two feet high was presented to him.

Mr. Battle, in his speech before presenting the cup, declared that Mr. Straus was a worthy son to carry on his father's philanthropies. Senator Walker said "If it were not for friends and colleague, such as I found in Nathan Straus Jr. in Albany, I would not be mentioned as I have been in the press for the past twenty hours."

In speaking with the reporters, Mr. Straus said that he regarded Senator Walker as his closest friend and his political godfather.

"Next to my brother," he continued, "there is no man for whom I hold greater affection and loyalty. Naturally I would support him for whatever office he might aspire.

Says Walker Resembles Smith.

"He is qualified for the Mayoralty because he has had tremendous political experience and has the gift of inspiring loyalty. That is the gift of leadership without which no man can progress politically. Walker is a kindred spirit to Governor Smith. They are men of the same fine qualities and public appeal. There is no better man for Mayor of New York than James J. Walker."

While abroad Senator Straus visited the Straus potteries at Rudolstadt, which his father established forty-two years ago, and then made a tour through Germany, France, Switzerland and England.

Another passenger on the Mauretania was the Earl of Airlie, accompanied by the Countess, who will stop here a few days and then go to Mexico.

H. E. Dice, President of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, and Sir Malcolm Robertson, British Minister to Argentina, also were passengers.

NEW MOTOR AND FUEL UNHEARD OF IN TRADES

General Motors and Standard Oil Presidents Deny Los Angeles Reports of Inventions.

Denial of dispatches from the Pacific Coast of the discovery of a new motor and a new synthetic fuel, which would revolutionize the automobile industry, was made yesterday by the General Motors Corporation and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The announcement of the discoveries was said to have been made before the annual convention of the American Chemical Society at Los Angeles by Dr. T. A. Boyd of the General Motors Research Department, who was quoted as saying that the new engine was the most powerful of its type ever devised and that the fuel would yield fifty miles to the gallon.

Alfred T. Sloan Jr., President of the General Motors Corporation, made the following statement yesterday:

"My attention has been called to recent statements in the public press relative to revolutionary inventions in the way of a new type of automobile or new motor fuel, or something else new and radical. These reports are ridiculous on their face, for General Motors has recently announced a new series of cars which should be a sufficient answer. In addition to this there is absolutely nothing to form even the lightest foundation for such statements."

Walter C. Teagle, President of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said:

"In so far as it refers to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey there is no basis in fact for the dispatch from Los Angeles, appearing in the public press, to the effect that this company is one of a group of leading motor and petroleum firms which are to place on the market a brand of synthetic gasoline."

APPROVE WASHBURN AWARD

Austrian Papers Like Minister's Arbitration With Yugoslavia.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 7.—Austrian newspapers today praise the American Minister, Albert P. Washburn, for his successful handling of the difficult international arbitration case, which has been pending over two years, in serving as Chairman of the Commission of Arbitration between Austria and Yugoslavia, in cases arising from the post-war commercial chaos.

After the collapse of the Austrian Empire, when trade was completely disorganized and currencies were tottering, the Succession States regulated business relations with each other by various experiments.

The first expedient of exchanging one trainload of goods for another of equal value was tried and then abandoned as impracticable.

Then the States agreed to permit the import and export of given quantities of specified products within fixed periods. The underlying idea was the barter of goods for goods to eliminate so far as possible the actual remittance of cash. This was necessitated by the topsy-turvy currency conditions.

The number of differences which arose out of this post-war barter period had to be settled by arbitration. A commission was appointed, consisting of one Austrian and one Yugoslav member, with Mr. Washburn as Chairman.

After two years of proceedings the written judgments of Mr. Washburn have been accepted by both delegates. The compromises, while partly recognizing some claims of the other side, on the whole are favorable to Austria.

COMMONS ADJOURNS, MEMBERS RUSH AWAY

McNeill Defends Government's Attitude Toward the Soviet in the Closing Hours.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Before adjourning this evening until Nov. 16 the House of Commons took up the thorny questions of British and Russian relations and the Chinese troubles.

Answering Mr. Ponsonby, member for Sheffield, who deplored the "estrangement" between Great Britain and Russia and asked for information regarding the situation in China, the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. McNeill, speaking for the Government, remarked, amid laughter, that Mr. Ponsonby was suffering from "the Soviet complex."

Mr. McNeill defended the Government's coldness toward the Moscow Government, whom he called "the greatest defaulters in modern history," since they had repudiated obligations entered into on behalf of their country. It would be unlikely, he continued, that any commercial nation would do much business with the Soviet Government so long as the latter maintained its present policy.

Turning to China Mr. McNeill declared that Russian propaganda was making trouble for other European nations there. He denied the accusation that the British Government had "supine inertia," on the Chinese question, and expressed the hope that the coming conference of the powers regarding Chinese tariff revision and extraterritoriality would be beneficial to China and Great Britain.

Soon after Mr. McNeill's speech came adjournment of the House. Most of the members will lose no time in kicking the dust of London from their feet. Many will go northward for shooting, fishing and deer stalking, their exodus coinciding with a similar exodus of the last cohorts of society from London.

Premier Baldwin, who is an extremely tired man, left tonight for his home at Bewdley, where he will try to get some rest before resuming his strenuous duties. Lloyd George, who has been in the limelight again the last few days, with something like his old-time brilliant oratory, will rest at Criccieth, his home on the Welsh coast.

One of the few exceptions to the general flitting is Austen Chamberlain, who remains in London over the week-end awaiting the French Foreign Minister, M. Briand, who is expected here early next week. As soon as possible after tackling with M. Briand the knotty problems confronting England and France Mr. Chamberlain will dash off to the Continent and visit France and Switzerland.

Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, intends to sail within a few weeks for Canada. It is stated here that he will not include the United States in his transatlantic visit, but he may change his mind.

So great is the rush of members of Parliament and others northward that eight special trains composed entirely of sleeping cars left here tonight packed to capacity with those who are going to shoot grouse on Scottish moors, fish in Scotland's salmon streams or stalk Scotch deer.

PAN-GERMANS SCORN THE REPUBLICAN FETE

Call It 'Constitutional Honkytonk' and Criticize the League's Use of the Flag.

By LINCOLN EYRE.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The annual celebration of the founding of the German republic seems destined to revive both the controversy over the national flag and the pan-Germanist movement. It also may witness at Munich President von Hindenburg's first contact with deposed German royalty in the person of former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who is slated to participate in some of the ceremonies incident to the Chief of State's visit there on Wednesday, the day after the official anniversary of the signing of the Weimar Constitution.

Just what part Bavaria's uncrowned King will play in his country's welcome to his war-time army commander cannot be ascertained. Considerable reticence is being manifested in governmental quarters.

Since Hindenburg's advent he has not been formally associated with the celebration of the republic. However Prince Rupprecht is expected to be as much to the fore as he usually is in Munich festivities.

It is also rumored that General Ludendorff will seize the occasion to pay his respects to his former associate in the imperial high command. This seems less likely, however, the President thus far having refused to have any dealings whatever with the ultra-reactionary chieftain since his accession to republican power.

It is the Republican militants, represented by the Reich's Banner Black, Red and Gold League, who curiously enough, are sounding the Pan-German note in their celebration of the Republic's birthday. Their program starts tomorrow with a reception to a large contingent of Austrians, arriving here to take part in the "Bigger Germany" demonstrations to be held all over Berlin on Sunday.

Scores of prominent speakers will address Republican mass meetings on the proposed union of Germany and Austria. This rather takes the wind out of the monarchistic Pan-German's sails. Nevertheless they have started a violent agitation against the display of the Republican colors decreed by both national and Prussian authorities.

Despite President von Hindenburg's formal participation in the Reichstag ceremony commemorating the Weimar Constitution on Tuesday, the Nationalist newspaper, Lokal Anzeiger, under the heading, "Constitutional Honkytonk," caustically observes:

"It is necessary to work with the Weimar Constitution because it is all we have, but there is no ground for holding joy feasts about it or its authors."

Socialist Vorwärts inquires whether the State banquet to be given by von Hindenburg after the Reichstag celebrations will be deemed part of the "Honkytonk."

The President leaves for Munich immediately after the banquet.

FORD PLANS BIG OUTPUT FROM AIRPLANE PLANT

Production of Newly Purchased Stout Metal Concern Will Be Much Increased.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 7.—The Ford Motor Company, just announced as the purchaser of the Stout Metal Airplane Company, will begin production of metal planes on a larger scale than was followed under the old organization, it was announced today.

For the preferred capital stock the Fords paid at the rate of two for one, it was reported. The capitalization was $300,000, but from $50,000 to $100,000 remained unsubscribed. The price paid by the Fords would therefore be $400,000 to $500,000.

The transfer also involved 90,000 shares of common stock of no par value held by William B. Stout and his immediate associates. The amount paid for this stock has not been revealed.

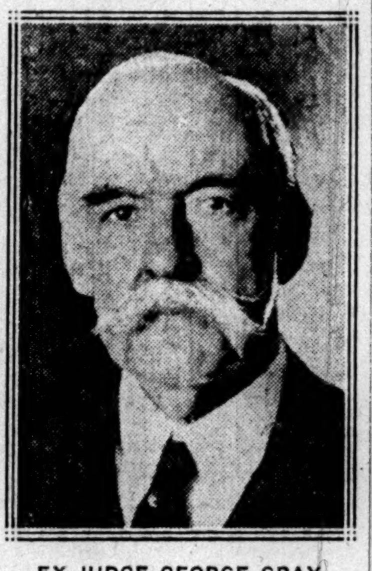
EX-JUDGE GEO. GRAY OF DELAWARE DIES

Former Senator and Jurist of U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, 85, Long Fought Death.

FAMOUS AS ARBITRATOR

Served on Court at The Hague and Helped Negotiate Peace Treaty With Spain—A Democratic Leader.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 7 (AP).—George Gray, one of Delaware's most distinguished citizens, died today after an extended illness. The end came at 4:15 P. M. He was a former United States Senator from Delaware, a retired Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and a number of times had been mentioned as the Democratic candidate for President. He was 85 years old.



EX-JUDGE GEORGE GRAY.
Former U. S. Senator From Delaware, Who Died Yesterday at 85 Years.

Judge Gray's long fight with death formed one of the most remarkable incidents of his long career. He was a man of fine physique, tall and perfectly formed and of commanding presence. His health, at all times sustained by careful living, unexceptionable habits and ample rest periods between his many experiences with exacting labor, had always been of the best, and no serious illness had disturbed him throughout his long life, until the early days of this year.

The change in health came on Jan. 2 of this year, when he was seized at his law office with a cold and chill. He retired to his home and that night symptoms of pneumonia appeared and rapidly developed. Heart weakness and other complications followed and his condition became alarming.

For several weeks his death was expected at any time, but later there were indications of returning strength. He recovered slowly, but steadily, to the surprise of physicians and friends, and was able to be about the house and receive visitors. During the last two or three weeks he was able to take short automobile trips each afternoon.

On Tuesday last Judge Gray was attacked by the grip, and his heart action became so weak that death once more was regarded as but a matter of hours.

Funeral services will be held at his late home on Monday at 1:15 P. M. Interment will be in New Castle.

A Native of Delaware.

Ex-Judge George Gray, former United States Senator, delegate to three Democratic National Conventions and one of the four American members of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague, was 85 years old, having been born in New Castle, Del., in 1840.

Judge Gray was for years one of the dominant figures in the Democratic Party. Until his retirement from active participation in politics he was looked upon by Democrats and Republicans alike as one of the strong men of the country. It is noteworthy that of the many honors that came to him as many were bestowed by Republicans as by Democrats. He was three times elected United States Senator and in the fourteen years he served—1885 to 1899—he was one of the acknowledged leaders of the Senate, and was one of the senior Democratic members of the Committee on Foreign Relations in the exciting times preceding and during the Spanish War.

Judge Gray was Attorney General of Delaware when he was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the late Thomas F. Bayard, who gave up the office to become Secretary of State in the first of Grover Cleveland's Cabinets. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention of 1876 at St. Louis, at which Samuel J. Tilden was nominated for the Presidency and for more than twenty years thereafter was a prominent figure in all the national conventions of his party.

Many times his name was among those suggested for the Presidential nomination. Judge Gray was a Cleveland Democrat and along with Cleveland, Palmer and other distinguished Democrats of that day bolted the Bryan ticket of 1896 and supported Palmer and Buckner, the nominees of the gold standard wing of the Democracy. In 1898 President McKinley, who held the Delaware statesman in the highest regard, appointed Senator Gray, one of the Americans to compose differences between Canada and the United States. This commission met in August, 1898.

Helped Draw Treaty With Spain.

A few weeks later President McKinley again sent for Judge Gray and asked him to go to Paris as one of the American commissioners to negotiate a treaty of peace with Spain. Judge Gray accepted and was one of the outstanding figures in negotiating the treaty of Paris.

Shortly after his return to the United States President McKinley again honored the Delaware Senator by appointing him a Judge of the United States Circuit Court and in 1900 McKinley named Judge Gray to be a member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague, a position to which he was reappointed by President Roosevelt in 1906.

In the great Pennsylvania coal strike of 1902 President Roosevelt again availed himself of the services of Judge Gray and named him Chairman of the commission which was appointed by the President to bring an end to that famous conflict between capital and labor. One of Mr. Roosevelt's last acts as President—in January, 1909—was to make Judge Gray an arbitrator in the North Atlantic Coast Fisheries Arbitration which had been arrived at under a special agreement entered into by the British and American Governments.

Had Many Other Honors.

Many other honors came to Judge Gray, among them the chairmanship of the United States delegation to the Pan-American Scientific Congress and by appointment of President Wilson a member of the American-Mexican Commission of 1916. For years he had been a regent of the Smithsonian Institution and a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

In his capacity as a member of the Hague Arbitration Tribunal to which he was appointed, Judge Gray was invited by the Council of the League of Nations in 1921 to propose the names of four persons as candidates for election as Judges of the International Court of Justice. This invitation was also issued at the same time to three other prominent Americans, Elihu Root, John Bassett Moore and Oscar S. Straus, each of whom served on the Arbitration Court at The Hague.

A stanch supporter of the League of Nations, Judge Gray nevertheless was especially emphatic in qualifying the plan when in 1920 he publicly condemned five of its reservations. Chief of these was Article X of the document which, by allowing Congress the power to repudiate the obligations of a treaty, might result in a violation which the Judge thought would probably furnish just cause for war.

Judge Gray was a graduate of Princeton of the class of 1859. He was twice married, the first time in 1870, to Harriet L. Black, and the second time, in 1882, to Margaret J. Black. For more than fifty years he was a member of the Delaware Bar Association and also for practically that entire period of the American Bar Association, in both of which he was for two generations an acknowledged leader.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Advance in Stocks Renewed, With Increased Activity—Money Only Steady.

The renewed advance on the Stock Exchange yesterday, which affected both industrial and railway shares and attained considerable scope in many of them, occurred simultaneously with a 6½-cent rise of wheat prices. It may have had some relation to the grain market movement; because, quite aside from any inferences as to the effect of the higher wheat prices on conditions in the grain belt, both markets showed the prevalence of a spirit of speculation and both have been apt to move together, whether upward or downward, throughout the present year. The stock market made some effort to connect its own movement with Thursday's reduction of the Bank of England's rate, and that action certainly went some distance toward disposing of the recurrent Wall Street "rumors" of a higher Reserve Bank rate. But neither the bond market nor the money market itself had given any evidence of a position which would have made a higher New York bank rate probable, and the inferences quite unanimously drawn from the lowering of the London bank rate merely confirm what experienced watchers of our own market have believed all along to be its natural tendency.

It will have to be admitted that yesterday's was one of those markets which were determined to put a favorable interpretation on anything and everything. At one moment the advance was declared to be "discounting" a favorable monthly statement of unfilled tonnage by the Steel Corporation; at another, the certainty of a decision for the Van Sweringen railway merger by the Interstate Commission, and the Stock Exchange really had no light on either of these matters.

But in its present mood, one may doubt whether the market would not have found some ground for cheerfulness if the unfilled orders and the commission's verdict had been given out yesterday, and had been opposite to the market's predictions. As it was, United States Steel shares rose 2⅛ points and shares of the "Nickel-Plate merger" companies 2 to 7 points, while at the same time, as might be supposed, the highly speculative industrial shares were bid up with equal violence by their professional guardians. There were comparatively few exceptions to the upward movement, though the scope of actual advances for the day varied widely, with fractional changes on the whole predominant.

Yesterday's rise to $1.60½ per bushel brought wheat for September delivery 17¼ cents above the closing price of a week ago, 43½ cents above the lowest April price, and within a cent of the highest price of the year. This comparison does not measure the present movement with the excited January market, because speculation then converged entirely on wheat deliveries from the crop of 1924, so that while "May wheat" then sold at $2.05⅞ on January 28, "September wheat" did not get above $1.58¾. Necessarily this means that the present advance is based on very different grounds from the January speculation.

The text for the upward movement then was that supplies between that time and the marketing of another crop were wholly inadequate to provide for the world's requirements. The picture has changed so completely with the arrival of the new harvest that, while Chicago is arguing that we shall have no surplus wheat to spare for Europe in the coming season, Liverpool replies that, along with a full Canadian crop, Europe itself has raised so much as to make it indifferent to a shortage in the United States. It is undoubtedly an interesting problem which this reversal of conditions from those of a year ago presents, and it remains to be seen whether the grain market speculators will be any more fortunate in their present effort to interpret it than they were with the problem of six months ago.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, AUG. 7, 1925.

Stock Exchange call money remained firm at 4¼ per cent. all day, but in the outside market a little loaned at 4 per cent. The feature of the time money market was the making of several small December loans at 4½ per cent. Brokers said that this was the first done at this rate on this movement, and though it had been the bid figure previously lenders were reluctant to make the accommodation until today. Otherwise the fixed period market was quiet and quotations for other maturities unchanged. Commercial paper and acceptances were moderately active at prevailing discounts.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Further Sharp Rise in Stock Prices in Another Active Market.

While sentiment in Stock Exchange circles after the close of business on Thursday had been much confused because of the irregular movement of prices, the stock market started with a strong tone, and many new high records for the year were established in all sections of the list, including the rails and industrials. At the close gains ranging from one to as much as eight points, were numerous, including representative issues, although there appeared to be a slowing down of the recent wild speculation in the listed utility issues. One of the outstanding developments of the day was the strength in the railroads and other standard issues, including the steels and equipment stocks. Railway shares gained from one to three points, with a substantial increase in the volume of business done in these stocks. Steel common was more active than on any day in months, and closed with a net gain of 2⅞ points for the day. Baldwin gained 2¼ points and American Locomotive 2⅛ points. The demand for steels and equipments was partly based on the theory that these industries are nearing the eve of a heavy buying movement from the railroads. Grain markets were firmer yesterday and money on call was quoted at 4¼ throughout the day.

Sales of Stocks Increase.

The trend of the volume on the Stock Exchange appears to be steadily upward. Sales yesterday were above the 1,500,000-share mark and a number of enthusiastic persons were to be found in Wall Street who predicted that before the present market is over there will be another long succession of "two-million-share days."

"Railway Merger Shares" in Demand.

There were several interesting movements in the railway shares yesterday—developments which were regarded as coinciding with the degree of confidence felt in financial quarters generally and in speculative circles certainly with regard to the twin factors of consolidations and the non-fettered policy looking toward bringing about those mergers most logical of consummation. The Van Sweringen merger stocks, Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley, Pere Marquette, Nickel Plate and Erie, were all remarkably strong, with the Chesapeake & Ohio, as the company most involved in recent opposition proceedings, selling at above 100 for the highest price in its history. Railroad shares, as a group, constituted close to half of the total volume of trading in stocks listed on the "big board." New York, Ontario & Western scored a rise of 2⅝ for the day on reports that New York Central's acquisition of control had virtually been concluded.

Signs of Business Expansion.

A definite reflection of the expanding business and commercial activity which has been forecast for some time is seen in this week's statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which reports an increase of more than $70,000,000 in bills discounted. Most observers see in this an indication that the current business situation is sound and that further favorable developments may be expected in the early Autumn months. The general belief is that money rates will rule firm until well into the Winter, but that ample funds will be available both for industrial purposes and in the stock market. One factor that received general attention yesterday was the probability that the Federal Reserve rediscount rate would remain unchanged indefinitely, as the reduction in the Bank of England discount rate stopped rumors that the New York rate might be advanced.

Contrasts in the Equipment Business.

If there is any disparity in the railway equipment business and the volume of business currently being reported by some of the equipment manufacturers, the fact may be traced without difficulty to the heavy purchases made by the railroads in the last two years or so. It was pointed out yesterday that the railways now have, generally speaking, an actual surplus of heavy equipment such as locomotive and cars, and recent statistics attest to a temporary cessation of the heavy outlays made for these items. July figures of locomotive shipments made public yesterday show a severe decline, which throws further light on the reason one of the largest locomotive producers reported a deficit after dividends for the six months ended June 30. By contrast, and in reflection of the New York Central's order for $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 of automatic train-control apparatus, General Railway Signal shares advanced yesterday over seven points.

New Bond Financing Slackens.

Several factors have contributed to the lessening of activity in new bond financing, which has become noticeable in the last few days. One reason lies in the relatively firm money rates and the expectation that they will continue under the increasing requirements of funds to care for the seasonal business expansion. The large volume of new issues for the last several months undoubtedly has caused considerable quantities of bonds to remain for the present unsold in the hands of dealers. While this has checked the haste that was apparent recently in bringing out new issues, a considerable volume of offerings is expected to continue, as many borrowers and underwriters continue to feel that it is wiser to accept the terms now available than to risk the necessity of paying higher interest later. Bond prices show a tendency to sag slightly, but there is still a good conservative investment demand which is seeking out bargains in the bond list.

An Estimate for the Railway Year.

Railway men seemed yesterday to regard as pretty definite the prospect, foreshadowed by the year's business to date, that the full year will establish earnings very close to the carriers' best previous earnings. Those were $1,040,000,000 in the calendar year 1916. However, the investment of the railroads at that time was approximately $6,500,000 less than it is now, and the situation in many other respects has changed considerably. Since April traffic has been well above that of 1924 and not far below that of 1923, it is believed that the period between April and September, which constituted a sag for the carriers last year, will supply the most encouraging increase in traffic for them this year, and consequently in earnings.

New High Record for the Averages.

The stock market averages yesterday established a new high record, advancing to 118.43 and closing at 118.07, with a net gain of .84 for the day. The peak compares with a previous high of 118.20 established last Wednesday. While the industrials continued their sharp upward swings yesterday, the railroads participated more in the upward movement than has been the case of late. This is shown by the individual averages, which record a gain of .84 for twenty-five rails and .83 for the same number of industrials. The industrial average reached a new high mark since this compilation was inaugurated in 1911 but the rail average also was within striking distance of the high point reached last Spring.

COPPER COMPANIES MAKE FAIR REPORTS

DUE TO LOWER PRICES

The Granby Consolidated, However, Exceeds Its Profits of the March Quarter.

The statement of earnings of two of the leading porphyry copper companies, Utah Copper and Nevada Consolidated, for the second quarter of 1925, show smaller profits than in the first quarter of the year, but substantial gains compared with the second quarter of 1924. The smaller profits for the June quarter were due chiefly to the lower prices for the metal. Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power reports an increase in profits compared with both the first quarter of the year and the second quarter of 1924.

Utah Copper Company for the June quarter reports operating profit of $2,343,443, against $2,764,500 in the first quarter and $1,956,008 in the second quarter last year. After crediting other income and allowing for depreciation reserves, but before depletion deductions, the company reported net income of $2,827,051 for the June quarter, equal to $1.74 a share earned on the $16,244,900 capital stock of $10 a share par value outstanding. This compares with net income of $3,121,404 reported in the first quarter of 1925, equal to $1.92 a share, and net income of $2,335,579 in the June quarter last year, equal to $1.43 a share. Earnings for the six months ended June 30 were equal to $3.66 a share, against $2.75 in the first half of 1924.

The company reports a total of 53,409,289 pounds of copper produced in the June quarter, against 53,708,682 pounds in the March quarter. The average cost of production for the June quarter was 8.4 cents a pound, while earnings were based upon an average selling price of 13.53 cents a pound. These figures compared with 8.6 cents and 14.27 cents respectively in the March quarter.

Nevada Consolidated reports net income of $533,417 for the June quarter, after taxes and depreciation reserves, but before depletion deductions. This was equal to 26 cents a share on the $9,997,285 stock of $5 a share par value outstanding. This compares with net income of $685,588, or 34 cents a share in the March quarter of this year, and net income of $355,921, or 18 cents a share in the June quarter last year. For the six months ended June 30 net income amounted to $1,219,005, equal to 60 cents a share, against $768,952, or 38 cents a share in the first half of 1924. Nevada Consolidated's cost of production averaged 10.99 cents a pound in the June quarter, against 10.89 cents a pound in the March quarter, while the average price obtained for copper was 13.51 cents, against 14.36 cents.

Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company reports net income of $269,861 for the June quarter, before depreciation and depletion reserves, against $195,960 in the March quarter, and $159,093 in the June quarter last year. For the six months ended June 30, 1925, net income before the same deductions amounted to $465,821, against $479,256 in the same period last year.

COPPER ADVANCES TO 14¾.

Active Demand Expected to Establish Market at That Level.

Copper metal was advanced to 14¾ cents in the local market yesterday, a gain of ⅛ cent a pound compared with Thursday's quotation. The current price is within ⅛ cent a pound of the highest price for 1925, recorded in January. Producers reported that small amounts were obtainable from second hands at 14⅝ cents, but if the demand continues active it is predicted that the market soon will be firmly established at 14¾ cents. Export prices also were firm, being quoted at 14.82½ cents c. i. f. European ports.

As a result of the recent advances, the American Brass Company, the leading manufacturing subsidiary of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, advanced prices of all copper and brass materials ¼ cent a pound.

The price of lead again was quoted officially at 8¾ cents a pound by the leading companies yesterday, including the American Smelting and Refining Company, but it was reported in the trade that premiums ranging from ¾ to 1 cent a pound were being paid for prompt delivery.

RUBBER VALUES FIRM.

Trade in Crude Product Is Light, With Prices Steady.

Crude rubber values held their own in a quiet session yesterday. Increased interest was noted in the distant positions and a small amount of business passed at levels which showed slight change from Thursday. Spot and nearby were dull, sellers maintaining a steady market there in keeping with the firmness in London, cables from abroad coming over at 43¼d. for spot, and 43d. for August.

WEEK'S BOND ISSUES TOTAL $74,378,000

Decrease of $6,000,000 From Week Before Due Partly to Seasonal Slackness.

$24,000,000 LOAN TO TOKIO

Issue for Electric Light Company Calls Attention to Utilities Expansion in Japan.

New bond offerings this week amounted to $74,378,000, a decrease of more than $6,000,000 from last week. A noticeable slackening in the volume of offerings has been apparent for several days, due in part to mid-Summer dullness. Increases in public utility, State and municipal, and miscellaneous offerings were more than offset by smaller issues in the foreign, railroad and industrial groups. Offerings by groups of this and last week follow:

	This Week.	Last Week.
Railroad	17,270,000	25,000,000
Public Utility	13,200,000	4,000,000
State and Municipal	11,308,000	3,505,000
Miscellaneous	4,500,000	....
Industrial	3,900,000	17,500,000
Farm Loan	200,000	?......

Irregular conditions have prevailed in the field of new financing. Prices in the general bond market have sagged, due partly to the relatively firmer money rates, and to liquidation of purchases during the advance of the past few months. On the other hand, many borrowers consider it wise to float new issues now, rather than risk the necessity of higher interest later, as still stronger money rates are expected generally when business expansion gets under way in the late Summer and early Fall. A good investment demand continues in evidence, though buying is on a more conservative scale than a month or two ago.

The largest issue of the week was a $24,000,000 loan to the Tokio Electric Light Company, floated by a banking group headed by the Guaranty Company. This issue drew attention again to the great expansion in the public utilities industry of Japan. The Tokio company now has $49,469,400 of funded debt, total capitalization of $163,794,400, and did a gross business last year of more than $20,000,000. Several other Japanese public utilities have arranged loans here recently.

In the railroad group, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Virginian Railway were the principal borrowers. One public utility issue was floated, that of the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company. The industrial offerings included issues by two lumber companies. The miscellaneous group was represented by $4,500,000 financing for a company that will operate large toll bridges in California.

The Kansas Oklahoma Gas Company, a subsidiary of the Cities Service Company, has sold an issue of $2,000,000 three-year 6 per cent. first mortgage pipe loan bonds to Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. Proceeds are to be used to construct important new pipe lines. Public offering of the bonds is expected soon.

S. W. Straus & Co. are offering a $2,000,000 issue of first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund bonds of the Military Park Construction Corporation, secured by the land and a twenty-one-story business building in Newark.

Ames, Emerich & Co. announce that the issue of $800,000 West Disinfecting Company first mortgage 6 per cent. bonds offered yesterday has all been sold.

JULY BANK CLEARINGS SHOW SLIGHT DECLINE

Less Than June, but Total of $42,879,479,146, Record July Month.

While there was a moderate reaction in the rising tide of American checks exchanged at the principal clearing houses of the country during the month of July, the total of $42,879,479,146, showing a decrease of three-fifths of 1 per cent. compared with the previous month, the aggregate was, nevertheless, 12.1 per cent. greater than that for July, 1924, and the largest July on record. The slight decline was undoubtedly due to the usual Summer quietness in trade and industry.

New York City's clearings for last month ran to $23,395,750,107, a decline of 2.5 per cent. from the June total but 17 per cent. greater than that for July, 1924. Exchange of checks outside of New York City totaled $19,483,729,039, which proved to be 1.7 per cent. in excess of June and 13.8 per cent. larger than that for July, 1924. This was further borne out by a canvass of the Federal Reserve districts, which showed that in seven of the twelve districts—Boston, Cleveland, Richmond, Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco—the exchange of checks was heavier in July than in the preceding month.

For the year to date clearings totaled $244,083,615,508, compared with $222,585,567,774 in the corresponding seven months in 1924.

July clearings for the country as compiled by The Commercial and Financial Chronicle compare as follows with those of previous months and years:

July '25	$42,879,479,146	July '24	$38,243,162,694

Federal Reserve Banks Report An Increase in Borrowings and Deposits

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Changes in the condition of 730 reporting member banks in leading cities during the week ended July 29, as shown in the statement issued by the Federal Reserve Boards include decreases of $23,000,000 in loans and discounts and of $18,000,000 in net demand deposits, and increases of $10,000,000 in time deposits and of $17,000,000 in borrowings from the Federal Reserve Banks. HAVANA UTILITIES NEAR NEW CONTROL

Buying of Shares Has Gone Far Enough to Presage an Early Announcement.

STOCK HAS RISEN TO 196

The Concern Is Expected to Be Taken Into the American and Foreign Power Company.

Purchases of stock in the open market for the acquisition of a controlling interest in the Havana Electric Railway, Light and Power Company, headed by Frank Steinhart as President and General Manager, have proceeded far enough to make probable an announcement of a change of control within the next week or two, it was indicated yesterday.

The deal as being arranged is expected to give control of the Havana utilities to the American and Foreign Power Company eventually, although those most active in acquiring the stock of the Havana company at present are said to be "intermediaries." The Havana company's shares have risen from a low of 112 this year to above 196. According to yesterday's reports, sufficient of the Havana company's stock has already been acquired in the open market to effect the deal.

American and Foreign Power is the Cuban subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share Company. Outside of the Havana properties it is the principal public utility factor on the island. There are points of contact between the two companies already.

Three, possibly four, public utility holding companies or management groups are said to have been desirous of owning the Havana Electric Railway, Light and Power Company. This fact has caused some spirited bidding for the shares, with the result that a price $25 to $30 above the market quotation is said to be the figure at which a controlling number of the shares have been purchased.

The Havana company had assets, including its subsidiaries, of nearly $76,000,000 on Dec. 31, 1923, while American and Foreign Power, a Maine incorporation, had assets of more than $54,000,00 at that time.

URGES UNIFORM LAWS FOR TRUST COMPANIES

Corporate Fiduciaries Body Reports States Impose Needless and Costly Restraints.

The committee appointed by the Corporate Fiduciaries Association of the City of New York to ascertain the status of New York banks and trust companies with regard to handling fiduciary business in States other than New York has submitted its revised 1925 report.

The report, based upon a nation-wide inquiry, emphasizes two important points. One is that New York trust companies and banks, in common with all other corporate fiduciaries, are subjected to constant statutory and judicial changes in the exercise of their duties as executor and testamentary trustee requiring administration, transfer or settlement of estates in States other than New York. The second conclusion is that a persistent tendency exists among States either to prohibit or to impose needless and costly restraints upon "foreign" fiduciaries on the questionable theory of protecting domestic fiduciary business from outside encroachment.

The committee urges a movement to bring about general acceptance of uniform reciprocal laws and the elimination of unwise embargoes which will permit free play and exercise of legitimate trust functions between the States.

The following sixteen States are listed as unconditionally prohibiting "foreign" corporations acting in a fiduciary capacity: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota and South Dakota. Several States which grant permission stipulate that other States grant reciprocal rights, that the foreign corporation deposit collateral or that a surety bond be filed.

Employes Buy 1,085 P. R. R. Shares

Employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad System bought 1,085 additional shares of stock in July, bringing the total held by them on Aug. 1 to 83,676. There were sixty-three new subscribers among the workers, bringing their number to 18,623.

THREE ROADS BALK AT NEW RAIL LINE

B. & O., N. Y. C. and P. R. R. Object to Proposed Chicago Route Across Pennsylvania.

SEE NO NECESSITY FOR IT

Argue Before Interstate Board That Sponsors Can Only Profit at Others' Expense.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—The Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission a brief opposing the proposal of the New York, Pittsburgh & Chicago Railroad to construct a new line across Pennsylvania.

Present facilities were held by the opposing roads to be sufficient to meet traffic needs. They also declared no public necessity exists for the new line, that there is no evidence that it can be built for any reasonable sum or operated at a profit.

L. F. Loree, railroad operator identified with several systems, previously had testified in behalf of the new corporation that its construction was intended to be the backbone of a New York and Chicago trunk line system. The opposing companies were represented at the hearings during which Mr. Loree testified. The commission will hear argument this Fall before making a decision.

The present property investment of the trunk line carriers which would be affected was placed at approximately $5,632,343,000 by the brief.

"If there be added to this investment the sum of $273,000,000, representing the roughly estimated cost of the proposed line," it was argued, "the total property investment would amount to $5,905,343,000. The net railway operating income of all these carriers for 1924 was $264,185,000, representing a rate of return on the total property investment of 4.69 per cent., and the net return would have been only 4.47 per cent. had the proposed additional expenditure been included.

"Mr. Loree admitted that the construction of the proposed line would be very expensive for 287 miles. While considerable emphasis was placed upon the suggestion that the proposed line would provide a shorter route between Chicago and New York, it appears that this could be accomplished only by the use of large portions of existing lines. There is nothing in the record to support the statement that a line 800 miles in length would result from a combination of the proposed lines with existing lines.

"It is apparent that the lines would end at a point about fifty-two miles from New York City. Obviously, the construction of the proposed road would add nothing to terminal facilities there. The estimate of revenues which the road hopes to secure is based largely upon the through tonnage which it expects to handle. There is no evidence of any contemplated development of the territory through which the road would pass.

"There is an entire failure to submit any proof of public necessity or convenience. There is no basis for the applicants' contention that the proposed line could operate at a saving in cost of 25 per cent. The evidence is wholly speculative as to tonnage.

"There is no suggestion that the proposed lines could carry sufficient traffic on such a basis as to justify a general reduction in the rates for the public benefit. On the contrary, the construction of the proposed line would add to the capital investment of the railroad and lessen the average rate of return for the carriers as a whole. The promoters expect the proposed lines to be profitable, but at the expense of the other carrier."

DENVER & SALT LAKE PLAN.

Reorganization Agreed Upon by All Committees.

A plan to reorganize the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad Company has been agreed upon by committees representing the security holders and the Reorganization Committee, of which Gerald Hughes is Chairman. The protective committees which have endorsed the agreement, dated July 15, are those for the first mortgage thirty-year gold bonds and 5 per cent. thirty-year adjustment mortgage bonds of the Denver & Salt Lake.

Holders of the bonds who have not deposited under the agreements may become parties to the reorganization plan by depositing with either the Seaboard National Bank of New York or the International Trust Company of Denver prior to Sept. 15. Holders of certificates of deposit who do not withdraw their deposits of securities by Sept. 10 will be presumed to have accepted the plan and to be parties to it.

A receiver was appointed for the road Aug. 16, 1917, on an unopposed petition of the McPhee & McGinnity Company of Denver, creditor for $15,000. The recently completed Moffat Tunnel is on the route of the Denver & Salt Lake.

Mengel Company Reports Profit.

The Mengel Company reported yesterday a net profit of $405,856 for the six months ended June 30, after deductions including depreciation and interest reserves, but before Federal taxes. A similar net profit was $242,066 in the first half of 1924. After allowing for preferred dividends, the net profit for the half year equalled $4.80 a share on 60,000 shares of common stock, against $2.07 in the first half of 1924.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Sharp Crack in Italian Lire on Selling by London and Paris —Francs Weak.

Heavy selling of Italian lire on orders from London and Paris yesterday accounted for a break of about 7 points, to 3.56¾ cents. Brokers could profess no explanation for the collapse, except to say that there were many offers of lire from the points mentioned and an almost complete absence of any bidding. The greatest show of weakness came at midday, when in less than a half-hour the rate tumbled to 3.58 cents, from 3.62, just on offers, with no buyers in sight. Toward the close a slight rally carried the bill back to 3.57½ cents, an overnight loss of 6 points.

French and Belgian francs were also weak in sympathy with the Italian document. Paris checks broke 2½ points to 4.67½ cents, and the Brussels unit 3 points, to 4.50½ cents. Holland, Spanish and Swiss exchanges were dull. Sterling was firmly maintained around $4.85⅝. Danish and Norwegian were weak. There was very little stirring in the Far Easterns, but in the South Americans sharp gains were scored in the Argentine, Brazil, Chile and Uruguayan rates. Peru exchange was lower.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT FELL OFF IN JULY

Total of 3,087,590 Tons in 26 Working Days Lowest in Ten Months.

BETTER THAN LAST YEAR

Average Daily Production of 118,753 Tons Is Substantial Gain Over July Figures in 1924.

Production of steel ingots in the United States registered another decline during July, according to a statement issued yesterday by the American Iron and Steel Institute. July output aggregated 3,087,590 tons, the smallest for any month since last September. This compares with 3,207,056 tons in June and 1,877,789 tons in July last year.

The average daily production for July was 118,753 tons for the twenty-six working days against an average of 123,348 for the same number of days in June, and an average of 72,223 for the twenty-six working days in July last year. While current production is considerably below the total of 4,198,564 reported last January, operations are substantially above the levels reported in the Summer of 1924.

The following table, based upon returns received from companies controlling 94.43 per cent. of the steel ingot production, gives total production, the number of working days, and the daily average output:

REICHSTAG CHANGES RENTENBANK STATUS

News of Bill's Passage Taken Here to Mean That Deferred German Loans Will Be Arranged.

News received yesterday that a bill changing the status of the German Rentenbank had passed the Reichstag was accepted in Wall Street as meaning that a large American loan to the Rentenbank would be arranged in a month or so. There have been reports that the National City Company was considering a $50,000,000 Rentenbank bond issue, but arrangements have been held up by the provision in the German law which prohibited the issue of bonds in dollars based on first mortgages on German real estate. This provision has also delayed a $10,000,000 German farm loan issue which was the subject of negotiations between Harris, Forbes & Co. and the German authorities.

The new German law makes of the Rentenbank an organization somewhat similar to the American Farm Loan Board and makes it the sole agency through which dollar bonds may be issued on German real property. The money to be advanced, it is understood, will be secured by German agricultural developments. There are many other details yet to be settled, however, and it is not believed that a loan will be announced until some time in September.

BUSINESS GAINING, TRADE REVIEWS SAY

Dun's Reports Gradual Advance, With Coal Strike the Only Cloud on Horizon.

AGRICULTURE BETTER OFF

Bradstreet's Says the Wholesale Price Index Is Highest Since 1920—Large Mail Orders.

A summary of reports on the state of business gathered in all parts of the United States by commercial reporting agencies contains considerable optimism. There are evidences of quickening trade in many directions.

Summing up the situation, Dun's Review says:

"It is the more common report now that business is gaining, something being added each week to the progress recently made. The advance is gradual, yet this is more to be desired than a rapid expansion that might lead to excesses and increase the possibilities of a sudden reaction. Except for the threatened coal strike, the present indications are encouraging, and the greater activity in the formation of new enterprises reflects confidence in the future. The prospect of further tax reduction is among the factors that have tended to strengthen sentiment, while there remains the constructive influence of the improved financial position and enhanced purchasing power of farmers in the West and the South. The latter phase is highly significant, for national prosperity largely depends upon favorable conditions in agricultural sections. In view of the stimulating forces which now prevail, there is solid reason for expecting a good Autumn trade.

Steel Industry Improves.

"The great steel industry is getting on a better basis every week, with the principal producer operating at a 70 per cent. rate, and copper, lead and zinc markets have been more active and are firmer. These are not the only lines, moreover, in which expansion appears, and for nine consecutive weeks advances in wholesale quotations have predominated."

Bradstreet's has this to say:

"A moderate but none the less perceptible quickening in wholesale and jobbing trade, better reports from a number of leading industries, a slight acceleration in collections, and more favorable reports from leading crops, caused by arrival of much needed rains, are all reported to Bradstreet's for the first week of August. Over against this is a slight quieting down of retail buying, which, despite the whip and spur of reduction sales, tends to taper off as the Summer season advances. Fully fair is perhaps the most nearly adequate and at the same time the best condensed description of the volume of trade and industry moving, but the cheerfulness of tone visible seems likely to result before long in a still higher classification, providing crop developments continue favorable, and also providing the threatening coal dispute is composed to the satisfaction of the three parties concerned.

Highest Prices Since 1920.

"Some of the big outstanding features among the happenings of July have been the ascertained rise of the wholesale price index to the highest level reached since late in 1920, the largest sales by mail-order and chain-store concerns for July ever recorded for that month, the setting up of new records of bank clearings for the seventh month of the year, the apparent scraping on bottom of pig iron production and prices for crude and finished steel, the decrease for the fifth month in succession of failures and liabilities of those falling below the like periods a year ago, and the July building report to Bradstreet's showing an immense further expansion after a record half year's expenditure."

RICHMOND RADIATOR STOCK.

Preferred and Common Will Be Exchanged for Issue of No Par.

Stockholders of the Richmond Radiator Company met yesterday and approved retiring the outstanding preferred and common stock and issuing new securities in exchange. Three shares of new no par value preferred stock will be issued for each share of preferred of $100 par, and all its rights, while two shares of new no par value common stock will be issued for each share of $100 par value common, now outstanding.

The new preferred stock will carry the following dividend rights: Three dollars a share cumulative annually; $1 a share non-cumulative, payable before any dividends are paid on the common stock; one-half of the total of any cash distributed on the common stock, up to but not exceeding $1 a share. The new preferred stock is callable at $65 a share.

CUT IN GASOLINE EXPECTED.

Both Wholesale and Retail Prices Here Likely to Drop.

A reduction in the wholesale and retail prices of gasoline is expected to be announced in the metropolitan district either today or on Monday, according to reports in the financial district yesterday. Reductions already have been announced in some sections of the West.

The Standard Oil Company of Louisiana announced a reduction of 25 cents a barrel in Bellevue crude oil yesterday.

The wholesale gasoline market in the Chicago district was lower yesterday. United States Motor gasoline was quoted ¼ cent a gallon lower at 11¼ to 11⅜ [illegible]. Export prices for gasoline [illegible] were lower.

[illegible] of crude oil from the deep sands of the Smackover field dropped to 155,000 barrels on Wednesday, against 166,000 on Tuesday and a peak of 392,000 barrels reported on May 25.

ELECTRIC INSTRUMENT CO.

Weston Reports $177,048 Net Profit in June Quarter.

The Weston Electrical Instrument Corporation reported yesterday net income of $177,048 for the three months ended June 30, after all deductions, equal to $1.01 a share on 100,000 shares of Class A stock, and 76 cents a share on 100,000 shares of no par value common. The net income was $165,064 in the first quarter of the year, equal to 95 cents a share on the Class A stock and 70 cents a share on the common.

For the six months ended June 30 the company reported net income of $342,112, equal to $1.96 a share on the Class A stock and $1.46 on the common. The Class A stock is entitled to dividends at the rate of $2 a share annually, and shares equally with the common stock on all dividends above $1 a share annually paid on the latter.

TROLLEY LINE STILL LOSES.

Westchester Electric July Receipts $20,199—Costs Were $22,111.

The Westchester Electric Railroad Company, owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, which is about to be sold at public auction for an amount that the larger company expects will be less than one-ninth of the amount paid in 1909, is still suffering a monthly financial loss, according to a report filed by Leverett S. Miller, receiver of the trolley line, with the County Clerk here today. The trolley company has been operating under modified franchises for a year so so that it can collect 10-cent fares in each zone of White Plains, Harrison, Tarrytown, Silver Lake, Greenburg and Scarsdale.

Mr. Miller, President of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad Company, reports that receipts during July were $20,199.46, while the total disbursements amounted to $22,111.

The company's balance on June 30 was $20,054, but now amounts to slightly over $18,000.

Ohio Is Enjoined in Insurance Suit —Hearing Here Aug. 13.

The third suit, restraining State Insurance Commissioners from interfering with the Palmetto Fire Insurance Company, was filed yesterday at Columbus, Ohio. The suit grew out of the contract made by the Palmetto Company with the Chrysler Coporation to insure all Chrysler cars against fire and theft for one year after delivery. This has been held contrary to State laws by the Insurance Commissioners of New York, Wisconsin and Ohio.

In each case temporary injunctions have been issued to be followed by hearings to determine whether or not permanent injunctions shall be issued. The New York hearing will be on Aug. 13, that at Columbus, Ohio, on Aug. 15, and that in Wisconsin on Aug. 22.

LUDLUM STEEL EARNS MORE

Reports Net Income of $196,685 for First Six Months.

For the six months ended June 30, the Ludlum Steel Company reported net sales of $1,810,869, against $1,622,323 in the same period last year. After allowances the company's net income was $196,685 for the half year, against $151,587 in 1924.

TEXTILE COMBINE UP FOR VOTE AUG. 25

Shareholders Called to Act on Plan for the Amoskeag and Parkhill Companies.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Shareholders of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company will be asked to approve, at a special meeting, Aug. 25, a plan unanimously approved by the trustees for sale to a new voluntary association or trust all the manufacturing assets, currents bills and accounts receivable, and $6,000,000 in cash. All cash above that amount and all investments and securities are to be excepted from the plans.

The proposed organization also plans to acquire the Parkhill Manufacturing Company. The name of the new organization would be the Amoskeag Company.

Trustees say that the consolidation will provide valuable economies, and result in the segregation of the manufacturing properties of the present Amoskeag from the investment funds.

The new voluntary association is to have an authorized capital of 285,000 shares of preferred and 365,000 shares of common, all without par value. The plants of the Amoskeag and Parkhill are to be paid for on the basis of one common share for each $100 of value, according to the appraisal by C. T. Main as of June 1 and July 1, respectively.

On that basis the present Amoskeag Company would receive 264,720 preferred shares, and 330,000 common shares, and the Parkhill Manufacturing Company 20,280 preferred shares and 35,000 common shares.

The trustees of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, in a letter to the shareholders, say:

"After giving the matter serious consideration, the trustees are of the opinion that the proposed consolidation will be advantageous. It should give the company an even stronger position in the textile field than it now has. The new manufacturing concern will have a strong financial structure; it should have large earning power in the product of the company and that of the Parkhill Manufacturing Company, which are largely supplementary to each other, rather than competitive. The organization and management of the Parkhill Manufacturing Company will be valuable in carrying our combined business, and economies which can be made in production and marketing fully justify, in the opinion of the trustees, the creation of the new organization.

"Substantial advantages may be expected to result from the ability of the combined company to produce at each plant the kind of goods which may be there produced to the best advantage. The basis proposed for the issue of the new shares is fair to all parties concerned."

The trustees advise the shareholders to approve and authorize the proposed sale.

WHEAT PRICES RISE VIOLENTLY

CORNER REPORT DECRIED

Foreign Buying Is Large Factor in Sudden Upturn of the Market.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Realization that the most of the Northern Hemisphere has been caught short of cash wheat was largely responsible for a violent upturn in values today to a new high mark on the present movement and net gains of 3¾@5 cents, with September leading, the latter going to 1¾ cents over December at the last, the best premium on the crop.

Shorts in the near-by delivery were rendered increasingly uneasy by charters for around 2,000,000 bushels cash wheat to be moved out from here in the next few days, part of it going direct to mills and was brought here from Kansas City for that purpose.

September at the top touched $1.66½, showing 17½ cents over the low of Saturday, with considerable increase in outside interest, heavy profit taking by local longs being absorbed quickly by commission houses in small lots early, and later there were efforts made to reinstate recently sold-out lines by Eastern operators, who found little for sale.

In some quarters the belief prevails that it is simply a question of a few days before Europe will be forced to come into the market as a buyer of cash wheat, this belief being strengthened by the fact that the demand from exporters has shown considerable improvement this week.

Foreign buying of futures was on again today, and in the past few weeks millions of bushels have been taken despite the fact that Chicago September is selling at practically the same price as Liverpool October, while December here is at a good premium.

There is no market at present when cash wheat is selling at a delivery basis as compared with futures. Talk that a corner was contemplated in September by the same interests that were responsible for the upturn in the July were decried by leading members of the grain trade, who claim that the wet harvest abroad and the heavy reduction in the domestic and Canadian crop has resulted in a near shortage of cash wheat in the leading countries of the Northern Hemisphere, while stocks in Argentina and Australia are down to the vanishing point, and the new crops there will not be available until next January, while it will be February before the grain is available in volume for importing countries use.

The shortage in cash wheat abroad is indicated by the totals on ocean passage which shows only two weeks' requirements for the United Kingdom and around three weeks' stocks for all countries. There have been numerous views expressed for a number of days that September wheat was likely to open 10 cents higher some morning, and still higher prices are expected by a majority of traders before the September delivery culminates. Export sales in all positions today were finally estimated at 300,000 bushels with business restricted to some extent by a lack of offerings.

Primary arrivals of wheat today 1,688,000; week ago 2,071,000; last year 3,891,000. Shipments 753,000; week ago 953,000; last year 1,822,000.

Primary arrivals of corn today 394,000; week ago 438,000; last year 582,000. Shipments 493,000; week ago 242,000; last year 392,000.

OBJECT TO COTTON REPORTS

Exchange Here Wants Federal Crop Statements Made Monthly.

The New York Cotton Exchange has renewed its fight against the Government's policy of issuing crop reports twice a month. In a statement yesterday Edward E. Bartlett Jr., former President of the Exchange, and a member of the firm of Gwathmey & Co., said he had found there was widespread complaint in all branches of the cotton industry against the Government's plan.

"In spite of the high consumptive rate, the industry, generally speaking, has been going through a most unprofitable and unsatisfactory phase, from which it is only beginning to emerge," he said. "To the burden of these conditions has been added perhaps the most demoralizing factor with which the cotton trade has ever had to contend—the semi-monthly condition reports and crop estimates by the Government.

"We believe the trade would welcome the elimination of the early season crop estimates and a return to the old system of monthly condition reports, with the elaboration of weekly reports covering weather conditions and progress of the crop."

CURB ADMITS STOCKS.

Fageol Motors Company, 200,000 authorized shares common stock, par value $10, and 100,000 authorized shares 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock, par value $10.

CURB ISSUES SUSPENDED.

Trading in Chatterton & Sons Stock Temporarily Enjoined.

The Committee on Arrangements of the New York Curb Market Association ruled yesterday that trading in the common and preferred stock of Chatterton & Sons be suspended until further notice. No official explanation was made for the action, but in trading circles it was intimated that the shares would be readmitted to trading as soon as the conditions which caused the suspension had been corrected.

Active speculation in the stock of this company has prevailed on the Curb during recent months, the shares advancing from a low of $12 earlier in the year to a high of $48 this week.

COTTON STATIONARY AWAITING REPORT

Exchange Members Guess 67.7 as Condition of Crop on Aug. 1—Official Figures Today.

INTERIOR RECEIPTS GAIN

Augusta (Ga.) Gets More Than 2,500 Bales of the New Crop in Two Days—Weekly Statistics.

The cotton market continued virtually stationary yesterday within a range of 10 points and ending at a gain of 3 to 7 points. October increased its discount under December to 20 points, compared with only 2 points earlier in the week. Receipts of new cotton at interior towns have increased, Augusta getting over 2,500 bales in two days. The average guess of seventy-two Exchange members placed the condition of the crop at 67.7. These guesses have shown a greater discrepancy as compared with Washington figures than has been the case in previous years. The average condition in over twenty estimates from private sources is 66.4, with an indicated yield of 13,645,000, four estimators placing the crop above 14,000,000 bales.

The semi-monthly official report on condition and indicated yield as of Aug. 1 will be issued at 12 o'clock today. Both the New York and New Orleans Exchanges will close fifteen minutes before the figures are due. The report will compare with 70.5 last month and an indicated yield of 13,588,000. The department reduced its condition of 68.5 to 67.4 in the corresponding report last year, but raised the indicated yield from 11,934,000 to 12,351,000, an increase of 417,000 bales.

Though moderate covering occurred for both local and commission house account during the morning, trading diminished to such an extent that the price movement held within the narrowest range in several weeks. Considering the volume of business normal at this season of the year, when the new crop is beginning to move and hedging operations become a necessary factor in the buying of spot cotton from growers in the South, actual interest in the cotton market was surprisingly small. As contrasted with a five-cent advance in the price of wheat yesterday, and the buoyant stock market, cotton was at a standstill. This was partly attributed to the surprising crop report rom Washington two weeks ago and partly to the practice of issuing two reports a month instead of the usual monthly estimate of previous years. Under the circumstances, operators were not disposed to assume obligations until after the department's view of conditions in the cotton belt becomes known, and uncertainty over the nature of the document exerted a similar influence in mill and dry goods circles. August reports on the growing crop are regarded as the most important of the entire season, particularly so this year, since both official and private advices have indicated a plant of unusually early maturity.

The amount in sight for the week was 75,000 bales, compared with 52,000 last year, while spinners took 155,000 bales, against 81,000 last year. The visible supply decreased 68,000, against 29,000 a year ago, leaving the world's visible supply of American cotton 1,069,000 compared with 909,000 a year ago.

TWO TEXAS OIL FIRMS SUED.

$24,000,000 Asked in Two Actions Charging Land Fraud.

Special to The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 7.—The Big Lake Oil Company and the Texon Oil and Land Company and their officers were made defendants today in two suits in the District Court here by J. N. Houston and others of Austin, in which they seek to recover $24,000,000 as the estimated value of oil taken by defendant companies from the Reagan County oil field.

Cancellation of oil leases on approximately 25,000 acres of land leased by the two companies from the University of Texas is asked. The plaintiffs allege that they were rightly entitled to the leases of the lands, and that the Big Lake and Texon Companies obtained the leases through false statements made by them to J. T. Robinson, State Land Commissioner.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

Advances Again Lead, With Tendency in Foodstuffs Upward.

The trend of prices in Dun's commodity list was again upward this week, it being the ninth consecutive time that the list has shown more advances than declines. Forty-one of the week's sixty-four revisions were upward, compared with thirty-six advances in fifty-nine changes last week. A feature of the current list was the number of advances shown by the foodstuffs, they outnumbering the declines by more than two to one.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

Fourteen of the twenty changes in the foodstuffs this week were upward. The advances included higher prices for all listed grades of flour. Spring patent and Winter soft straight flour each advanced 25 cents a barrel, and a rise of 40 cents a barrel was seen in the family grade of fancy Minnesota flour. Middle western lard and hams were unchanged in the local market for provisions, with bacon showing an advance. At Chicago short ribs and live steers went up, while live hogs declined. Mess pork and live sheep did not change.

All of the changes in the local dairy list were small, three of the four advances being fractional. Declines were lacking. The best grades of butter and cheese were each quoted half a cent a pound higher. Fancy near-by eggs moved up a cent a dozen, while a break of half a cent a dozen took place in the price of fresh-gathered "firsts." Prices throughout this part of the general list continue higher than those of a year ago.

Neither the fresh nor the dried fruits showed change either way, while revisions in the vegetables were fewer than last week. They consisted of an advance of 10 cents a barrel in potatoes and a drop of 50 cents a bag in onions. Choice pea beans were also lower.

In the beverages the basic grades of Brazilian coffee again went up, but there were no changes in tea. Changes in the spices consisted only of declines in white and black Singapore peppers. Fine granulated sugar went up, and there was also a rise in 96-degree raw sugar.

The week's changes in the grains were all upward, the advances being shown by wheat, corn, oats and rye. In the hides the only change was a decline in No. 1 kips, but the leathers showed more fluctuations than usual. They included a rise in No. 1 light belting butts and declines in union and scoured-oak backs.

The combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils showed only thirteen changes, and of these eight were advances. The only feature was a rise of 50 cents a pound in menthol in case lots. A further drop in resin was the only revision in the naval stores.

Fluctuations in the metals this week consisted of a decline in refined iron bars at Philadelphia and advances in antimony, copper, zinc, lead and tin. In the lumber list were seen advances in No. 1 rough western hemlock, plain red gum and North Carolina pine. The declines occurred in cypress and rough commercial fir. The only listed change in the building materials was a rise in red cedar shingles.

Further declines were seen in Brazilian and plantation crude rubber, but in the raw silks only an advance in the basic Japanese variety was shown. A rise in jute and a drop in hemp completed the week's miscellaneous changes.

One of the features of the week in the textile markets was the opening of additional lines of worsteds and woolens for next Spring at prices which, in several instances, were lower than those previously in effect. The unfinished cottons eased off a little, while burlaps again moved upward.

SONS OF ITALY QUIT THE NATIONAL BODY

State Members Secede, Declaring Supreme Lodge Is Pledged to Fascist Rule.

CONTEMPT ORDER ISSUED

Court Cites Leaders of Parent Order—Schenectady Convention in Separate Session.

The Grand Lodge of the Sons of Italy of New York State, at its convention in the Star Casino, has decided to sever relations with the Supreme Lodge, the national organization, charging that the Supreme Lodge has attempted to subordinate the State organization to Fascist purposes, it was announced yesterday.

The resolution, which was adopted by a vote of 266 to 1, also provides that the incoming Executive Committee of the Grand Lodge get plenary powers to negotiate the renewal of affiliations with the Grand Lodges of other States, provided that the Fascist activities of the present Supreme Executive Council be eliminated. The one dissenting member, an avowed Fascist, admitted under questioning that he was in communication with the forty members of the national organization who bolted the New York convention and are now meeting in Schenectady, and he also admitted that he was at the New York convention under orders from the Supreme Lodge to obstruct every move made.

The coming Grand Council was fully empowered to protect the sixteen subsidiary lodges of New York State against aggressions of the national organization, after it had been charged that Giovanni di Silvestro, Supreme Master of the Sons of Italy, had formed an alliance with the Fascist Government pledging the support of the Sons of Italy to Mussolini.

The forty members of the organization in convention at Schenectady sent a telegram to the New York convention yesterday demanding that the members submit to the Fascist program outlined by the national organization. The telegram was tabled by a unanimous vote.

Cited for Contempt.

The entire Supreme Council of the Sons of Italy, including the Supreme Master, Giovanni di Silvestro, were cited for contempt of court yesterday by Justice Levy. The legal battle between the two factions started with an attempt by the Supreme Council to put the officers of the Grand Council under charges for insubordination. Under the laws of the New York State organization, this may not be done without permission of the Grand Council, and Phillip Bongiorno, attorney for the Grand Lodge, got a temporary injunction from Justice Levy restraining the national body.

While the first charges were being considered by Justice Levy additional charges were filed by the Supreme Council, and Justice Levy decided that they were in contempt of court as a result of their action. A resolution was adopted last night by the Grand Council asking Justice Levy to be lenient with the national body.

A resolution providing that all laws of the State organization which conflict with the laws of the national body be abolished was adopted.

The object of the resolution was to eliminate the State law which provides that any candidate for office in the organization must have served as a delegate to at least one convention before he is eligible. Major Fiorello H. La Guardia, who is a delegate for the first time, is now eligible to succeed Justice Salvatore Cotillo as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge and will be voted on today. His election is generally conceded as a foregone conclusion.

The convention adopted a series of Americanization resolutions, in which the Fascist activities of the national organization were publicly denounced. It was also decided that all documents of the lodge would hereafter be printed in Italian and English.

CRUISERS LEAVE HOBART.

Americans Exchange Cordial Farewells With Tasmanians.

HOBART, Tasmania, Aug. 7 (AP).—The American light cruiser division which has been visiting Hobart sailed today for Wellington, New Zealand, after receiving an enthusiastic farewell.

Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, commander of the division, expressed the Americans' deep appreciation of the hospitality they had received in Tasmania. Sir James O'Grady, Governor of Tasmania, in a farewell message said that the officers and men of the American squadron had given evidence "that they are indeed our kinsmen."

Four Cities Will Be Visited.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 7 (AP).—Great interest is being manifested throughout the Dominion over the approaching visit of the American fleet. The Government, municipalities and the citizens are cooperating in arrangements for elaborate entertainment programs and an enthusiastic welcome is promised.

PHILADELPHIA PARTY FIGHT.

Ex-Judge, Backed by Vare, Seeks District Attorney Rotan's Post.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP).—Former Judge John M. Patterson today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for District Attorney, the position now held by Samuel P. Rotan. Later Representative W. S. Vare announced that Mr. Patterson had his hearty endorsement.

Mr. Patterson's announcement is taken to mean a contest within the Republican organization as Mr. Rotan has announced that he would fight for renomination.

Mr. Patterson made his announcement after a conference with Mayor Kendrick. "Mayor Kendrick did not indicate his intention to throw the strength of his administration in favor of any candidate," said Mr. Patterson. "Neither did he indicate his personal choice."

Army Flier, Injured in Fall, Dies.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 7 (AP).—Lieutenant Leo L. Burch of Toledo died today of injuries received when the plane in which he and Lieutenant James Tilton Jr. of Pershing, Ind., were making a training flight crashed yesterday near Wilbur Wright Field. Tilton was killed instantly.

THE BUSINESS WOLRD

Thursday .....4 per cent. for the best names.

The quotations are for six months' paper.

New Type of Cigar Lighter.

A lighter that does not require the insertion of the cigar or cigarette directly into the heating element is now being placed on the market here. The feature of this device is an air space behind the heating element that is fed through several holes at the back. Due to this, the usual amount of suction of the mouth on the cigar or cigarette creates a draught sufficient for the tobacco to be ignited without touching it to the lighting element. This removes the chance of breaking the latter. Pipes may also be lighted easily without the bowl being burned. The lighter operates on house current. It is equipped with an ebony handle and eight feet of electric cord, and retails at $5.

Novel Vacuum Jug Sets.

Novel "jug sets" incorporating a vacuum container for keeping liquids hot or cold are now being offered here. The jugs are of pint or quart size, and have an exterior of two-tone plain or fancy enamel baked on heavy brass. The enamel is said to be chip proof. The interior of the jug is so devised as to eliminate the possibility of anything but a very severe jar damaging the glass vacuum container. One drinking glass is supplied with the pint size and two with the quart jug, with oblong enamel trays provided in both instances. The sets are available in ten or twelve different colors and decorations. They are mainly intended for bedroom use, and are priced to retail from $13.25 for the pint size to $22 for the quart.

"Loud" Patterns in Nightwear.

Retailers have been nibbling at holiday lines of men's nightwear lately, particularly the new "loud" effects in lightweight pajamas. In the popular-priced flannelette lines manufacturers have booked a good advance business, some of them being very nearly sold up. The general trend in this field is toward the use of very broad stripes and checks, the patterns representing a marked departure from the old staple sleeping garments. In the lightweight garments rayon effects are well to the fore, being followed in favor by real silk, madras and percales. The slipover styles are said to be in growing favor, although military models and "low necks" are selling in greater volume. The duplex type of collar, which folds to allow a larger or smaller opening at the neck, is being well received. The color range in the fancies is large,

Little Activity in Glassware.

Conditions in the glassware industry are quiet, with manufacturers anticipating some active buying later in the month. The tendency in the industry seems to be markedly toward colored and decorated varieties. Green, amber and blue breakfast and luncheon sets are selling well, and are said to be hurting the sale of china sets. Foreign competition continues rather keen, due largely to the ability of the European factories to offer varied assortments to small purchasers. The domestic plants, being adapted chiefly to quantity production, find this undesirable.

Fewer Pearl Oysters Obtained.

Reports from Paris to the jewelry trade here indicate that only 200,000 to 300,000 oysters have been "fished" at the pearl fishing camp at Marachchikade since the opening of the season in February. The expected minimum was a million. This reduction resulted in spirited bidding by buyers, and prices reached a high mark of 38 to 40 rupees per 1,000 oysters. One reason for the short "crop" was the losing of considerable time by the fishing boats, which were forced to remain inshore because of bad weather. Trouble between the authorities of Ceylon and Madras, where the best divers come from, was also a factor, it not being settled in time to obtain a normal "crop."

Gray Goods Buyers Not Active.

Gray goods buyers continued inactive here yesterday, due largely to the imminence of the Federal cotton crop report. Sales of printcloths for the day included spot 39-inch 80 squares at 12½ cents, and also spot lots of 38½-inch 64-60s at 9⅝ cents. November deliveries of the latter were sold at 9¼ cents. Spot and "quick" shipments of 39-inch 68-72 printcloths were traded in at 10½ cents, and second hands sold 38½-inch 60-48s for immediate delivery at 8 cents. Sheeting prices continued to be based on an asking figure of 9¾ cents for 37-inch 48-square, four-yards, with 36-inch 6.15s sold in a limited way at 7 cents. Ten cents was paid for 37-inch 3.95-yard drills. For 72-80 pajama checks buyers paid 9¾ cents, and they also took the 64-60 construction of those goods at 8¾ cents.

Better Fit in Junior Knitwear.

One of the newer developments in the production of knitted outerwear garments here is the attention being given to those in sizes 13, 15 and 17. In the past many of these garments were marked as being those sizes, but were not cut according to the proper junior scale. In order to achieve this scale, it is pointed out, the patterns necessary for a correct fit must be different from those designed for misses' regulation garments. Such patterns have been devised and are being used. They are expected to add considerably to the outlet of knitted outerwear in the smaller sizes.

Prepare for Hard Coal Rush.

With all indications pointing to a shutdown of the anthracite collieries on Sept. 1, Saward's Journal will say today, feverish efforts are being made by dealers and consumers to prepare for such an emergency. In response to their demands production has risen to more than 2,000,000 tons a week, a rate which is seldom attained in normal times, but which is recorded only when the country either is getting ready for a strike or recovering from one. By the end of the month there will be enough coal in storage to insure against a serious shortage for a month or two in any event. While the absorbing power of the bituminous market is increasing, it is a question whether it is gaining fast enough to absorb the extra tonnage that is being produced.

Women's New Handbags Varied.

Novelties in imported bags include the dansante bag which, as its name indicates, is designed primarily for dance purposes, although it is also suitable for evening and sport use. It is of the drawstring variety, and is made of pastel color combinations of pearls, with a tassel to match. The retail price is $2.98. Importers are anticipating an active call for frame bags, despite the trend in omen's wear toward wrap-around coats. They point out that while it is difficult to drape these coats properly the woman of style will not let this factor prevent her from carrying a frame bag, if she prefers this type, since it is a simple matter to slip it on one arm.

Novel Handles Are Featured.

Buying of women's umbrellas has been stimulated during the past few days by frequent rainfalls. The small, sixteen-rib umbrella, which was introduced over a year ago, continues in favor, the advantages of this type over the eight-rib variety being the prettier shape and larger spread. Novelties in handles include the "choker bead" type, which resembles the necklace of that name and which is offered in many colors. Another innovation is the quartz handle. Of the colors in which it is being sold, jade is regarded the most attractive. Tips and ferrules to match are also provided.

WOOL MARKET DULL.

Sales Mostly Effected at Slightly Lower Prices.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"The market for wool has been dull and irregular, most sales being effected at slightly lower prices, although the majority of the dealers have refused to make concessions, believing that the improvement generally reported in the goods market eventually will yield them the prices they ask, especially as stocks in not a few lines are well liquidated. Fancy lightweight worsted lines appear to have met with a very cordial reception. Some mills, however, are still busy on heavyweight repeats, which were delayed.

"The Bradford strike continues and the market is dull, prices having shown a downward tendency. Foreign primary markets are hardly changed.

"The Jericho pool sale has been the outstanding fact in the Western trading, a French worsted mill in Woonsocket buying the pool at 42 cents, the same price paid a year ago, or well up to $1.30, clean basis, landed mill."

LIVERPOOL'S COTTON WEEK.

Decrease in British Stocks—Imports Are Larger.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 7.—Weekly cotton statistics are as follows: British stocks, 628,000 bales, against 642,000 a week ago, 688,000 two weeks ago, 718,000 three weeks ago and 454,000 a year ago, of which American 352,000, against 372,000 a week ago, 414,000 two weeks ago and 186,000 a year ago. Imports 44,000 bales, against 21,000 a week ago, of which American 8,000, against 2,000 a week ago.

Forwarded 48,000 bales, against 60,000 the preceding week; of which American 33,000 bales, against 40,000. Exports, 5,000 bales, against 5,000 last week; of which American 4,000, against 4,000. Sales, 18,000 bales, against 20,000 last week; of which American 11,000 bales, against 10,000.

Kress Sales Gain in July.

S. H. Kress & Co. report gross sales of $3,137,983 for July, against $3,098,880 in July, 1924, a gain of $39,103, or 1.08 per cent. For the seven months ended July 31, 1925, the company reports gross sales of $22,378,294, against $19,726,727 in the same period last year, a gain of $2,651,567, or 13.4 per cent.

UNDERVALUED!
That one word explains the Real Estate Boom on the Rockaway Coast

Values in the past have been entirely too low, when it is considered that there is just so much of the Rockaway Coast, and no more, and that there are millions of people in and near New York who would like to own lots on the Rockaway Coast between the Atlantic Ocean and Jamaica Bay.

It is just a question of supply and demand, and, as the demand grows greater and greater, owing to the 9-mile Boardwalk, the Cross-Bay Boulevard, Flatbush Avenue Extension, Amstel Boulevard (which runs through the property), and other important, money-making improvements, the supply of Rockaway Coast lots will be diminished, values stabilized and increased.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The disturbance that was central over Kansas Thursday night has moved slowly northeastward to Northwestern Illinois, and the Montana disturbance has moved eastward to Minnesota. Other disturbances are centred over Northern Manitoba and south of Nova Scotia and pressure remains low west of the Rocky Mountains. Relatively high pressure prevails over Newfoundland, the vicinity of Bermuda and from Alberta southeastward over Eastern Montana.

This pressure distribution has been attended by general showers within the last twenty-four hours in the upper lake region, the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi Valleys and the Southern Plains States, and by scattered thunder showers in the lower lake region, the North Atlantic States, Florida, Arkansas and the southern plateau region. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. The temperature has risen in the Middle Atlantic States, the Upper Ohio Valley, Alberta and the North Pacific States and from Minnesota southwestward to the Texas Panhandle, and it has fallen in Saskatchewan, North Dakota, Montana and Northern Wyoming and from Northern Michigan southwestward to Central Texas.

There will be showers and probably thunderstorms in middle and northern sections east of the Mississippi River in connection with the northeastward movement of the disturbance now centered over Northeastern Illinois. Scattered thunder showers are probable also in Florida Saturday and Sunday and in the Carolinas, Georgia and the East Gulf States on Sunday. The temperature will not change materially in the Washington forecast district during the next two days, except that it will be somewhat lower Saturday night in portions of the Lower Lake region and the Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valleys.

CRIME CARD INDEX TO HELP BIG DRIVE

National Commission Takes Steps to Stop "Camouflage" Reports From Many Cities.

SEEKS UNIFORM STATISTICS

Newark Expert to Head Committee to Carry Out Plan—War on Banditry to Begin.

Information that crime statistics are so "camouflaged" by many cities that there is no means of obtaining accurate comparisons or even truthful reports on the number and character of crimes committed has caused leaders in the National Crime Commission movement to announce that one of the first steps to be taken by the organization will be the formation of a Crime Statistics Committee.

Mark O. Prentiss, authorized spokesman for the commission, said yesterday statistics were "camouflaged" in many cities by such organizations as Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade. Communications from reliable sources, he added, showed that the Police Departments were not always guiltless in this deception, which was now so general that it was impossible accurately to compare crime in the various larger cities.

The Crime Statistics Committee, early appointment of which Mr. Prentiss said he would recommend, will avail itself of the services of Frederick L. Hoffman of Newark, internationally known expert on homicide and suicide statistics, who, according to Mr. Prentiss, will be provided with "a sufficient staff of workers."

"The committee," Mr. Prentiss explained, "will, in a sense, parallel the activities of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which found that railroads' figures could not be compared because of the different methods of accounting in use by the various roads. We face a similar situation as regards crime. There are many subdivisions of the various crimes, and these are tabulated differently in different cities and communities.

"If Mr. Hoffman and his staff of investigators are able to gather and tabulate accurate figures, that will have been accomplished for the first time to the best of my knowledge. We intend, through such a committee, to gather very complete statistics in a scientific manner, so that it will be possible, in so far as statistics can teach us, to compare specific felonies in New York with similar crimes in Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities.

"When we get before us the various officials interested in the enforcement of the criminal laws we hope to be able to bring about a closer cooperation and coordination among the police, the District Attorneys, the judiciary, penal institutions and parole boards. At present the lack of such cooperation is painfully apparent to any one.

"Following the formation of a Crime Statistics Committee I shall recommend that the commission turn its attention at once to the question of the promiscuous possession and use of firearms. Next we shall concentrate upon crimes of violence. We are out against banditry and to protect human life above all else. In this connection I desire publicly to acknowledge letters of endorsement of the National Crime Commission from the National Association of Credit Men, the American Institute of Accountants, the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs and the American Bankers' Association."

BUILD SUPERPLANE MOTOR.

McCook Field Officials Guard Secret of 2,400 Horse-Power Design.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 7 (AP).—The Dayton News says today that an airplane motor capable of furnishing power for the Barling bomber, the world's largest airplane, is being built for McCook Field. It will be the most powerful gasoline engine ever constructed.

Official Government bulletins show that the contact to build the motor was let recently to an Indianapolis engineering firm.

The motor, according to the specifications, is to be 2,400 horsepower, "X" type, with four banks of cylinders.

How huge and powerful the proposed motor will be is shown by comparison. The Liberty motor, reputed as among the most powerful, is rated at 400 horsepower. The Barling bomber is equipped with six Liberty motors. Details of the motor have been guarded with secrecy by McCook Field officials.

Comparing it with Liberty motors, the gasoline consumption of the new power plant would be approximately 120 gallons an hour.

STUDIES CRIME FIRST HAND.

Reichstag Member Shares Bench With Magistrate Oberwager.

Anton Erkelenz, member of the German Reichstag and President of the German Democratic Party in Berlin, who is here studying our corrective criminal measures, attended Yorkville Court yesterday with other German visitors and occupied the bench with Magistrate Charles A. Oberwager.

Accompanying the German diplomat was Frau Martha Poensgen, delegate of the German International Council of Women; Frank Zoenneburg and W. A. Lauth, Secretary of the United German Societies. Mr. Zoenneburg is acting as guide to the party, which will tour the United States.

Frau Poensgen said she was interested in child welfare work and juvenile problems. "The handling of juvenile welfare cases has reached a remarkable degree of efficiency in the United States," she said, "and Germany can well pattern her methods upon those of this country."

DEFENDS MODERN YOUTH.

Boys and Girls Not Hopelessly Bad, Philadelphia Man Asserts.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—E. J. Cattell, Director of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and former Statistician for that city, declared here today that "it's all rot about the boys and girls of today being so hopelessly bad." He spoke at the annual convention of the Eastern States Cleaners and Dyers at the Ambassador Hotel.

"When I was a boy," said Mr. Cattell, "I was the worst boy imaginable. In fact I do not know any one who was as bad as I was. The banana peel often got under my foot, but I got up again.

"When we get too old to be wicked ourselves we sit in a rocking-chair and moan that the world is getting terrible."

GUADALAJARA IS FLOODED.

Rains Swell Rio de Santiago in Mexican City—Five Persons Killed.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7 (AP).—Guadalajara, capital of the State of Jalisco and located near the left bank of the Rio de Santiago, is reported to have suffered considerable damage last night from a torrential rainstorm.

In some districts of the city the water rose to five feet, and a man was drowned while attempting to rescue a boy. Three persons were killed when a house collapsed. Lightning killed another man.
